Hoover Mars Pacifists' Aims For Peace

GOOD WILL HIS PLAN FOR U. S. TO AVOID WAR

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C. Nov. 11.—[Special.]—President Hoover, in an Armistice day speech, today dashed the hopes of European nations and peace groups in this country whose efforts have been directed toward entangling the United States in political pacts binding this country to the use of force to maintain peace.

While hinting that at some future day the United States might look with sympathy upon a move to strengthen the Kellogg anti-war treaty, President Hoover stated that this country today believes its contribution to world peace can best be made when the peace of the world is threatened by use "of our good offices and helpfulness free from any alliance commitment or entanglement, as to the character of our action."

In Good Will, Not Force.

"The purpose of our government," the president said in addressing an audience of 3,000 delegates attending the Good Will congress of the World Alliance for Friendship Through the Churches, "is to cooperate with others through our friendly offices and short of the application of the use of force to make every friendly effort and all good will to maintain the peace of the world."

Throughout his address the President urged his listeners, composed of representatives of the largest peace groups in this country, to work constantly for peace with the same zeal with which America's war dead waged war in the world conflict terminated just twelve years ago today. The President warned, however, that the world has not reached the stage where the United States can rest its defense solely upon the Kellogg pact and other peace machinery.

Maintains World Court Stand.

President Hoover reiterated his faith in the world court and asserted the United States should participate as a member. He did not, however, set any date when the world court resolution of ratification will be submitted to the senate.

The President spoke in the Washington auditorium a few moments after his return from Arlington National cemetery where, in the name of the nation, he had placed a huge wreath of yellow chrysanthemums at the base of the tomb of the Unknown Soldier.

Accompanied by Mrs. Hoover, Secretary of War Patrick J. Hurley, Secretary of the Navy Charles Adams and Gen. Charles P. Summerall, chief of staff of the army, the President and Mrs. Hoover arrived at Arlington shortly before 10 o'clock. The presidential party paused for a moment as the army band played the "Star-Spangled Banner," then walked quietly between the ranks of the army, navy, and marine guard, to the tomb. The President placed his wreath and stepped back as Mrs. Hoover laid three small chrysanthemums beside the President's offering.

While thousands visited Arlington during the day, others went to the Bethlehem chapel of Washington cathedral to pay tribute before the tomb of the world war President, Woodrow Wilson.

Praises Kellogg Pact.

Just how far President Hoover would go in the direction of implementing or placing teeth in the Kellogg pact to give it sanctions did not appear from what he had to say to the peace group today. The President did, however, accord high praise to the peace value of the pact stating that this treaty, which pledges its signatories to renounce war as an instrument of national policy and to settle conflicts of whatever nature by pacific means, "has become one of the most potent instruments for peace which the world has yet forged for itself."

"There has been some discussion," the President said, "as to the desirability of some further extension of the pact so as to effect a double purpose of assuring methodical development of this machinery of peaceful settlement and to insure at least the mobilization of world opinion against those who fail when strain comes. I do not say that some such further step may not some day come about.

The possibility that $150,000 will be raised for charity from the Northwestern-Notre Dame football game on Nov. 22 was given new impetus yesterday.

President Walter Dill Scott of Northwestern university last night said he hoped to make an announcement within 48 hours. This statement followed a conference between Dr. Scott and George Getz, chairman of Gov. Emmerson's state unemployment commission, and James Keeley, an associate of Mr. Getz on the commission.

President Scott, earlier in the day, had received a telegram from Mr. Getz urging him to ask the western conference to reconsider its refusal of Northwestern's petition to move the game to Soldiers' field. Transfer of the site would enable 60,000 more fans to see the game. Proceeds from this surplus would be contributed to Gov. Emmerson's unemployment fund.

President Scott Sympathetic.

Following the conference Mr. Keeley issued the following statement:

"In his discussion with Mr. Getz regarding the revived proposal for transferring the Notre Dame-Northwestern game to Soldiers' field President Scott displayed a very sympathetic attitude. President Scott is starting to take certain steps and nothing further can be said until developments occur. There is hope of an announcement within 48 hours."

Mr. Getz, after the meeting, was optimistic that arrangements would be completed to transfer the site.

"I was very much gratified with President Scott's attitude," Mr. Getz said. "I am hopeful of a favorable outcome. There, of course, are many complications that must be overcome, but President Scott is enthusiastic over the project, and I think he will be able to overcome them."

Immediately after the conference President Scott began the work necessary to a change in the playing site of the game.

Aside from the matter of obtaining the Big Ten's consent, Northwestern is confronted with a ticket problem. Many tickets already have been sent out. This complication, university officials pointed out, probably can be handled satisfactorily.

All Tickets Sold.

All tickets for the game have been sold. Every day the Northwestern ticket office is turning back thousands of dollars which would go to charity if transfer of the game is approved.

Northwestern's first request for the Big Ten's permission to shift the contest was rejected because of a technicality. There is a paragraph in the Western conference code which reads that all games must be played on the home field of either contestant or on a field immediately under the control of either institution.

Several times conference teams have played on fields not under the control of either school. In 1924, Northwestern opposed Notre Dame at Soldiers' field. The following season Michigan played Northwestern on the same gridiron. Illinois last Saturday battled the Yankee stadium, New York. The Cadets' home field is at West Point. Indiana earlier in the season met Southern Methodist at a municipal stadium in Dallas, Tex. Southern Methodist has a field of its own.

Knute Rockne of Notre Dame, advised last night that the Big Ten probably would be asked for a rehearing, said: "That's fine. We are ready to do everything we can to coöperate."

240 MILLIONS IN CHRISTMAS CLUB FUNDS TO LOOSEN

New York, Nov. 11.—[Special.]—Retail trade will be stimulated to an estimated 240 million dollars within the next two weeks through the distribution of the funds of the Christmas clubs maintained by 8,000 banking institutions of the country.

The actual amount in the Christmas clubs and which will be turned over to the 11,000,000 members before the end of this month is estimated at 612 millions by Herbert F. Rowll, president of Christmas Club, a division of the National Bancservice corporation. In the past about 38 per cent of the total has been used for the purchase of Christmas presents.

The total amount of the Christmas club deposits this year reaches a record figure, although the increase has not been as large as has occurred in a normal year. The average deposits for a member is smaller than last year, standing at $54.60, as compared with $59.50 last year.

Keep Wages Up, Advice of Auto Makers

New York, Nov. 11.—(AP)—Announcing that the General Motors corporation has maintained salaries and wages, President Alfred P. Sloan Jr. said today that a reduction in the wage scale would not only delay the return of more normal times but unnecessarily limit the future prosperity of the nation.

In a letter to stockholders accompanying the nine months earning statement, previously made public, Mr. Sloan said that in his opinion "it is important for industry to appreciate the fact that the country's prosperity is founded on a high wage scale."

"The broader the margin that exists between the daily wage and the necessities of life," he continued, "the more the individual has available to purchase additional products and enjoy and profit by his leisure hours. This development of purchasing power creates wealth."

Foresaw Industrial Stringency.

Mr. Sloan explained that had not the corporation realized more than a year ago that a different trend of industrial activity was developing and started then to readjust its operating policy in line with a different order of things, it would have been impossible to report as favorable an earnings position.

"Furthermore," he explained, "current profits have been adversely affected by the policy of keeping motor cars and other merchandise in the hands of the corporation's distributing organizations throughout the world at a low point. This is a sound and constructive policy, although it tends to throw into the future profits that might be earned at present."

In Position for Profit.

Low inventories of raw and finished materials have placed the corporation in a position to profit through any change in the future trend, he added, and important progress has been made in advancing engineering, manufacturing, and commercial operating standards that would result in new products which would reflect higher standards.

Mr. Sloan disclosed that the General Motors stockholders have increased 12,242, to 361,417, between Aug. 16 and Oct. 31.

BANDITS HOLD UP WEDDING GUESTS RETURNING HOME

Marcus Weil, wealthy plumbing contractor of 5335 Magnolia avenue, his wife and guests, Attorney and Mrs. Robert Edelson of 1637 Pratt boulevard and Mrs. Anna Gold, 5554 North Paulina street, were held prisoners last night for an hour by two bandits who drove into an alley and then robbed them.

The Weils, Edelson, and Mrs. Gold had attended a wedding party at the Belmont hotel, 3156 Sheridan road, leaving late in the evening in Mr. Weil's car. As he stopped in front of the Edelsons' apartment building the bandits appeared on either running board. They sat in the rear and forced him to drive around the block and finally into the alley.

There they took a $250 ring from Mrs. Edelson, a $150 ring from Mr. Edelson, and one valued at $600 from Mrs. Weil. Mrs. Gold saved her jewelry by hiding it.

Floats in Sea 3 Days After Wreck; Saved

Eureka, Cal., Nov. 11.—[Special.]—The Two Sisters, a fishing smack, with Dick Richter, master, plowed through the black-blue swells of the Pacific this afternoon.

The lookout sighted far away an object rising to the top of the waves, then dropping out of sight. They were out from land and the instinct of sailors made them turn to investigate.

When they drew near they saw it was a scarecrow of a man clinging to a single piece of timber. He was almost naked, his body a mass of blisters and sores, where he had been sunburned, partly healed, and sunburned again.

A small boat was lowered and he was taken aboard. He was Jargen M. Greve, sole survivor of the crew of eighteen of the schooner Brooklyn, which sank on Saturday.

Broke and Sank on Bar.

The Brooklyn, heavily laden with lumber, was crossing the bar at the entrance to Humboldt bay in a storm off the coast of northern California, when she suddenly listed, tipping until the rail was awash. She swung back once; then watchers on shore—she was within plain sight from land—saw her turn completely over and sink.

It is supposed the lumber cargo shifted, bringing disaster. Fifteen minutes after the schooner was first in trouble nothing was left afloat except here and there a few floating planks, part of the cargo, and broken pieces of the schooner.

Rescue ships put out, searching about this debris, but they found no men. There had been no time to launch the small boats of the schooner and as darkness fell the rescue boats withdrew, convinced that further search was futile.

Missed Lone Survivor.

Somehow they had missed Greve. When the Brooklyn capsized Greve, the first mate, was thrown into the water. He swam to a piece of flotsam, a portion of a bulkhead that had been smashed. It was big enough to keep him afloat so long as he remained half submerged and did not try to climb on it. The thing was too large to guide by swimming.

As darkness fell on Saturday night Greve floated out over the bar into the open Pacific. Giant waves tore him from his craft and he swam back to grasp it again and again. All night he fought the sea for life. The chill night winds made the water seem warm in comparison.

At dawn he could barely see the receding shore. Waves snatched at him. The storm had ended, but the after-blow continued. Hunger and thirst were beginning. The sun climbed higher. Greve's clothes had been torn from his body by the sea. The glaring rays of the sun beat down on his bare body until he was a welter of blisters. The salt water stung them like a scald.

Fingers Worn Away.

By noon Greve was losing consciousness. But he clung. His finger nails were rubbed away and his finger tips worn almost to the bone as he gripped to keep the ocean from pulling him down. Bruises and cuts inflicted by the timber were ignored.

Nightfall and the chill winds again. The battle went on all through the darkness.

Monday and Monday night were unending repetitions of the struggle with cruel nature. Today the sun again and finally the rescue this afternoon.

Greve was half-conscious and half-delirious when they lifted him aboard the Two Sisters. They gave him sips of sweet water and bits of hard bread as they rushed their smack to shore.

A coast guard ambulance took him to a hospital. There there were stimulants, hot food, a cool bed, and treatment for his wounds.

The doctors say he will live, but they are amazed at his vitality and stamina. For Greve is a grandfather. It was his third shipwreck in his many years of the sea.

Normal Buying Will Bring Prosperity Back

Trade depressions have been happening since Methuselah was in his cradle, and likely a long time before that. Throughout the centuries there have been off-years in between periods of prosperity. Naturally, all sorts of explanations have been offered, of the temporary adversity. The stars, the sun, and the devil, have all been blamed. But why pass the buck? The cause is as plain as the nose on your face. Employment right now is off because trade is reduced. And that means simply that some people who ought to be buying aren't buying as they usually do.

This depression will presently pass, as all the others have. But every one with some income can hasten the return of prosperity by buying again at the normal rate. A resumption of normal buying will steady business and reduce unemployment.

THE WORLD'S GREATEST NEWSPAPER

BOARD'S ADVICE EXPECTED TO BE FOR MODIFYING

Commission Keeps Plans Secret.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 11.—[Special.]—The Wickersham law enforcement commission resumes its sessions tomorrow. Out of a whirlpool of speculation over its attitude on what to do about prohibition there persisted the report that a majority at least of the board favored modification of the dry laws.

There was a formal statement from the commission describing as unauthorized various reports of what the body was considering as its recommendations, but not denying these reports. Among these reports was one that the commission will urge a constitutional convention to act on prohibition.

Modification Reports Increase.

Several bits of information leaking out from the secret sessions of the commission have served to build up the belief that the commission is leaning toward some modification plan.

Recently the commission sent out questionnaires to prominent chemists asking them for their opinion on what percentage of alcohol actually is intoxicating. Questionnaires also were sent to brewers on the economic effect of modification to permit wines and beer. Further, among the witnesses who have appeared before the Wickersham group have been labor leaders who were unanimously for beer, as well as John M. Morehead, minister to Sweden, who told of Sweden's liquor control plan.

Report Dispute Cleaves Board.

Chairman Wickersham has said that the commission has not yet decided whether it has authority to decide upon the merits or demerits of prohibition and it is understood that this has caused a sharp division in the ranks. Several members, with wet leanings, are insisting that the commission take a definite stand and the debates on this point are said to have been extremely warm.

All of the facts have convinced many political observers that the final report of the commission will not be so favorable to the dry cause as the enforcement legislation recommended by it to congress last spring. How far the commission will go in the other direction, however, the members apparently have not yet decided among themselves.

Credit Plan to Mackintosh.

Authorship of the constitutional convention plan was credited to Judge Kenneth Mackintosh. The statement formally issued by the commission today said:

The attention of Judge Mackintosh, a member of the national commission on law observance and enforcement, was called to an article in the Washington Herald this morning attributing to him the advocacy of certain action by the commission. Judge Mackintosh said that the statement issued by the commission Saturday last, applied to this article as well as to all similar conjectures and he had nothing to add thereto."

The statement last Saturday, signed by Chairman George W. Wickersham, declared that "there are certain phases of the investigation which the commission has not yet completed," and that "any statements in advance as to the content of the report or the recommendations made are purely conjectural."

During the last three days the commission has not been in session having adjourned over Armistice day. At its meeting tomorrow, it was reported, several witnesses will appear, among them a prominent physician. The meetings will continue each day this week. All of the members will be present except Newton D. Baker of Cleveland, and Judge William I. Grubb of Birmingham, who has been called home to preside at his court.

DISAGREE WITH FESS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 11.—[Special.]—Wet leaders in the Republican ranks made it clear today that they are not disturbed by the warning issued by Senator Simeon D. Fess [Rep., O.], chairman of the Republican national committee, that any deviation from complete support of prohibition will result in a split in the party.

Former Senator James W. Wadsworth of New York, in a statement issued by the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, asserted that Senator Fess "cannot see what is going on in this country," and that "tears dim his sight."

Representative Fred A. Britten [Rep., Ill.] demanded that the Republicans elect another national chairman "before the arid senator further depresses his party."

Representative L. C. Dyer [Rep., Mo.] said that if desertion of the cause of prohibition would defeat the Republican party the party would deserve defeat.

Asks Fess Questions.

Mr. Wadsworth asked if Senator Fess thought the Republicans could carry such states as Illinois, Massachusetts, New York, New Jersey and Ohio unless it modified its stand on prohibition.

"If we are to have a split (and I am not so sure of that), what kind of split is better—a split caused by a straight-out, manly declaration on the fundamental importance of repeal or a split caused by a half-hearted and transparently insincere adherence to prohibition?" asked Mr. Wadsworth. "Does the senator hope to cajole millions of good men and women into an attitude of complacency concerning the thing which they regard as vital, just to make it easier for some local candidate to get by? No, this thing has gone beyond that stage."

Should Be Obvious—Britten.

Representative Britten said that "it must be patent to any one with an ounce of brains that the party will rise or fall by the outcome in such wet Republican states as New York, Illinois, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts and Ohio, to say nothing of small wet Republican states.

"Senator Fess' leadership of the national committee has been void of the slightest comprehension of political strategy," added Mr. Britten. "The committee should meet at once for a general discussion of the best interests of the party. Senator Fess is an ardent Republican, but he also is an intolerant dry."

FARMERS' GUNS ROUT KIDNAPERS WITHOUT A SHOT

Four suspected kidnapers who have terrified three wealthy farmer families at Monee and Matteson for more than a week were driven to flight last night when they invaded the front yard of Henry Arnold of Monee, and were met by Arnold's brother, William, and the latter's son, Marshall, armed with shotguns. No shots were fired. Two Will county deputy sheriffs were assigned to guard the home.

Six miles away, at Matteson, in Cook county, the family of Fred Krumwiebe was also under protection of guards. For about ten days the four suspects have driven by or stopped in front of the homes of the two Arnold families, and that of Krumwebe. Last Thursday telephone wires of the three homes were clipped.

"Missing" Girl Is Found in Her Mother's Home

Ruth Hoffman, 16 years old, for whom police had conducted a 24 hour search, was found last night at the home of her mother, Mrs. Henry Williams, 2302 North Central Park avenue. She was reported missing Monday night by Earl Taylor, 2267 North Kedzie avenue. Miss Hoffman had made her home with the Taylors in recent months. Taylor was alarmed yesterday when she telephoned Taylor a tale of being a captive of gangsters.

Wives! He's Had 29 of 'Em in 23 Years; 400 Sweeties

Oakland, Cal., Nov. 11.—(AP)—Norman Arthur Lee Flood, convicted bigamist, told police today he had married and divorced 29 women during the last 23 years.

"And sweethearts? I figure I've had about 400 sweethearts," he said. "Ever since I was 17 years old I've had a way with the women," Flood said. "I soon learned if you treated a woman as you would a square shooting man, the woman will fall for you every time."

CONVENTION TEST OF PROHIBITION ROUSES INTEREST

Constitutional Experts Discuss Proposal.

Publication of reports that President Hoover's law enforcement commission may recommend the calling of a national constitutional convention to consider the amendment or repeal of the eighteenth amendment yesterday evoked interested comment from constitutional authorities in Chicago.

Some of the lawyers interviewed believed the plan sound, and said it might expedite an official consideration of the prohibition question. Others were dubious. Some felt that the plan, even if legal, could gain nothing; that it was simply another method which would take ultimately as long as the generally followed method of amending the constitution.

Article 5 Is Quoted.

The proposal as reported from Washington concerns article 5 of the federal constitution. The pertinent section of this article reads as follows:

"The congress, whenever two-thirds of both houses shall deem it necessary, shall propose amendments to this constitution; or, on the application of the legislatures of two-thirds of the several states, shall call a convention for proposing amendments, which, in either case, shall be valid to all intents and purposes, as part of this constitution, when ratified by the legislatures of three-fourths of the several states, or by conventions in three-fourths thereof, as the one or the other mode of ratification may be proposed by congress."

Two Convention Attempts.

Heretofore all amendments to the constitution have been proposed by congress, being then ratified by the states. The alternate method, of calling a national convention by petition of two-thirds of the states, has never been invoked, but two attempts to invoke it have been made.

In these attempts, made in the years since 1901, a total of 32 states petitioned for a constitutional convention, specifying certain purposes, and the language of some of these petitions provided for the consideration by the convention of "any other matters properly before the convention," which it is now argued may be construed to mean consideration of the 18th amendment or any other matters pertinent at this day.

Opinions of Two Experts.

The questions involved were submitted by THE TRIBUNE to Professors Kenneth C. Sears and Arthur H. Kent, heads of the department of constitutional law at the University of Chicago, who after consideration gave the following opinion:

"It is pointed out in the best article on the subject of which we know, to wit, one by the late Wayne B. Wheeler in 21 Illinois Law Review, page 788, that since 1901 thirty-two states have petitioned for a constitutional convention. This is the required two-thirds. Most of these petitions were directed either to a change in the method of electing United States senators or to the polygamy question in Utah. Some were general.

"On the question as to whether it would be constitutional for congress now to call a convention on the basis of these petitions we know of no decision strictly in point. We are of the opinion that grave doubt would exist as to the validity of such a convention.

"The language of the United States Supreme court in Dillon vs. Gloss, 256 U. S., page 368, lends some support to an argument that the petition would have to be submitted by the states within a reasonable time prior to the action of congress."

Attorney John Elliott Byrne, whose long practice in the federal courts gives weight to his opinion, took a contrary view. He said:

"As article 5 contains no time limit limiting the validity of a call for a constitutional convention, it would seem that such a call would remain permanently effective until satisfied by the assembling of the convention desired.

"If a call is specifically limited to one or more purposes its efficacy probably would be ended with the calling of a convention for those purposes or by the enactment otherwise of the purposes sought to be gained in the call. However, if the call is expressed so as to cover general purposes as well as any specific purpose it should logically be valid until a convention is called in response to the request under consideration.

"If a part of the purposes stated in the call have been met by other legislation, still the request for other purposes, even if general in nature, would be valid."

Sees Advantage in Plan.

Mr. Byrne said that one possible advantage might be that the question might at least be put before the states, since a simple majority could prevail in the convention, whereas a two-thirds vote is necessary in both houses of congress.

From other sources obstacles were pointed out. The calling of a convention would have to be ordered by congress, and unless the wets can muster a majority of both houses congress could delay the call indefinitely.

To arguments that action by congress was mandatory after two-thirds of the states had presented petitions it was pointed out that there is no force to compel congress to act, any more than there is a force to compel the Illinois legislature to redistrict the state at constitutionally mandatory periods.

KILL 3 IN SEARCH FOR LEGENDARY BURIED TREASURE

Bandits Shoot Up Home of Aged Farmers.

Boscobel, Wis., Nov. 11.—(AP)—Lured, authorities believe, by baseless tales of treasure concealed about the homestead of Cornelius Horrigan, three men and a woman, described as "rustics," invaded the place today and shot three persons to death in an unsuccessful robbery attempt.

Horrigan, Patrick Gorman, 65, and the latter's son, Paul, 18, of Huron, S. D., were killed. Stephen Horrigan, the slain man's brother, was seriously wounded.

Interrupt Dinner.

The robber quartet approached the home, located in an isolated section 17 miles north of here while the Horrigans and their guests, members of the Gorman family, were seated at a dinner table. Witnesses related the woman entered and asked for a glass of water. When Horrigan's sister left the room to obtain it, the three men entered.

"We would like to go squirrel hunting on your farm," one of them was quoted as saying.

"Sure, you can hunt anywhere you like on my land," Horrigan was said to have answered.

One of the men then suddenly drew a pistol and commanded all present to raise their hands. The others also produced weapons.

Men Rush Bandits.

Instead of complying the intended victims rushed the robbers, who in their panic began firing at random. The elder Gorman and his son were killed almost instantly and Cornelius Horrigan was fatally wounded. Stephen Horrigan, although shot twice, obtained a pistol and fired. It was believed he wounded one robber. Stephen said he shattered the windshield of the bandits' car. An auto fitting its description was seen by Mount Sterling, Wis., residents, who said one of the occupants appeared wounded.

Officials investigating the case said the treasure legend was current in the neighborhood. The backwoods farm was manned by the aged brothers and their sister, Ellen, 75, who, gossip had it, feared to trust their money to banks.

A quartet answering descriptions of the slayers were routed from the farm this summer, neighbors said. At the time the intruders were frightened away, they were reported digging in search of the reputed hidden wealth.

COURTHOUSE LAWN GUN FIGHT RESULTS IN 1 DEATH, 1 WOUNDED

Nebraska City, Neb., Nov. 11.—(AP)—Shots fired after an argument over a petty theft brought death today to Andrew Massey, 26, and critical injuries to Deputy Sheriff Howard McCallum.

Massey was killed in a gun battle on the courthouse lawn. Who shot him had not been determined tonight. Sheriff Carl Ryder and several bystanders fired.

Massey called at the courthouse where Deputy Sheriff McCallum was questioning his father, Charles Massey, concerning a break-in at the high school building this morning. Officers said the young man threatened the deputy with a revolver.

Unarmed, McCallum pushed Massey outside and closed the door. On the courthouse lawn Massey began shooting. A dozen shots were fired, witnesses said. Some of the men in the crowd also had guns.

BUSINESS URGES NORMAL BUYING; OPPOSES STUNTS

Ballyhoo Will Not Help, Hazelwood Says.

Putting money into circulation by making normal purchases while prices are reasonably low is the sound method to increase business and employment, the Chicago Association of Commerce declared yesterday. This attitude was made known two hours after the disclosure of a scheme of Mayor Thompson to stimulate business by awarding cash prizes to holders of trade checks given with purchases in stores.

As understood from reports, the mayor's plan contemplates the distribution of a $1,000,000 cash fund through the issuance of numbered tickets, a winner being chosen daily or weekly. The details of the methods of distribution were not announced.

Hazelwood Is Spokesman.

Craig B. Hazelwood, vice president of the First National bank and chairman of the metropolitan district committee of the Association of Commerce, the committee which conducted the "buy now" movement last week in favor of "normal buying," was the spokesman for the association and the leading retailers of the city in yesterday's statement. "This is no time," said Mr. Hazelwood, "to stir up thoughtless buying by people who are financially in no position to be carried away by popular hysteria. Rather, our big job is to get those whose income has been unscathed to shoulder the responsibility.

"Lottery plans or any other flag waving method of buyer stimulation are of their very nature be only temporary in their effect. The experience of other cities which have tried stunt methods of prosperity building has been that while sales took big jumps during the excitement, the reaction was more painful than ever, with sales and employment in following weeks dropping to new lows.

How to Meet Situation.

"The very fact that right now the banks of the country report collective savings deposits of more than $28,000,000,000 shows that the great majority of our people are still very nicely off. If, however, instead of hoarding their money these depositors can be shown the wisdom of making their normal purchases while prices are reasonably low, thus putting money into circulation, increasing business, and putting demands back to work, half of the emergency will be overcome.

"It is my belief," concluded Mr. Hazelwood, "that these bank depositors who make up the conservative and great majority of our population, are going to be influenced to buy by any heroic or lottery schemes. What they want to know is that it is wise and safe to buy now."

Big Stores Adopt Resolution.

Which retailers are to be brought into the plan for trading checks has apparently not been decided. But with the exception the large State street stores have adopted a resolution which reads:

"On motion duly made and seconded, it is the unanimous decision that none of the business houses represented will further any program other than that presented by the Chicago Association of Commerce."

Not only has the Association of Commerce gone on record against ballyhoo methods but a group of eighteen neighborhood trade organizations have signed a statement counseling the public that "normal buying now for normal needs should be the deliberate program of all who are able."

"Steady Buying Steadies Business."

These organizations, members of the metropolitan district committee, will be represented at another meeting of the committee today when it is expected that additional action to further the steady buying campaign will be taken.

CALLS CHICAGO JOB SITUATION WORST IN STATE

Work for Only 25% of Applicants.

Chicago's unemployment situation is more acute than that of any other city in the state, Barney Cohen, director of the state department of labor, reported yesterday in a statement to George F. Getz, chairman of the governor's unemployment commission.

Between Oct. 1 and 25 there were 22,609 applications for jobs at free employment bureaus throughout the state, Mr. Cohen said. Of these applicants, 8,019 were placed.

In a number of cities downstate as many as two-thirds of the applicants obtained jobs and others showed at least 50 per cent placed. In Chicago, however, according to the report, less than one-fourth of the 12,426 who applied for work were placed.

To Take Suburban Census.

A census of the jobless, such as was taken last Saturday in Chicago through the public schools, will be conducted this week and next in eight industrial suburbs of the county, it was decided yesterday at a conference attended by suburban mayors or their representatives at the commission's headquarters.

In Forest Park, Berwyn, Cicero, and Stickney the registration will be conducted next Saturday in the public schools. In Calumet City the registration will be made next Monday at the city hall. Mayors of Blue Island, Harvey and Phoenix reported registrations in their towns already under way.

At a conference of representatives of the ten shelters now established in Chicago, it was agreed yesterday that a central clearing house for homeless men would be established. Applicants will be required to register and carry cards, as recommended by Lewis E. Myers, chairman of the commission's housing committee.

Deacons from each of the 118 Presbyterian churches of Chicago will meet at the Second Presbyterian church, Michigan avenue and 20th street tomorrow night to plan a drive for poor relief funds to be conducted on Nov. 23. The announcement of the drive was made by the Rev. Gilbert T. Bremicker, chairman of the social service department of the Presbytery of Chicago. It is planned that all Presbyterian churches of the city unite in the drive.

TRAINMEN TO SEEK ACTION BY CONGRESS FOR SIX HOUR DAY

A six hour day for trainmen will be urged today by more than 700 representatives of the five train service unions in Chicago, who will hold a meeting at the Palmer house to discuss ways of alleviating the present unemployment problem. David B. Robertson, president of the firemen's union, explained that congressional action will be sought to establish a six hour day for trainmen.

The unions to be represented are the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen, the Order of Railroad Conductors, and the Switchmen's Union of North America.

Better Business Bureau Opens War on Beggars

A meeting of the anti-racket committee of the Chicago Better Business bureau in the Union League club yesterday resulted in a declaration of war on sidewalk beggars, fake auction houses, donation solicitors and other petty racketeers in the loop district. Walter Stebbins, chairman of the committee, pointed out that more than 90 per cent of the loop beggars are not residents of Chicago.

MAYOR'S SON AND DAUGHTER OF AN EX-MAYOR ELOPE

Mayor John J. Sterling of Benton Harbor and Dr. Corydon M. Ryno, ex-mayor, learned yesterday that their children, both college students, eloped from Chicago last Saturday and were married.

The elopers were Miss Jane Ryno, 20 years old, University of Chicago senior, and Webster Sterling, third year law student at the University of Michigan. He is 23 years old.

The bride, who lives at Blackstone hall, 5748 Blackstone avenue, told of the marriage last night. Sterling visited her Saturday, she said, and they decided to wed on "a sudden impulse." They tried to get a license in the county building, but the office was closed, so they drove on to Waukegan and got one there.

Mrs. Sterling said her husband had to return on Monday to Ann Arbor, where he will complete his studies in June, 1932. She will be graduated next June, and a year will elapse before, as she expressed it, they can settle down.

Mayor Sterling, a former prosecutor of Berrien county, learned of the marriage when his son telephoned him from Ann Arbor yesterday.

Police Seek Former Mayor of Byron, Missing a Week

The police of Chicago and other cities in northern Illinois last night were searching for Herbert Stearns, 63 years old, former mayor of Byron, who disappeared last Wednesday when he left his home for Aurora to work. According to friends, Stearns never reached his destination. He carried little money when he left Byron. He had no known enemies, according to his brother, Ralph Stearns of Sycamore.

LARGEST SAILING BOAT FOUNDERS; SKIPPER UNAWED

Derides the Steam That Saved Them.

BY TOM PETTEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 11.—[Special.]—A grizzled old skipper of one of the last of the windjammers and his crew of nine sailing men came into port today on a steamer. They were chagrined that steam had triumphed over a storm that had sent their five masted schooner, Dunham Wheeler, the largest American sailing vessel in commission, to Davey Jones' locker, but they were thankful to have been saved from a similar fate.

Capt. John A. McIver, a dour downeaster, did not exactly breathe contempt for a part of his crew—he roared it. The captain is 69, but he is clear eyed and ruddy, and first and last he is a sailing man.

Crew Loses Its Nerve.

The laconic story of McIver, pieced out by information gathered from Capt. L. S. Fyglestadt of the Aztec and the men is a tale of a battle with a gale in mountainous seas with a crew that had lost its nerve.

The Dunham Wheeler, fourteen days out of Los Pedras, Venezuela, with a cargo of fertilizer lost a mizzen sail, a foresail, two topsails, and two staysails off the masts in a near gale last Friday off the Florida coast.

The old five master found herself in serious trouble and headed for Cape Canaveral, where shallow water enabled her to anchor. The blow continued, however, and Saturday her decks were awash. Most of the crew climbed to the poop deck to pray and sing hymns. The Dunham Wheeler true to windjammer tradition, had no wireless.

Flares Bring Rescue.

"What did we do?" barked Capt. McIver. "We did just what men on sailing boats did long before wireless. We used flares. We used to get saved before radio, didn't we? We got saved didn't we?"

The steamer Upshaw was the first to sight the old sailing ship, but the Upshaw's engines were disabled and it radioed the Aztec to lend a hand. So, after all, wireless too came to the aid of the sinking five master.

The Aztec circled the schooner, pumped a great stream of oil on the lashing sea and started to lower a boat. Capt. McIver stopped that. He preferred to use his own launch and it was lowered away by sailors yanked from their hymns and prayers by an angry skipper who had never lost a ship before in his two score years as a sailing man. The crew, bundled up in life preservers, went down lines to the bobbing launch. McIver was the last man to leave. He scorned a life belt. And he cannot swim a stroke.

"Quit sailing? Well, I guess not," said the captain with scorn. "I was in steam once—a year and a half during the war. They got me into it but I don't want to ride around in those coffee pots any more."

MORE CHURCHES JOIN IN UNITED CHARITIES DRIVE

The ninety-seven churches represented at the formal launching last Thursday of the United Charities drive for $1,150,000 for the coming year, has grown to 154, each represented by ten workers. This was announced yesterday at a report meeting at the Hotel Sherman.

Although $750,000 of the amount sought has been raised, most of that was solicited before the opening of the drive by the special gifts committee. Monday's donations totaled $10,000 and $16,000 was received on Saturday. The board of trade committee, led by Frank G. Coe, has pledged $20,000. Women are supporting the drive through the Women's auxiliary of the United Charities campaign, headed by Mrs. Charles Chadwick.

The Bond Men's club yesterday announced a contribution of $2,000 to three major charities: $1,000 to the United Charities, and $500 each to the Catholic Charities and the Jewish Charities. The club, T. Weller Kimball, treasurer, said, has also assigned members to solicit funds from investment firms and their employés.

progress of peace. But less dramatic and possibly even more sure is the day to day strengthening and buttressing of the pact by extension from one nation to another of treaties which, in time of friction, assure resort to well-tried processes of competent negotiations, of conciliation, and of arbitration.

"And we can in our own relations record great advancement in these fundamental, but less dramatic, supports to the pact during the two years since its signature. Up to the signature of the pact our country was bound by arbitration treaties to seven other nations. It was bound to 26 nations by conciliation treaties, both bi-lateral and multi-lateral. Since that time we have completed treaties with 15 more countries, and in addition we have signed further arbitration and conciliation treaties with 45 nations, of which 26 have been ratified and the others are either before the senate or in course of presentation to it.

"By these treaties of arbitration we pledge ourselves to the acceptance of the judgment of a disinterested third party in all controversies of a justiciable character. By treaties of conciliation we pledge ourselves to submit all other types of controversy to negotiations or the mediation of commissions which embrace representatives of disinterested nations.

"It is our purpose to develop in every way the use of arbitration and conciliation agreements in our relations with foreign nations."

Praises Others Efforts.

The President praised the efforts made by foreign powers to bring about peace and avert war and expressed the belief that the time will come when it will be possible to settle all disputes between nations by peaceful means. He spoke of the World Court in this connection and also reviewed his suggestion of a year ago that the nations agree to make food ships immune from attack in time of war. After stating that the World Court was a firmly established institution, he said:

"From it there is steadily growing a body of precedent, decisions and acceptance of law in the formation of which we should have a part, not alone in our own interest but in the advancement of peace."

Food Supply as War Inciter.

The President said he proposed the immunizing of food ships "not alone upon humane grounds but that the haunting fears of nations who must live from over the sea might be relaxed and the sacrifices which they make for naval strength might be lessened.

"Oud food supplies are assured," Mr. Hoover continued, "and it is therefore from us a disinterested proposal. It would make for limitation as well as prevention of war."

At this point the President warned, the United States, a nation born of war, cannot contend that there never is or never will be righteous cause for war in the world.

"Nor can we assume," he added, "that righteousness has so far advanced in the world that we may yet have complete confidence in the full growth of pacific means or rest solely upon the processes of peace for defense.

If Peace Treaties Fail.

"With the progress the world has made in the installation of the methodical processes for the settlement of controversies the larger problem emerges as to fidelity to agreement to use these methods. The thought and anxiety of the world is rightly directed to the question as to what the nations of the world will do in case of a failure to use them. It is useless for us to say that we have no interest in such event."

The President added that since our experience in the world war it would be idle for this country to deny the danger which foreign wars bring to "our shores."

President Hoover spoke in friendly fashion of the league of nations and its machinery for the use of force in the maintenance of peace, but said America's usefulness in bringing about peace lay in another direction.

"Our basis of coöperation to preserve peace among nations must be different from that of the other great nations of the world," he said. The security of our geographic situation,

Pershing Warns in Time of Peace of War's Danger

Washington, D. C., Nov. 11.—[Special.]—Appeals for adequate preparedness for national defense were made by three nationally prominent speakers in Armistice day addresses delivered tonight under the auspices of the Military Order of the World War and the Reserve Officers' association. Gen. John J. Pershing was the first speaker, being followed in order by Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson and Secretary of War Patrick J. Hurley.

Gen. Pershing prefaced his preparedness plea with the assertion that the favorable conclusion of the world war was forced by the brilliant dash of American troops. Gen. Pershing said:

"In reflecting briefly upon the course of the great war, after the lapse of thirteen years, it ought to be inspiring to remember that the part taken by our country determined the favorable conclusion of that world struggle. The marked success of our armies in breaking through the stubborn defense of the vital part of the enemy's lines stands as the most brilliant page in the annals of American arms.

Wars Keep Coming.

"We fought to destroy militarism in the world, but much unrest and distrust still prevails. In the period since the world conflict, many wars have been fought. We do not want war; we hope it may never come again; but the world has not yet reached that point where it can be said that the danger has passed. It is not a question of whether or not we believe in war; it is a question of whether we might not be drawn into it again as we were in the world war.

"Therefore, we can not neglect the question of national defense, which an act of congress in 1920 so wisely provided for. The world war found us wholly unprepared, with no reserve officers, no artillery or ammunition, no tanks, and no airplanes, and it was a year before we could enter the battle. We should not be caught in a similar situation again. Our regular army, which forms the nucleus of our military establishment, is now below the limit established by this act. When war comes it is to be supplemented by the National Guard and the reserves. Neither of these contingents can be neglected in making provisions for national defense. No one can be certain that war will not come again."

Peace Minimizes Dangers.

After paying tribute to Gen. Pershing with the statement that as the years go by "the magnitude of the service which he rendered in the world war looms larger and larger," Secretary Stimson warned that the country should remember that it needs protection from possible war.

"Danger seems very remote in times of peace," he said. "But in this human world, with its frailties, danger will always exist. Eternal vigilance will always be the price of liberty, and in a free republic the duty of sharing in that vigilance and of participating in the defense of the nation and of its institutions rests totally upon every man. Throughout our history Americans have never failed to respond promptly to the call of actual danger. But they have often been indifferent to the need of reasonable preparedness. Let us all be willing, even in times of peace, to give that measure of time and effort necessary to prepare ourselves for intelligent and effective service in time of emergency of war."

Secretary Hurley said that in event of another war "each farm and factory, each mill and mine, will be required to perform its duty to the country in support of the soldier who faces the enemy at the front.

"Never again shall one citizen be required to give his life in defense of his country while another is permitted to make unusual profit at his country's expense," he added.

our traditional freedom from entanglements in the involved diplomacy of Europe, and our disinterestedness enable us to give a different and in many ways a more effective service to peace."

Pointing out that the nations of Europe believe they must use force to compel nations to abide by agreements, the President said this country should make no criticism of their conclusions, adding:

"But we believe our contribution can best be made in these emergencies, when nations fail to keep their undertakings of pacific settlement of disputes by our good offices and helpfulness, free from any advance commitment or entanglement as to the character of our action."

Tribute for War Dead.

The warmest tribute was paid America's world war dead by President Hoover in opening his address before the Armistice day memorial meeting staged by the world alliance.

"Upon this day," he said, "all thoughts must turn to our heroic dead, whose lives were given in defense of the liberties and ideals of our country. Their contribution to these priceless heritages was made without reservation; they gave the full measure of their intelligence and energy and enthusiasm, and life itself, forfeiting their portion of further happiness—all that we and our children might live on more safely, more happily, and more assured of the precious blessings of security and peace.

"A solemn obligation lies upon us to press forward in our pursuit of those things for which they died. Our duty is to seek ever new and widening opportunities to insure the world against the horror and irretrievable wastage of war. Much has been done, but we must wage peace continuously, with the same energy as they waged war."

Speakers Urge Peace at Armistice Meetings.

BY KATHLEEN M'LAUGHLIN.

Coöperative defense among all nations is the most effective method of obtaining permanent peace, and an international commerce agreement similar to our interstate commerce clause would remove many of the causes of wars. Those were the declarations of Charles G. Fenwick, professor of political science at Bryn Mawr, before the Catholic Association for International Peace at the Congress hotel yesterday.

The gathering was one of several Armistice day programs devoted to the subject of peace. In the Chicago temple at noon, at a massmeeting under the auspices of a number of women's organizations, David L. Schillinglaw, past state commander of the American Legion, joined with Rabbi Solomon Freehof of K. A. M. temple and Congressman Morton D. Hull in a plea for better citizenship as a means of obtaining peace.

Fears "Lazy Citizens."

"The greatest danger to our government today is the indifference of our citizenship," Commander Schillinglaw said. "We often talk about the danger of communist and other ignorant classes. I often put it this way. It is not insurrection of ignorance that we have to fear as much as the laziness and indifference of intelligence."

"Economic inequalities and the selfishness of nations cause wars," Prof. Fenwick told an audience of several hundred at the Congress at the all day meeting. "The job is to try to establish economic justice throughout the world, or, failing that, to settle disputes through diplomatic relations.

"Have we reached the state of progress in our civilization where we can ask nations to arbitrate under all conditions? To give up the right to be the judge of their own case? Perhaps not. But I think we have come to the point where we can resort to arbitration in a majority of instances. Either we must give up the principle of arbitration or we must enter some world court.

Urges Commerce Laws.

"Is it possible to have an international commerce clause, as we have an interstate clause? Just ask yourselves what our condition was like at first, before the constitution was adopted. Mutual distrust, even dislike, was rabid. But we have arrived at where we are now because we know that no state needs special armament against the others, being protected by all. I believe it will be possible to work out that system for the world in years to come."

Other speakers at the conference were the Rev. R. A. McGowan of the National Catholic Welfare council the Rev. Frederic Seidenburg of Loyola university, Prof. Jerome Kerwin of the University of Chicago, the Rev. Charles C. Miltner of Notre Dame university, and others.

Former Chief Justice Floyd E. Thompson of the Illinois Supreme court was the principal speaker at an Armistice day meeting at the Covenant club at 10 North Dearborn street. He advocated the setting aside of each holiday for the consideration of some special theme, and, in suggesting American relations with other nations as a fit topic for Armistice day, discussed the immigration laws.

7,500 Depositors Agree to Replace Closed Bank

More than 7,500 persons having deposits totaling about $3,500,000 in the Lake View State bank, which was closed by the state on Sept. 20, have agreed to coöperate in the formation of a new bank, according to an announcement last night by a depositors' committee. The committee predicted that at least $5,000,000 of the $6,000,000 deposits will be pledged within a week, insuring the organization of the new bank.

MacNIDER ASKS U. S. TO ENFORCE PEACE IN WORLD

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

"America not only wants peace, but America intends to have it."

This was the Armistice day message which Col. Hanford MacNider, past national commander of the American Legion and now United States minister to Canada, brought to the war veterans of Chicago and the crowds that assembled yesterday at the La Salle street side of the city hall for the first big downtown celebration of the day.

And he said that before long, when the generation of war veterans comes into power in Washington, they will say this not only in speeches but authoritatively and in law.

Peace Pleа at 11 O'Clock.

The moment for which the veterans waited, the sacred hour of 11, came just after this address and this benediction by the Legion chaplain:

"The Lord bless you and keep you, the Lord make his face to shine upon you and be gracious unto you, the Lord lift up the light of his countenance upon you and give you peace now and evermore."

The confetti and torn paper floated down the damp gray canyons of the street and fell softly upon bowed heads, as the words of the speaker had fallen upon their hearts. The salute to the dead shattered this silence and then, as all faces turned eastward and all heads were bared, the bugles sang their annual requiem, in notes of deep human yearning, ending on the certitude of spiritual victory. And as a new benediction and promise, the sun just then came out of the clouds above the Board of Trade building, in new light and warmth.

View of Armistice Day.

How the veterans view this day's meaning was voiced by Col. MacNider, who spoke from a platform erected against the city hall, where many prominent Legionnaires were gathered, men who, like himself, had won the distinguished service cross and had now become leaders in the war for peace. After describing the hour, twelve years ago, when the sullen roar of the guns fell away along 500 miles of front, and how long lines of men arose and looked curiously at a new sky, he said:

"Our fellow citizens, not of the service men generation, think perhaps that we who served with the colors take ourselves too seriously. But there are two things that they must admit: first, that we know what war is, and, second, that we shall soon be the generation responsible for the conduct of our country's affairs.

"Responsible for World Peace."

"As our generation in the natural course of years becomes the dominant generation in the nation's affairs, you will find that it has built into every man who will represent us in the public service two great convictions: first, the necessity for the preservation of the integrity of America, and, second, a live realization of the fact that, with the leadership imposed upon America by the great war, comes also the responsibility for the maintenance of peace throughout the world.

"We have that responsibility whether we wish it or not. No man will dispute the fact that we can dictate war. If that be true, we can dictate peace. No nation or group of nations will be able to plunge the world into war against America's will if we have vigorous leadership to exercise it.

"Where does this service man generation—these boys who rose out of the mud of the Argonne twelve years ago today—figure in all this? They were the force that wrote into the law of the land the national defense act. When the day comes that they form a majority upon Capitol hill, the provisions of that law will be carried out.

"It calls not for a great mobilization of men and arms, but simply for an expert nucleus, a framework upon which the nation's resources, not only in man power but in industry, can be instantly realized.

"The greatest peace measure of the men who fought the last war still lies before congress, unpassed, waiting for the men who understand what it's all about. It goes by various names and perhaps its present form will be changed before it is written upon the statute books. Its principle, however, is right and its basis is sound.

"It whips in advance the men who would start an unjust or unjustified conflagration. It makes war so inclusive that no jingo would ever be able to make it popular. In short, it directs that hereafter all the nation's resources—capital power, transportation, labor—will all go to war on the same basis with men's lives."

All Sections Hold Celebration.

In all sections of the city, in clubs, hotels, public buildings, and terminals, special observance of the day was shown in many ways. From the far south to the northern suburbs the colors were flying, the bands were playing and orators were discussing the nation's needs. After the formal affairs of the morning the service men and their friends gathered in social affairs and lived over again the life with their comrades of war days.

United States Attorney George E. Q. Johnson said at the federal building celebration:

"We must rededicate ourselves to the service of our country. The other day a man came to me and said that if he was drafted on a jury and returned a verdict of guilty he was in danger of his life. If we breed a race of yellow persons like this we will soon perish from the earth."

"Call Lawyers to Colors."

"Our nation is mighty in times of war, but in times of peace it doesn't have the guts to convict its murderers," said Frederick B. Landis of Logansport, Ind., in a talk before Rotarians at the Hotel Sherman.

"Lawyers of this country can simplify judicial procedure in ninety days, but most of them are playing horse with our courts and they drag most any case out five years. We must call the lawyers to the colors of their country."

Shoreham, Vt., Nov. 11.—(AP)—Mrs. Fannie Duffany Forcier, 70, was chosen to make the Armistice day address here. Her son had been killed in action in France and she recently made the pilgrimage there with others. As she was describing the visit to the grave she dropped dead.

HOLD UP MERCHANT AND CLERK.

ANITA KERRY, ACTRESS, WEDS IN NEW YORK

New York, Nov. 11.—[Special.]—With the scraps of a torn up marriage license and a craving for an Armistice hour wedding, Miss Anita Kerry, actress now appearing in "Elizabeth the Queen" at the Guild theater, and James E. Sauter, a broker, dashed into the municipal chapel shortly before 11 a. m. today.

"Can we get married on these?" Sauter asked with a grin, indicating the scraps. "We got the license yesterday but had an argument last night and tore it up."

The chapel clerk suggested it would be better to have a duplicate made out.

"But it's only a minute or so until 11."

"Everybody stops work and faces to the east at 11," reminded the clerk and so they waited.

Store Clerk Fights Gun Battle with 3 Bandits

A gun battle occurred in the drug store of Walter Swicninski, 2148 North Damen avenue, last night when John Jackowiak, his clerk, opened fire from behind a prescription case on three men who entered and ordered Swicninski to put up his hands. Jackowiak emptied his pistol at the robbers and they returned the fire. Neither Jackowiak nor Swicninski was injured. The robbers fled.

State Marks Armistice Day and Two Other Events

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 11.—(AP)—It was more than Armistice day in the state of Washington. The day was celebrwated as Admission day, the 41st anniversary of Washington's statehood, and as the centennial of the coming of the "covered wagon" pioneers over the old Oregon trail.

BANDIT GANG IN AUTO HOLDS UP LAKE FOREST MAN

Farley Hopkins, 644 East Deerpath avenue, Lake Forest, an official of the Industrial Painting Engineers, Inc., with offices at 228 North La Salle street, was held up and robbed last night in Broadview by several men in an automobile. Mr. Hopkins' chauffeur mistook the men for highway policemen.

Mr. Hopkins was returning from a day's shooting trip for pheasants when the bandits forced his car from the road and robbed him of $300. He saved his watch and a ring by slipping them under a seat cushion.

In order to prevent pursuit the bandits removed parts of the car's ignition system and Mr. Hopkins and the chauffeur were forced to walk to Broadview to report to the police.

U. S. DEMANDS A GENUINE CUT IN ARMAMENTS

Gibson Fights Limitation by Budget System.

BY HENRY WALES.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

GENEVA, Nov. 11.—America went to bat for real disarmament in the league of nations' preparatory commission's debate today. Opposing the proposal for "camouflage" limitation as urged by Great Britain, France, the little entente, and certain other powerful military nations of Europe, the United States joined forces with Germany, Japan, Russia, Scandinavia, and Holland, who demand real reduction of armed forces.

The American proposal was made by Hugh Gibson, American ambassador to Belgium, in a pointed rejoinder to Lord Robert Cecil's long speech, in which the British delegate aimed to show the impossibility of direct limitation of armaments. He supported the project for limitation through budgetary curtailment.

Gibson Gives Two Reasons.

Lord Cecil did not explain why Great Britain considers that naval limitation must be by the fixing of the number of warships to be allowed each nation while it believes that limitation of financial appropriations is sufficient for armies and military material.

Mr. Gibson gave two reasons why the United States could not accept budgetary limitation:

First, because it is inoperative and cannot efficiently and accurately restrict the maintenance of war material:

Second, because the congress at Washington probably would refuse to ratify any such agreement, which, he said, infringes on its rights to make appropriations for national defense.

Urges Direct Limitation.

"The American delegation has always urged direct limitation of material and would still gladly learn that this method was generally acceptable," he said. "We have likewise urged and long since put into practice complete publicity as to material for the use of our armed forces.

U. S. Will Concur in Plan.

"If, having these facts in mind and having rejected our proposals for direct limitation, the other members of the commission can agree to a draft for budgetary limitation applicable to themselves, we should feel that although the method precluded our joining them in these provisions, the aim is one in which we heartily concur.

"I can readily recognize that if a considerable number of other powers join in accepting a budgetary method of limitation they may consider it inequitable to bind themselves to this method and leave other powers exempt. As a practical matter, however, I believe that an examination of our situation will show that we already have an effective method of limitation.

Pledges Full Publicity.

"Our military effectives will be definitely limited and full publicity given to the expenditures for their pay and maintenance. Our naval material and personnel will be definitely limited by treaty. There remains only the question of material for the land and air forces. As regards this we have expressed our readiness to accept what we consider the strictest method of limitation, namely, direct limitation with full publicity as to expenditures, weights and numbers.

"If it gives satisfaction to those states which might be reluctant to see us exempted from any limitation we are willing, provided some practical budgetary method is generally agreed upon which is sufficiently detailed and precise to constitute a real method of limitation, to apply as to ourselves a direct limitation of material along the lines we have consistently urged for general adoption.

"We honestly believe that this is the most effective method of limitation that has yet been suggested, and with all difference to the views of others, we still feel that this affords a more scientific knowledge of military forces and material than can be attained through budgetary limitation; in other words, that it is far easier to conceal the application of a dollar than it is the existence of a rifle."

Lord Cecil's Viewpoint.

Lord Cecil in his speech had declared:

"The limitation of material is admittedly necessary for navy and aviation, and it would be extravagant to say that it is unnecessary for the army, but merely limiting numbers is insufficient.

"Publicity is already in operation, but is difficult to follow because of the complexity of the way the accounts are carried in the many budgets. Publicity is only an indirect moral force and must have an agreement that the countries will not go beyond certain strength in material.

"Undoubtedly direct limitation is the most effective, but far from satisfactory. Suppose you limit the number of tanks. How can you define them? All models are different. Take the new German cruiser, the one completed and the one being built: They are both 10,000 tons, but immensely stronger than any other similar sized cruiser on the seas. Thus you have unlimited competition to see who can build the most effective 10,000 ton cruiser.

"Take the artillery. You improve guns so certain models are immensely superior. You must have a guarantee that the treaty is being executed. How are we to be sure that vast numbers of automatic rifles or machine guns are not hidden away somewhere?

Prefers Budgetary System.

"Thus I cannot accept direct limitation as the best method, but prefer the burgetary system, not for comparison between the different countries, owing to the varying cost of living, wages, and material costs, but for comparison between the budgets of 1930 and the next year and so on, which will reveal if an increasing amount is being spent for armaments. Nations cannot conceal much expenditure in this way.

"I hope that the United States finds a means of joining any such agreement that we might reach."

"If the budgetary system is the best method of limitation, why not apply it to navies?" Count von Bernstorff asked. "The system of direct limitation was imposed on Germany by the Versailles treaty and should be adopted by the others, or we should have the system applicable to everybody."

Tightening of Bail Rules May Put Hoodlums in Jail

Law enforcement officials last night saw a possibility that some of the hoodlums who are out on bail pending trial on vagrancy warrants issued by Municipal Judge John H. Lyle might have to go to jail until they are tried. Attachés of the state's attorney's office pointed out that if the surety companies refuse to sign bonds or should revoke those now in force the gangsters would be unable to supply the kind of bonds demanded by Judge Lyle and Assistant State's Attorney A. C. De Witt.

The policy of the state's attorney's office, which has been supported by most of the judges, and which Judge Lyle said he would support, is that nothing but unencumbered real estate is acceptable on bonds for men with criminal records. It is pointed out that the percentage of such real estate is very small.

Surety Company to Aid.

The board of directors of the Grand Central Surety company of New York, which has signed bonds for such hoodlums and gangsters as Frank Nitti, financial expert of the Capone gang, and Frank Rio, voted yesterday to back up the authorities in the fight for law and order. A telegram to this effect was ordered sent to Judge Lyle.

However, Prof. Leslie J. Tompkins of New York university, who is acting president of the company, said that no final decision was reached by the board as to whether Nitti and Rio would be surrendered on their bonds. A rumor to this effect was circulated after the board meeting, but Prof. Tompkins said:

"We are trying to find out just what the situation is with reference to the cases of this notorious pair. This takes time. We did, however, assure the authorities out there (Chicago), Judge Lyle, and an assistant state's attorney, that nothing of the kind should happen again."

"Does that mean that your company will not sign any more bonds for Chicago gangsters?" he was asked.

"Exactly," he replied.

Swanson Plans Surprise Move.

State's Attorney Swanson announced yesterday that he is planning a surprise move to impress on persons who schedule their property for bond for criminals who do not appear for trial that a bond is a serious matter. The prosecutor refused to divulge just what steps he will take, but it is reported that he plans to file some suits today.

In the meantime Chief Justice John P. McGoorty of the Criminal court was preparing his charge for the December grand jury, which will be asked to investigate the weaknesses of the present bond system and make recommendations to the legislature in January. The trouble with the present bond law, it was pointed out, is that the county has not the funds to buy in the property after bond forfeitures are entered, and if it did it would have trouble reselling the property, because a clear title cannot be given to the purchaser. It was pointed out by the prosecutors that a bond forfeiture can be vacated almost any time after it is entered by the surrender of the fugitive or by his death.

Reports on Bond Survey.

Judge Lyle yesterday made public a study of the bond situation throughout the country, which he made with Frederick Rex of the municipal reference library. He said that the authorities show that his position on high bonds for hardened criminals is correct. The judge's report contains recommendations made by crime commissions from California, New York and Ohio. He particularly cited an excerpt from the report of the joint legislative committee of New York in 1926. Caleb Baumes, author of the Baumes law, was the chairman.

"We believe that the law should make it possible for our judges, in the granting of bail, to distinguish between the professional criminal and the casual offender," said the committee's report. "And we believe it should also be the policy of the state to keep in custody until tried professional criminals charged with serious crimes whose records reveal previous convictions and other serious offenses, and that they should be tried promptly and punished as befits the crime."

"FUR" SAMMONS' CRIME RECORD UP IN COURT TODAY

State Opens Real Test of Vagrancy Cases.

James (Fur) Sammons, said by the authorities to be one of the machine gunners for the Capone gang, started his criminal career as a gang rapist in 1899, it was disclosed yesterday by Assistant State's Attorneys Harry Ditchburne and James Brown as they prepared for the first real test of the application of the vagrancy law to the hoodlum element.

Sammons is to go to trial this morning on the vagrancy charge before Judge Jonas in the Municipal court. When he took a change of venue from Judge Lyle, who issued the vagrancy warrants against the 26 public enemies as listed by the Chicago crime commission, he demanded a jury trial.

Case Held Test of Law.

The Sammons case is considered by the prosecutors to be the real test case as to whether the vagrancy law of 1874 can be successfully applied to the present day gangster, hoodlum, and labor racketeer.

Although one of the vagrancy charges, that against Joseph Condi, was prosecuted unsuccessfully some weeks ago in Judge Fisher's Criminal court, the case was not considered a real test against the so-called "big shots" of gangland. Condi was considered a minor figure.

In Gang Attack on Girl, 11.

The records disclose that the gangster was one of five youths who dragged an eleven year old girl into a flagman's shanty in the stockyards district. In the shanty they raped the child, the records show, and beat and choked her because she resisted their attack. The crime occurred on Dec. 3, 1899. Sammons and his companions were convicted and sentenced to Pontiac reformatory. Sammons at the time was 16 years old.

The prosecutors will show that the short incarceration in the reformatory did not have any corrective influence on the present big shot gangster, because four years later he, with two others, shot and killed Patrick Barrett, then a saloonkeeper at 4216 Wallace street. The murder occurred during a robbery. Sammons and one of his companions in this crime were given the death penalty and the third man, who acted as the lookout, was given a life sentence.

The prosecution will show that Sammons was reprieved from the gallows, but the reason for it does not appear of record. His sentence was subsequently reduced so that he was paroled.

$55,725 IN REWARDS.

Rewards totaling $55,725 are offered for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the slayer of Alfred Lingle. Of the $25,000 reward offered by The Tribune $10,000 will be paid to any person who will give confidential information identifying the slayer of Lingle. All information should be sent to the headquarters established by State's Attorney Swanson in room 503 Temple building, 77 West Washington street. Telephone State 3729.

UNION AGENT'S WAR ON BARKER IN COURT TODAY

James [Lefty] Lynch, who appealed to the courts for help in regaining his former position as business agent of the coal teamsters' and the coal hikers' unions, is to be given a hearing today before Superior Judge Denis E. Sullivan. Lynch is asking an injunction to restrain George [Red] Barker and William [Three Fingered Jack] White, both public enemies who are now in jail, and others from interfering with the management of the unions. Lynch was in Wisconsin yesterday. His attorneys, Harry K. Curtis and Lawrence M. Fine, said that if the court rule with Lynch today he may move at once into his former office.

Jack Guzick Goes on Trial Today on U. S. Tax Charges

Jack Guzik, a chieftain in the Capone booze, gambling, and vice syndicate, will go on trial before Federal Judge Woodward today on charges of attempting to evade payment of some $250,000 in income taxes. Assistant United States Attorneys Jacob Grossman, Cassius Poust, and Dwight H. Green will represent the government, and Attorney William F. Waugh will represent Guzik.

EVEN AT $12.50 THE GLADSTONE WOULD BE A BEST SELLER

It's worth so much more than $9 that $12.50 wouldn't stop it from being a best seller—yet our price is $9! For years Chicago men have been buying more pairs of this shoe than any other at or near its price. There's a good reason why. It's a $12.50 value in every respect—$12.50 leathers, $12.50 craftsmanship, $12.50 quality all-round; the kind of shoe that's conservative, yet smart and correct. It's one of the main reasons why we enjoy the biggest volume of any men's shoe store in the country. Come in and try on a pair. You must be satisfied or we guarantee to return your money.

WHAT DOES YOUR MIRROR SAY?
TO MANY WOMEN the mounting birthdays bring a little less beauty, a few more wrinkles, a complexion that has lost its youth and charm. Yet for others, Time seems to stand still.
The difference is often a matter of diet. So many foods lack sufficient roughage or bulk. Without it, constipation is inevitable. Its poisons spread over the whole system, causing ill health and loss of youth.
Today, you can prevent it easily by eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. Two tablespoonfuls daily are guaranteed to prevent and relieve both temporary and recurring constipation. In stubborn cases, eat ALL-BRAN with each meal. This is so much better than taking pills and drugs that may be harmful.
Advanced processes have improved Kellogg's ALL-BRAN both in texture and in the delicious, nut-like taste.
Delightful with milk or cream, fruits or honey added. Use it for making fluffy bran muffins, breads, etc.
Kellogg's ALL-BRAN also brings iron, which paints cheeks and lips with the natural tint of health. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

STORE IGNORING ARMISTICE DAY IS TEAR BOMBED

Veterans Force Patrons, Owners to Flee.

St. Clairsville, O., Nov. 11.—(AP)—Angered over failure of a chain grocery store to close in observance of Armistice day, a group of Belmont county world war veterans today hurled tear bombs into the place. Patrons and employés were forced to flee, gasping for air. They also wrecked a fruit stand in front of the store.

The platoon of soldiers, wearing steel helmets and carrying rifles, was led to the store by C. W. Fowler, commander of the Belmont county American Legion. He did not enter. Nelson McQuillan, a former officer of the Ohio "40 and 8," was among those who went inside.

Insist on Right to Close Store.

McQuillan said the veterans "considered it their right to close the store on Armistice day just the same as they would protest any attempt of any to tear down the American flag."

Employés made no effort to reopen the store.

Deputy Let Them Have Bombs.

Operators of the store protested against the attack to Mayor C. D. Bradfield, but no charges were filed. The mayor said his proclamation calling for closing of all stores was not mandatory, but that he intended asking the council to pass an ordinance requiring Armistice day closing hereafter.

The bombs were taken by the veterans from the sheriff's office.

Remember War to Maintain Peace! Prince of Wales' Plea

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 11.—"Don't permit the rising generation to forget the horrors of war!"

This was the striking appeal the prince of Wales made tonight to ex-service men and women of the British Legion, who jammed Albert hall for their annual "festival of empire and remembrance." The audience included Ambassador Charles G. Dawes.

"We do not want another war," the prince said. "We cannot even contemplate one and above all we must do the utmost to avoid one. But we must not forget the world war. To forget that, which means to neglect honoring those who fought, not only the fallen but the survivors, is a way to breed new wars.

"Don't Let Memory Fade."

"In history you will find that nations in the past took up arms lightheartedly, and the reason has generally been that the rising generations never realized the horrors that had happened before their day.

"There is a danger of the rising generation knowing little or nothing about the great war. It is the duty of the British Legion to see to it that that memory never fades, and that the youth of the empire will never be left in ignorance."

After the speech the audience sang war songs and viewed tableaux depicting soldiers in battle kit. Tonight's festival ended Britain's Armistice day tribute to its 1,000,000 war dead.

Italy's Private Celebration.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, Nov. 11.—Italy observed Nov. 11 today in a highly significant manner. First of all the military reviews, martial music, bunting and the myriad lights outlining the monuments of the ancient capital, had nothing whatever to do with the cessation of hostilities in 1918, which all the other allies celebrated today.

To the Italians Nov. 11 is the birthday of King Victor Emmanuel and it was in his honor that today's festivities were held.

Italy's Armistice day is celebrated on Nov. 4. Hostilities between Italy and Austrian ceased at 3 p. m. that day, 12 years ago, when the Austrians surrender was complete.

Steel Helmet Guests.

Secondly, most prominent guests at today's display were forty brawny Teutons from the German Steel Helmets and a band of Bulgarian students. The Steel Helmet members are officials guests of Italy to repay a visit of a Fascist deputation to their Rhenish jubilations. The Bulgars are the guests of the Italian youth as a result of the royal wedding at Assisi linking the thrones of Italy and Bulgaria.

Finally, today was the first time in the history of united Italy that a cardinal has celebrated mass and delivered a prayer of safety for Victor Emmanuel of Savoy. Cardinal Pompili performed the rite.

France Has "Uneasy" Armistice.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Nov. 11.—France celebrated the most uneasy Armistice day in ten years. The traditional memorial services for the war dead were held with the usual solemnity, but fears of a new conflict brewing in Europe cast an air of gloom and worry over the celebrations.

Newspapers of all political complexions devoted most of their front pages in recalling horrors of the war, and calling on their readers, whether nationalists or pacifists, to defend the allied victory and to preserve European civilization from a new holocaust.

RAPS VERSAILLES TREATY AS UNFAIR TO THE GERMANS

Prof. Harry Elmer Barnes of Smith college, an author and lecturer on the world war, in a Steuben club lecture last night criticized the allegation in the Versailles treaty that places the blame of losses and damage resulting from the war unqualifiedly on Germany.

Warning of the imminence of a "war of readjustment" if present misunderstandings are not adjusted, Prof. Barnes said: "There can be no hope of establishing peace in Europe until the moral and material injustices of the treaties are undone."

PLAN 50 MILLION TUNNEL FOR N. Y. AND BROOKLYN

New York, Nov. 11.—[Special.]—Construction of a $50,000,000 vehicular tunnel from the Battery to Brooklyn under Governor's Island was definitely upon the city's program today when the board of estimate directed engineers of the board of transportation to make soundings and borings with a view to ascertaining the actual cost. If constructed, the tunnel will be put on a self sustaining basis through a toll system. The tentative plan calls for either a two or a three lane tunnel, linking the Battery with Hamilton avenue at Erie Basin, Brooklyn.

RUSSIA ACCUSES WORLD OF PLOT TO CRUSH NATION

Calls Briand and Poincare "Arch-Conspirators."

MOSCOW, U. S. S. R., Nov. 11.—(AP)—From a dossier of indictments and purported confessions in the hands of the people's commissar for justice there emerged today soviet charges of an international plot to overthrow the governmen. and to parcel out some of the country's most valuable natural resources among the nations fringing her borders.

Eight Russians, said to be anti-soviet, are in prison under charges of high treason, the punishment for which is death. The alleged confession of one of them—the counter-revolutionist Ramsin—names a group of outstanding figures in half a dozen nations as co-conspirators with the leaders of the plot in Moscow.

Poincare, Briand Called Plotters.

Sir Henri Deterding, British oil magnate, is named as one of those who aided in financing the preliminary revolutionary campaign. So are Lord Churchill and Sir Henry Vickers of England. Former Premier Poincare and Foreign Minister Briand of France are called "arch-conspirators," and the name of Britain's "Lawrence of Arabia," who is Col. Lawrence, also known as "Aircraftsman Shaw," is the final dab of color in the picture.

From Ramsin's purported confession the government has reconstructed the elaborate plot. It was hatched in Moscow and Leningrad, fed with foreign capital in Paris, and supported by active sympathy from Great Britain, France, Poland, Finland, Rumania, and other "capitalist" nations.

There was to have been a diplomatic "incident" on the Rumanian border, and Rumania was to have declared war. In quick succession Poland, France, and England were to have followed her example.

Claim Discord Broke "Attack."

An army of 600,000 men under the White general Loukomsky was to have marched on Moscow, gathering 1,000,000 fighters as it went by enlistment of discontented peasants, while simultaneously an army under the White general Denikin moved on Leningrad.

France was to supply arms and ammunition and the British fleet was to steam into the Baltic and the Black sea, seizing the Crimea and Leningrad. All this, planned last summer, the soviet government asserts, broke because of discord between France and Italy, and the uncertainty of Germany's attitude induced the plotters to delay their first open attack.

The revolutionists planned to install a "bourgeois democratic republic" and in return for their support their foreign allies were to share some of Russia's richest sources of wealth.

Insist "Ruler" Already Picked.

Britain was to have the Caucasian oil fields, France other valuable concessions, Poland was to share the Ukraine with France, and other allies were to be rewarded proportionately.

The new government was virtually decided upon, with Ramsin as its most likely head, the alleged confessions said.

In the background of the preparatory plotting, the soviet government charges, was a "trade industrial committee" with headquarters at Paris through which exiled Russian financiers passed a million gold rubles into the revolutionary treasury via "certain high officials of a certain French institution at Moscow."

The indictment implied that the only "French institution" at Moscow is the French embassy.

Through the "institution," the government charges, Poincare and Briand played their important parts in the plot. Other foreign allies contributed their assistance through the "trade industrial committee" at Paris.

London Mildly Amused.

LONDON, Nov. 11.—(AP)—Official circles here were mildly amused today at news from Moscow that the soviet press was carrying "details" of a plot in which prominent Britishers, presumably with the knowledge of the British government, were engaged to overthrow the societ régime. Those mentioned in connection with the Moscow conspiracy were unavailable for comment tonight.

Paris Is Astonished.

PARIS, Nov. 11.—(AP)—Government representatives today expressed astonishment at dispatches from Moscow saying that agents of former Premier Poincare and Foreign Minister Briand had been acting in concert with Russians charged with treasonable acts against the soviet union, declaring such allegations were utterly without foundation.

SISTER REFUSES POLICEMAN CASH; HE SHOOTS HER

Patrolman William Danz, 39 years old, attached to the Hyde Park station, last night shot and seriously wounded his sister, Margaret, 41 years old, in their home at 6912 South Rockwell street.

Miss Danz told Lieut. Willis Bernard of the Chicago Lawn station, who arrested her brother, that he had arrived home intoxicated, demanding money. She refused to give him any and he threatened to go to the attic and ransack a trunk containing $300 left them by their mother when she died last September, Miss Danz said. Her brother drew his revolver and she ran upstairs to her bedroom, locking the door. He fired through it, the bullet striking her in the abdomen. She is at the Holy Cross hospital.

Lieut. Bernard ordered Danz held on an open charge, pending the outcome of his sister's wound.

BAD STOMACH MADE LIKE NEW, SLEEPS WELL NOW

"What a difference in my health! ACIDINE has made my stomach like new. I have no pains in my limbs. My bowels are regular. Now I sleep all night," says Asa B. Mer, of Indianapolis, Ind.

Just another of thousands who are astonished at the way this new prescription ACIDINE succeeds when other known remedies fail. The reason is it is different from other medicines. ACIDINE contains Lapiase, which, in laboratory tests, digested 800 times its own weight of certain heavy starchy foods. ACIDINE neutralizes burning acid, soothes irritated stomach and intestinal linings, helps end acidosis.

Eat, drink all you want. When sour stomach, gas, pain, heartburn, bad taste, heavy feeling, short breath, dizziness, belching, nervousness, colds, gassy headaches and sleeplessness trouble, you take ACIDINE. Results guaranteed. If not delighted, maker refunds money.

'CUSS BOX' FINES SENT TO GOOD FELLOWS' FUND

Office Workers Make Evil Pay Dividends.

Here's another idea for raising money for the Good Fellow fund to carry destitute families through the employment slump.

"We are attaching a check for $5," reads a letter from Swift & Co., "covering collections made in our advertising department with a 'cuss box.' We think the idea might be put to use by some other concerns interested in raising a little money for your fund.

"We started the fund on the basis that whoever swore in the department was to make a donation of a nickel to the box, and the individual who denied his guilt was fined a dime.

Raise $5 in Two Weeks.

"This $5 was raised in two weeks. If we can keep our stenographers working in their usual style, we'll have some more money for you soon.

"[Signed] E. L. WERNER."

This is one of a dozen or more ways that are being used by associates in offices, factories, churches and clubs to lump donations for the relief of homes temporarily desperate for the necessities of life. Many fellow employés are contributing a definite per cent of their salaries.

Many associates have jointly adopted a family for the winter or until the family becomes self-supporting, the Good Fellows pledging themselves to finance the minimum family budget set by relief agencies. Other lump sum donations have been received as the proceeds of bridge or dinner parties.

Among those who reported yesterday were employés of the Charles Levy Circulating company. They mailed a check for $71.50 and pledged themselves for this amount weekly. This will take care of three average families.

Societies Send Funds.

The office employés of the Household Finance corporation sent $19.75. The Ladies Friendly society of Rochelle mailed $5.

The Thirteen club of Chicago, a group of young colored men, mailed a pledge for $35 a month.

The day's mail also included many donations from individuals, such as the $5 sent by Mrs. Anna W. Smeltzer, 713 Bromplon place, with the expressed hope that the money "reaches some hungry child."

William Ryan, Chicago sportsman, race enthusiast, and a betting commissioner on many big sport events, sent $100.

Every penny contributed to the Good Fellow fund reaches some family whose needs and worthiness have been established by investigations of social service workers in the employment of THE TRIBUNE or one of the large permanent charity organizations. THE TRIBUNE pays the expenses of administering the fund.

Air Rifle of Playmate Costs Boy of 9 an Eye

William Pickel, 9 years old, 134 Main street, Evanston, was struck in the right eye by a pellet shot from an air rifle by a companion yesterday. He was taken to St. Joseph's hospital, where the injured eye was removed in an emergency operation. The accident occurred at the home of the boy's father, Elmer Pickel, 4551 Beacon street, Chicago, where the boy was visiting. His parents are separated.

HIS HOME GONE, FORMER EDITOR PLEADS FOR JOB

Asks Sally to Help Him Find Work.

BY KATHERINE KELLEY.

In Sally Joy Brown's mail yesterday came an appeal from a former editor and publisher of a small journal, who had been educated in Germany.

"I am sadly in need of a job," he wrote. "The San Francisco earthquake in 1906 destroyed my publishing business, and the panic of 1907 and 1920, plus 1929, took what was left. I am well educated in German and English, having acquired my education in Germany.

Loses House in Slump.

"We lost our house on Princeton avenue because I lost my position with a machine sales company by reason of last year's slump. I have three dependents, a wife, a daughter, and a son, a graduate of the University of Chicago, who has been ill since his graduation in 1923."

The sole support of his parents, a man, 28 years old, is in despair over the loss of the job for which he had prepared by three years of accounting training at the Northwestern university evening school.

"My last position I held for nearly six years. I am absolutely qualified to take charge of a small office, to handle the keeping of large or small sets of books, or to undertake any kind of office position. It is absolutely necessary that I obtain employment soon."

Busy Despite Armistice.

Although yesterday was Armistice day and a holiday for part of Chicago, more than a hundred job offers were telephoned Sally at THE TRIBUNE'S bureau for the unemployed. These were turned over to the Illinois state free employment service, 116 North Dearborn street, and will be distributed this morning to the jobless.

The jobs offered are getting better because more people are thinking hard to find employment for others, Sally reports.

If you know of a job tell Sally about it at Superior 0100. She will see that it reaches a jobless man or woman.

TRANSIT MERGER PLAN ATTACKED IN FOUR SUITS

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

Four court attacks have been started against the proposed plan to consolidate the surface and elevated lines into one Chicago transportation company. Each comes from the holders of participation certificates of the Chicago Railways company, the north and west side surface lines.

These security holders claim that under the merger the earning power of their participation certificates will be reduced from $1,584,109, as reported for the last year, to $44,570 a year. In lieu of the present plan, they suggest a new one by which they claim each security holder will obtain his full equity in the merged property.

The participation certificates are the offspring of the original stock of the west and north side surface lines. In the early eighties this stock sold as high as $750 a share. Charles T. Yerkes was sold a controlling interest at $600 and $680 a share. For the lease of the lines Yerkes paid $30 a year per share on the north side and $35 on the west side.

Demand $9,000,000 Share.

Now these old stockholders have only a participation interest in the $100,000 capital stock of the railways company, and are the last on the list of security holders. When other security holders were taken care of, there was allotted to these certificate holders about $3,700,000 in stock and they demand a $9,000,000 interest in the new company, according to the promoters of the proposed plan. They claim surplus earnings of about $5,400,000 under the 1907 ordinance, interest on purchase money bonds of $3,300,000, and interest on adjustment income bonds of $1,200,000.

The last suit filed is an effort to get all of the earnings after interest payment on consolidated mortgage "B" bonds. After interest payment on these bonds the company has been paying interest on purchase money bonds and adjustment bonds, which the certificate holders claim should have been paid them under the 1907 ordinances.

This contention is made by Attorney Herbert Pope for the Elkins estate of Philadelphia and the McCormick estate of which Cyrus and Harold McCormick and Mrs. Emmons Blaine are trustees. The McCormick estate has about 1,500 certificates of series No. 1 and the Elkins estate 600.

Three Other Suits Filed.

Practically this same claim has been made by Attorney Amos Miller for the Chicago Title and Trust company, trustee of the Chicago Railways common stock.

Two other suits have been filed by Attorney Henry S. Robbins for the protective committee on series No. 1 of the certificates. One suit seeks to force payment on earnings to certificateholders—which have not been paid since 1917—under the contractual obligations of the 1907 ordinance. The other Robbins suit contests the legality of interest payments on the adjustment and purchase money bonds.

The protective committee is headed by Orville E. Babcock, whose family owns about 2,700 participation certificates. The vice chairman is C. H. Wilmerding, who has 1,121 certificates. Robert J. Dunham, another committee member, has 108 certificates. H. C. Edmonds, another member, represents the John Rass estate with 858 certificates. Darrow Fulton represents 625 certificates owned by the Leiter estate. The last committee member, Mahlon D. Thatcher, is trustee of his mother's estate and also represents western holdings for a total of 2,800 certificates.

Committee Urges Compromise.

This committee issued a statement yesterday setting forth its claims, urging a compromise rather than years of litigation. It asks "consideration of the committee's suggestions for a settlement or that these suggestions be shown to be impracticable or unfair or that disinterested persons be invited to submit a fair plan."

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 20 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They help cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth"—bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver—constipation, you should find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets.

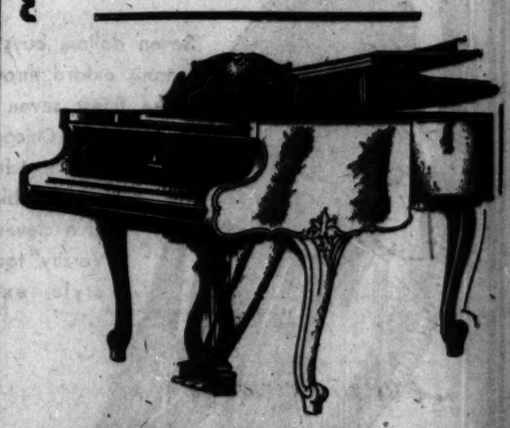
THERE IS A PERIOD MODEL STEINWAY FOR EVERY DECORATIVE SCHEME

PERHAPS, in planning and furnishing your home, you have been influenced by some particular period or style of decoration. Do you know that you can select the incomparable Steinway from many period models . . . Louis XV to Sheraton or early-American Colonial . . . turned and tooled to reflect beautifully the temper of that period? For example, the piano illustrated below was designed for a room furnished after the manner of Louis XV. With a delicate, sinuous grace, a subtle exuberance of general form, this handsome period case happily shelters the Instrument of the Immortals. And the piano is a true Steinway, with the true Steinway tone. The collection of these beautiful instruments is open to your inspection at Lyon & Healy's. A remarkably convenient payment plan enables you to afford the style you want. Come in and be convinced that the Steinway is the finest piano made.

A new Steinway Upright piano can be bought for a total as low as $875

10% down balance in three years

This means that the Steinway Upright may be obtained with a cash deposit of only $87.50. Payment of the balance is made in small monthly instalments over a three-year period. Any Steinway may be purchased on the plan of 10% down, balance in three years. Used pianos accepted in partial exchange.



THE BABY GRAND, LOUIS XV MODEL, $2210, in mahogany. The pleasing contours enhance the distinction of this French design. Available also in American walnut at $2285, and in larger sizes. There are many other Steinway sizes and models. Also with the famous Duo-Art reproducing action.

KNOCK THAT COLD IN A JIFFY

Relief Now Almost Before You Know It

If you want quick relief from a cold, go back to first principles and use something you know does the business—don't start "trying" a lot of fancy ideas or remedies. Even a "little" cold is too dangerous to take chances on.

Get Hill's Cascara Quinine. A scientific formula made to do ONE THING WELL: to knock a cold in a jiffy, not to cure a hundred different things.

Take two tablets now. Then follow directions on box. Drink lots of water now—that's all. Soon those mean, aching pains in head and body begin to go; the cold breaks up; poisons leave your system. Almost before you know it, you feel like a new person.

If it doesn't do that, your money back. Get a box now. You'll be surprised at the speed with which it works. Costs only a few cents.

INSULL WORKS 15 HOURS ON 71ST BIRTHDAY

Holds Depression Is Less Acute than Others.

The head of the three billion dollar Insull utilities took twenty minutes of a day crowded with appointments, conferences and financial transactions to discuss the trend of business, the future of the Civic opera, and himself.

There was no birthday celebration. His friends and associates telephoned congratulations, some of the employé groups sent bouquets, and Mrs. Anna Peterson, director of home economics for the gas company, followed her custom of twenty years by baking a birthday cake bearing 71 candles. Mr. Insull observed the occasion by working 15 hours.

Slump Less Acute than Others.

The present industrial depression, he believes, is of major proportions, but in certain respects is far less acute than any that preceded it. A particularly favorable aspect of the present situation, he says, is the plentiful supply of money.

Impatient of assuming the prophet's rôle, Mr. Insull, when asked of future business prospects, cited the record of his own companies. In so far as the utilities field is concerned, he regards the depression as only temporary and believes it will have small effect on the growth of the companies.

"In December, 1929," he pointed out, "the so-called Insull groups decided on a $200,000,000 expansion program for 1930. In June of that year, when the tendency towards depression was unmistakable, I told President Hoover at a White House conference that we would spend between $198,000,000 and $200,000,000 during the year. Our program has been carried out."

Show Increase in Earnings.

The companies have in the aggregate increased their earnings seven per cent in 1930. The electric power companies have improved over last year's earnings, the gas companies are equaling last year's record. Only the transportation lines have shown a decrease. The Civic opera, one of Mr. Insull's paramount interests, has suffered heavily in the depression, he said. He explained: "Opera is a luxury, and luxuries always suffer first. However, I have no anxiety over the ultimate course of the opera. It will grow as Chicago grows and I have estimated that the Chicago area will have 9,000,000 population by 1965."

White haired but with ruddy face and a brisk step, Mr. Insull reached his office on the seventeenth floor of the Commonwealth Edison building at 7:45 a. m. He was fifteen minutes behind his usual schedule, due perhaps to his having entertained guests the previous night at his home.

Works at Opera at Night.

By 9 a. m. he had finished his mail. From then until 12:30 p. m., there were conferences and appointments. An hour for lunch at the Chicago club and thence to his office in the People's Gas Light and Coke company for a long and busy afternoon. After dining at home he returned downtown to the Civic Opera building and there worked until 11:30 p. m., going over programs, office receipts and financial details of the opera with the business manager, Herbert Johnson.

"Rules of life?" he queried. "None, especially. I don't take outdoor exercise at this time of year. Neither are my hours particularly regular. My only rule is that I never take a drink."

Hunt 3 Who Fled Still Blast in Night Clothing

Police last night were searching for two men and a woman who fled in their night clothes from the bungalow at 2109 Lincoln street, Northbrook, yesterday following a still explosion in the basement. The structure was razed by fire. According to Chief of Police Roy Lee the tenants fled on foot to a garage a block away, and left in their automobile. The bungalow was rented a week ago to a man who gave his name as Thomas Femente.

BLAMES LAW'S LIMITATIONS FOR CHICAGO'S CRIME

Cleveland, O., Nov. 11.—(AP)—Chicago was in possession tonight of a new ground of defense for its difficulties in fighting crime—the theory that its crime situation is due to the handicaps placed on its municipal activities by the limitations of Illinois law.

Blame was put on the state statutes today by Prof. A. R. Hatton of Northwestern university in an address here before the national conference on government. Prof. Hatton explained that in Illinois the cities can not choose their form of government and the limitations under which the municipal authorities work.

"The voters within Chicago are tied down and hampered by a system of government so limited that it is only by the greatest effort that the voters can improve their local government in any particular.

"Home rule undoubtedly would end the Chicago situation," the professor said.

CLAIMS HE PAID G. O. P. LEADER FOR JOB; SUES

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 11.—(AP)—John B. Dove, Georgia Republican leader, was named defendant in a suit for $2,500 damages filed in Municipal court today by C. E. Westbrook, who claimed he failed to receive the appointment as internal revenue collector in Atlanta for which he paid Dove $1,000.

Westbrook's petition alleged Dove represented to him his position with the Republican party gave him the privilege of saying who would be the internal revenue collector in Atlanta.

Dove was indicted yesterday by the federal grand jury here on 13 counts for allegedly accepting $500 for his influence in obtaining the postmastership of College Park, Ga., for Ernest Berry Benson.

TRIO ROB LOAN ASSOCIATION.

BOY, 3, PLAYING IN STREET, IS KILLED BY AUTO

Street Car Knocked Off Track by Autoist.

Jack Love, 3 years old, 2121 South Home avenue, Berwyn, was killed yesterday when he was struck by the automobile of Patrick Muscato, 5233 Wellington street, while playing in the street at Kenilworth avenue and 22d street, Berwyn.

Three other Cook county deaths yesterday raised the year's death toll to 928. The victims:

Mrs. Martha Reeves, 33 years old, colored, 6524 Vernon avenue. Killed when she was struck by a hit and run driver at State and 92d streets.

Samuel Ellison, 37 years old, 736 West North avenue. Died in the Alexian Brothers' hospital of injuries suffered on Sept. 25 when he was struck by an automobile in front of his home. B. B. Fletcher, 4236 Broadway, the driver of the car, was ordered to appear at the inquest today.

Unidentified colored man, about 40 years old. Died in the county hospital of injuries incurred on Saturday when he was knocked down by one auto and run over by another at 29th street and Wentworth avenue. Both cars sped away.

Howard J. Cuny, an electrical engineer of 8512 North Washtenaw avenue, driving his automobile south in Paulina street last night, crashed into an eastbound surface car at Harrison street, knocking the car off the track. No one in the surface car was hurt. Miss Mabel Watson, 25 years old, 1812 West Jackson boulevard, who was riding with Cuny, was thrown against the windshield and suffered a fracture of the skull. Cuny escaped with bruises about the face.

Kenneth Bock, 30 years old, 415 Oakley avenue, died yesterday in the Victory Memorial hospital, Waukegan, of injuries received on Sunday when the auto in which he was riding was struck by a North Shore line train in Waukegan. The driver, Francis Horen of Lake Bluff, was killed.

DELAY CHURCH TRIAL OF BISHOP CANNON DUE TO HIS ILLNESS

Birmingham, Ala., Nov. 11.—(AP)—Bishop W. N. Ainsworth, chairman of the college of bishops, Methodist Episcopal church south, said today a meeting of the committee appointed to investigate charges against Bishop James M. Cannon Jr., called for tomorrow, has been postponed because of Bishop Cannon's illness.

Bishop Cannon is confined to a Washington hospital and Bishop Ainsworth said his physician would not allow him to attend to any business. The chairman declined to discuss the charges, saying the matter is a church matter and is not going to be tried in the newspapers.

Thornton Wilder Will Leave Hospital Today

Thornton Wilder, novelist, who has been confined to Billings hospital, 950 East 59th street, since last Sunday because of a cold, is recovering and is to be discharged today, according to an announcement at the University of Chicago last night. It was stated that the announcement was made because of unfounded rumors that Mr. Wilder, who is teaching at the university, had undergone an operation for appendicitis.

Two U. of Illinois Students Dismissed for Drinking

Champaign, Ill., Nov. 11.—(AP)—Two men were dismissed from the University of Illinois today by the council of administration, for drinking. A third man was ordered to appear before the dean of his college on a similar charge.

PRINCE OF WALES TO TAKE CRUISE IN GIANT DO-X TODAY

CALSHOT, England, Nov. 11.—(AP)—The 50 ton flying ship DO-X was fueled and ready tonight for a cruise over London tomorrow with the prince of Wales as passenger. Under present plans the DO-X will leave at 11 a. m. Thursday for Bordeaux, en route to Lisbon.

May Not Fly Atlantic.

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, Nov. 11.—Prospects of the DO-X flying to New York were whittled down today by Dr. Claude Dornier, designer of the ship. The huge flying ship, he said, hadn't been built for trans-Atlantic service and the flight from Lisbon wouldn't be made "if it involves any great risk."

This ship, he confesses cannot be expected to take off in heavy seas and to reach New York. She will have to alight at least once in midocean to obtain fuel from an oil tanker.

CARTER H. BOOM SHOWS IN VAPOR OF HOT SPRINGS

Discussed by Cook County Tourist Democrats.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hot Springs, Ark., Nov. 11.—[Special.]—A mayoralty boom for Carter H. Harrison, five times mayor of Chicago, went in its appearance here today at the steam room convocation of 250 Cook county Democratic leaders and rank and filers. It popped up without any particular sponsors, but tonight it is getting much discussion around the Kelly pool tables and other vibration centers.

Friends of Mr. Harrison point to a sentimental landscaping—the fact that his father, the elder Harrison, was mayor during the World's Fair of 1893, and that the mayor elected next April will serve during the coming World's Fair. The Democratic landslide which gave a plurality of 700,000 to James Hamilton Lewis for senator last week is held to have strengthened the old Harrison-Lewis-Dunne group within the party."

Too Old? Point to Lewis.

In the talk today some raised the question of whether Mr. Harrison is a trifle elderly for a campaign, to which others replied that Mr. Harrison is not as old as Mr. Lewis, who finished a campaign that took him into nearly every county in the state.

A round dozen of Democratic mayoralty booms are now on display. Four or five on the list are now on the ground, but the twelve now in the talk are:

So far in the gossip, however, nobody has got anywhere, and as Recorder Clayton Smith had to return home tonight on account of the illness of Mrs. Smith, a sort of general understanding seems to have been reached to let things ride.

Some Campaign Survivors.

Meanwhile at another hotel up the street are Ald. Oscar Nelson, Thompson's floor leader, and Ald. William H. Feigenbutz of the 45th ward. Democratic scouts dash every half hour or so into the Democratic conferences with inside word that Mayor Thompson will run. A few minutes later other sleuths sprint in with inside word that Thompson will not run.

Among others at the spa is E. T. Brekke, a Republican west side committeeman and member of the west park board, one of the "younger set" on the county commission. He is on his way to Texas for a holiday, and the politicians regard him as inclined toward Charles V. Barrett for mayor. Some west siders have been talking of a boom for Brekke.

The special train which brought down the lesser luminaries is to return Thursday, leaving the main leaders on the ground. Tonight it was reported in one conference that Richard Froelich, 15th ward committeeman, may be chief deputy clerk of the Municipal court. Joseph L. Gill, clerk elect, declares, in conformity with his campaigning, social service positions in his jurisdiction will be filled by experts in such work recommended by social agencies. He was indorsed by social agencies, led by Jane Addams.

In one side conference the bath tub issue was discussed. Senator Tom Courtney, who has been picked for minority leader in the senate to succeed Edward J. Hughes, reviewer elect, is the tallest man here. He complains the hotel tubs are too short, while Joseph McDonough, county treasurer elect and the leader of the stylish stouts, is roaring the tubs are not wide enough.

The day's most jocular episode was contributed by Congressman James T Igoe, known tonight as the absent-minded congressman. Mr. Igoe dashed out of his room to keep a dinner engagement with his missus and after a te minute search for her in the lobbies returned to his room and found he had locked in Mrs. Igoe.

Complete Congress Roster Shows Majority for G. O. P.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 11.—[Special.]—Republicans retain a bare majority of the membership of the house in the complete unofficial roster for the Seventy-second congress as sent to the printer today by William Tyler Page, clerk of the house. According to the list made up by Mr. Page the next house will be made up of 218 Republicans, 216 Democrats, and 1 Farmer-Labor member.

There is still a chance for changes through an official canvass in a few close districts or in recounts which may be demanded in half a dozen or more districts.

The close districts include the Eighth Indiana, where Representative A. H. Vestal [Rep.] was reelected according to the unofficial figures by a margin of only nine votes; the Ninth Indiana, where Representative Fred S. Purnell [Rep.] was reelected by a small majority, and the Twenty-fourth Illinois, where Claude V. Parsons, Democratic nominee, was elected.

Although the Democrats profess to have hopes that they may pick up enough votes to gain a majority, the Republicans are confident of being able to reelect Speaker Longworth and to retain the chairman and a majority of the members of the house committees.

OIL INDUSTRY ADVISED TO CUT ITS PRODUCTION

Need Not Fear Anti-Trust Laws, Donovan Says.

BY WILLIAM SHINNICK.

Management within the petroleum industry has both the power and the legal right to remedy conditions under which the eleven billion dollars of invested capital which the industry represents has been held to an average earning power of 3 per cent.

This message was given yesterday by two speakers to the 3,000 delegates attending the eleventh annual convention of the American Petroleum institute at the Stevens hotel. The necessity for curtailment of production to meet immediate anticipated demands was stressed by E. B. Reeser, president of the institute, and the legal aspects of the agreements necessary to effect the cutting down were discussed by Col. William J. Donovan, former assistant attorney general of the United States.

Sees No Obstacle in Laws.

In effect, Col. Donovan declared that the anti-trust laws of the country would not place undue obstacles in the way of national programs to limit production, if the motives of the collaborators were kept away from price fixing or domination of supply by limited groups.

"It is assumed that production will not be curtailed below even the approximate anticipated annual needs of the public. The legality of such a plan is dependent on the existence of certain facts, such as production far in excess of normal and reasonable market requirement, with resultant depression in price which threatens to destroy the investment in the industry and the creation of excess stocks, with economic waste and danger due to unnecessary storage above ground," said Col. Donovan.

Destructive Competition Opposed.

"It was never intended by the Sherman law, nor by the courts' interpretation of that law, that American industry should be compelled to proceed with a policy of competition that results in self-destruction."

After explaining that the law was originally designed to prevent the concentration of power in the hands of a few and to place competition as principal in the national law, Col. Donovan warned that there might be grave results to business if the anti-trust laws were repealed. He asserted it had to be recognized that the public would not permit uncontrolled operation of industry under monopoly conditions.

Industry, he said, would have to pay a price for even a modification of the anti-trust laws, and that price might be the surrender to a larger measure of control by government than now exists.

"It is easier to get the government into business than it is to get it out," he added, "and if this is to be avoided, industry must prove its ability so to regulate itself as to make such a change unnecessary."

Reeser Urges Cooperation.

Mr. Reeser, in his review of the present oil situation, declared that the industry's future markets were safe, and that a long range view made it a certainty that more gasoline would be required than in the past. For the immediate future he said that only cooperation to the fullest degree could put the industry back on a reasonably profitable basis.

He called attention to the two reports on the demand for gasoline that had been issued by the federal oil conservation board and by the institute's own committee on economics. These showed that the consumptive demand for the six months beginning in October would be about 1 per cent over the corresponding six months beginning in October, 1929, while the intentions of refiners were to run through 14 per cent more crude oil than a year ago. Such a policy, according to Mr. Reeser, would only add immensely to the gasoline stocks or to the stocks of fuel oil, if the percentage of gasoline recovery were reduced.

Advises Storage Reduction.

Either alternative, he said, would add to the lowering of profits. He urged that the immediate program should be one of reducing storage surpluses. The industry cannot afford to squander resources either by price cutting or by overproduction, he said. He complimented the industry on the progress of conservation thus far and urged a close adherence to the advice of the economic committee.

A third speaker at the general session was Philip R. Clarke, president of the Central Trust Company of Illinois. Discussing the current economics of production and marketing, he asserted it was reasonable to believe that people should buy now, if they had the money, because the dollar had high purchasing power, and not as a duty. He expressed the guarded opinion that prices of several important raw materials had already reached bottom.

Welded Plane Displayed at Acetylene Convention

A model of an all welded airplane was displayed at the Congress hotel yesterday at the convention of the International Acetylene association. The rivetless plane was a six foot miniature of the Southern Cross, Kingsford-Smith's famous ship on the Australian and other flights. The use of acetylene welding in the construction of airplanes of the future was emphasized at the convention.

MEDICAL SOCIETY TIGHTENS RULES ON ADVERTISING

The Chicago Medical society by unanimous vote of the council members last night adopted an amendment to the constitution providing that any member associated in a professional way with any organization or individual resorting to direct advertising of medical services shall be liable to expulsion.

The amendment increases the scope of the clause in the constitution referring to medical advertising, which states that a member shall be expelled for advertising his services. The amendment is an outgrowth of the case of Dr. Louis E. Schmidt, noted surgeon, who was ousted for his connection with the Public Health institute, an organization not operated for profit, which advertises.

Members declined to comment on the amendment other than to confirm that its passage was brought about by the fight against the Public Health institute. Dr. N. S. Davis III., secretary of the society, said: "The amendment is a distinct improvement and speaks for itself. It needs no comment."

Another amendment adopted by the council provides for the reinstatement of any physician ousted for unethical conduct. The amendment reads: "A member expelled from the society for any cause shall be eligible to membership after one year from date of expulsion and on the terms and in like manner as original applicants."

BANDITS BIND CLERK, ROB STORE.

Two bandits last night robbed the Levine Hardware store, 2460 East 75th street, of $300 after binding the hands of the clerk, George McEndree, 7750 Colfax avenue, and forcing him to go into the back room.

PLANE LOADED WITH 300 CASES OF LIQUOR IS SEIZED BY SHERIFF

Columbia, Miss., Nov. 11.—(AP)—A large cabin airplane, heavily laden with liquor, was seized today by Sheriff W. B. Walsdorf at Sandy Hook, near the Louisiana line.

The pilot said he was forced down while on a flight to Grand Rapids, Mich., from New Orleans.

Sheriff Walsdorf arrested the pilot, who gave his name as James W. Kupla of Grand Rapids. Kupla said he had not known his cargo consisted of liquor, although he was aware he was carrying a "heavy load."

A passenger in the plane, who said he was Jack Miller of Grand Rapids, was not arrested.

Between 250 and 300 cases of liquor were found aboard. The sheriff said he had not learned where the liquor was loaded.

COUNTY BOARD WILL GET 1931 BUDGET TODAY

The county board today will take under consideration its preliminary budget for 1931. The budget, based on expenditures in 1929 and 1930 and the estimated financial resources during 1931, will be submitted to the commissioners by Michael J. O'Connor, deputy county controller.

The tentative budget will show a grand total of estimated 1931 appropriations for all departments of $49,903,761. This amount is $2,476,468 under the 1930 appropriations of $52,380,229. The budget was prepared by J. L. Jacobs, county efficiency engineer; Lee J. Howard, county auditor; and Mr. O'Connor.

EDWARD HURLEY GIVES $200,000 TO NOTRE DAME

Money for New Commerce College Building.

BY JAMES O'DONNELL BENNETT.

As a thank offering for foreign aid he received thirty-three years ago when he was making pneumatic drills in the Kimman barn at Lawndale Edward N. Hurley of Chicago yesterday gave the University of Notre Dame $200,000 for a building for its college of commerce on its sylvan seat a mile from South Bend, Ind.

The university's present college of commerce, which has no building of its own, will be renamed the Edward N. Hurley college of foreign and domestic commerce.

Plans for the new building have already been made and its construction will begin in the near future. It will be in the collegiate Gothic style, as is the university's recently dedicated law building, opposite which it will be located.

Will Continue as Dean.

Prof. J. E. McCarthy, dean of the present college of commerce, will remain as dean of the new foundation.

Mr. Hurley accompanied his gift with the request, which has been granted by the university authorities, that the six principal study halls of the structure be named for living men whom he describes as "American industrial leaders of international vision who have rendered special service to our country in their particular lines of endeavor."

Mr. Hurley designates these six men for the proposed honor:

James A. Farrell, New York, president United States Steel corporation.

Ernest R. Graham, Chicago, architect.

Samuel Insull, Chicago, chairman Commonwealth Edison company.

Charles E. Mitchell, New York, chairman National City bank.

John D. Ryan, New York, chairman Anaconda Copper company.

Gerard Swope, New York, president General Electric company.

"All of these leaders," said Mr. Hurley in his conference with the Rev. Father Charles L. O'Donnell, C. S. C., president of the university, "will be highly honored to be identified with Notre Dame."

President Approves Plan.

The president consented that they should be so honored, and Mr. Hurley said:

"I now suggest that a painting of each of these men be hung in the study hall named for him to serve as a constant reminder to the students of the boyhood struggles and subsequent leadership of each one of the sponsors—as I call them."

This also was agreed to.

The whole building will commemorate the donor's early struggles and first success.

Goes to England for Backing.

In 1897, when he was 33 years old, Mr. Hurley was unable to finance in this country the patents for the pneumatic drills and hammers which he and the two Kimman brothers were making in the barn behind the old Lawndale home of the Kimman family. "I," said young Hurley, "will see what I can do in London." He made the journey and five days after his arrival in England had sold his British patent rights for $125,000.

From that episode he derives the ideas and ideals in harmony with which he believes the enlarged school at Notre Dame can profitably function.

"I hope," he said in making known the project, "that young men from this school will blaze the trail of modern and equitable business methods just as our forefathers blazed the trail for civilization and commercial progress by their exchange of goods for furs.

"When all nations are in a healthy economic condition the reaction of international trade is favorable to all, but we must learn to recognize the absolute necessity of buying as well as selling, for the essence of trade is exchange. Hence I believe that in the teaching of commerce special emphasis should be laid upon the importance of the unfettered movement of goods in the channels of world trade and I want to see young men trained in the theory and practice of international exchange of goods and services."

In the new building these aspirations of the donor will be pictured on a huge relief map in colors covering the four walls of the main hall. It will show all the countries of the world, their trade routes, ports, and ship, cable, telephone, and radio connections.

The university will supplement the campus work of the school with an exchange of scholarships with leading industrial nations.

SENATOR HAWES SAYS HE WON'T ACCEPT JOB AT $35,000 A YEAR

Washington, D. C., Nov. 11.—[Special.]—Senator Harry B. Hawes [Dem., Mo.] tonight announced his withdrawal of acceptance of an offer to assume the presidency of "More Game Birds in America," a foundation, at a salary of $35,000 a year upon his retirement from the senate in March, 1933.

Senator Hawes in a letter to Joseph P. Knapp of New York City, sponsor of the foundation, gave as his reason the decision to maintain headquarters in New York instead of in Washington, and to select all officers from New York City or its immediate vicinity instead of giving it more of a national character.

A BIT OF MOSCOW IN WASHINGTON.

Railway executives of the eastern, southern, and western roads have made a joint statement announcing that the special drought rates which were a part of the relief program of the administration will not be extended after Nov. 30. The roads accepted President's Hoover's relief plan and made a fifty per cent reduction on certain agricultural products and requirements in eastern and southern territory and a thirty-three and a third reduction in western. By Nov. 30, it is estimated, 60,000 carloads will have been moved under these rates. The roads say that this drain on revenues cannot be continued.

When the farm board, as a government agent, went into board of trade operations as a wheat speculator it used public money. Its adventures as a grain buyer were backed by taxation and, although the advantages, if any were obtained, were to be given one branch of industry, the losses were to be taken up by the entire people. The other adventure in collectivism was to present its costs to one particular industry, to be carried by the investment of capital in it and by the management to which the investors had given their capital.

The degree of collectivism to which the railroads have been subjected has not included any responsibility for their losses, but has taken a hand in the distribution of their profits. Government participation in the conduct of the railroads has no accountability for consequences. As a species of communism it thus has an added attractiveness for the official partner. For him it is vicarious.

For the government the drought relief rate plan was a part of this vicariousness. The farmers of the affected regions were not to be given a subsidy out of the public treasury for which public officials would be responsible, but a subsidy out of railway earnings for which the railway managements would be responsible. They cannot escape responsibility for loss of earnings. The effect is upon the return on investment, upon the value of their securities, and in turn upon the recuperative power of the country. If the roads were unable to meet their obligations the trust companies would throw out their securities, their credit would be ruined, and the country would discover that it did not know the half of what a collapse could be and of what its consequences must be.

The drought presented a problem. It added to the distress of agriculture. The American government is not consciously communistic, but it is paternalistic on occasion, and what it did on this occasion was to take from one group of citizens and give to another. Officially the process seems to have another color, but it was nothing less than a requisition upon the funds of one set of private citizens for the benefit of another set. The public good was the desirable end, and Stalin can make the same reply.

In appearance the relief measure had the suggestion of the government and the consent of the railroads. The prosperity of the roads rests upon the productiveness of the shippers, and upon this relationship evidently was based the theory that the roads should come to the aid of distressed agriculture for mutual benefit. It was an instance in which emergency and opinion made consent necessary. However worried the railroad managements might be regarding their own revenue and their obligations, they could not defend themselves against a reduction in earnings at that time.

If the government guaranteed every obligation which a railroad must meet to preserve its credit and obtain capital for its extensions a government subsidy taken out of its earnings might be regarded as part of a reciprocal arrangement. It might be regarded as a dangerous arrangement in a country not committed to communism, but it would have an element of reciprocity. This other is an irresponsible communism. It represents a conscription of capital without any consideration guaranteed. It puts a public duty upon private enterprise without a stipulated return. It makes a draft upon money invested by one element of citizenship for the relief of another.

The difference between this and the procedure in Russia is only in extent and not in kind. Consistent with it, the government would not have made grain relief a public subsidy out of the treasury, but an obligation upon millers to buy beyond their requirements to absorb the surplus grain. If money had been taken from the individual millers for the relief of the individual growers every one would have recognized Stalin at work upon the wealthy peasants for the relief of the poor ones. When the subsidy comes out of railway earnings it does not seem to be the same thing, but nevertheless is nothing less. The public good appears as the excuse. The public good will be promoted at public expense, and not by drafts upon private purses, if this country is to remain individualistic and not communistic. In a very real sense the United States recognized Russia when it assumed responsibilities in drought relief and met them by expropriating private funds for agricultural benefit. The government was far from home base when it was speculating in wheat, but that at least was with public money.

AN ILL-ADVISED PLAN.

It is reported from Washington that the commission on law enforcement will recommend the calling of a convention for the amendment of the constitution. We shall await with interest this recommendation and the reasoning which supports it. Although Article V. of the constitution provides that the congress "on application of the legislatures of two-thirds of the several states shall call a convention for proposing amendments," this method has never been adopted. All the 19 amendments to the original constitution have been adopted under the other method fixed by Article V.—namely: by the proposal of amendments by two-thirds of both houses of congress and their submission to the states which thereupon ratified them, three-fourths of the states being necessary to ratification.

It is suggested in the Washington report that, as various state legislatures have petitioned congress at various times over a long period of years to call a constitutional convention, these petitions are still valid, and as they now number about twenty-nine it would only require the petition of three or four other states to complete the mandate. We do not presume to say what the law may be held to be upon the validity of such legislative acts. Perhaps they are valid until formally withdrawn. But we have a very poor opinion of the political expediency and, we may say, the political morality of binding one generation by a petition made by a preceding one. There is the further important consideration that these petitions were actuated by opinions upon other questions than prohibition or liquor control, and a convention based upon them, it seems to us, could not be confined in its deliberations and action to that question.

A convention thus called upon the initiative of the states probably, if not indeed certainly, could not be bound by the congress, but would be free to propose not only a repeal of the 18th amendment but that of any other provision of the constitution. It would be free to propose any amendment or amendments to the constitution or to undertake a complete revision of the whole document.

We do not suggest that a convention would do any of these things. But we are convinced that it would be difficult if not impossible to confine its proposals to cognate subjects, to the problem of liquor control alone, and that it would offer a rather easy means of defeating prohibition relief by the intrusion of other unrelated controversies.

It must be acknowledged that the notion of making use of the previous, unrepealed petitions for a convention came from some of the wets, who were seeking some means of avoiding the heavy dry majority in the congress. But it seems to us a very ill-advised plan. It is true, there are several provisions of the constitution which ought to be amended, including the amending article itself. But, like the problem of liquor control, they should be considered by themselves.

The method adopted throughout the history of the nation is better than the convention method, which opens the door to ill considered changes and calls for greater statesmanship than is apparent in public affairs at this time. If it irks the impatient reformer and theorist, that is a merit and not a fault. It is more consistent with the wise law of gradual evolution and permits the people to give to proposals for change in the fundamental law a deliberation they could not give to the grist a convention might bring forth.

WILL THE BIG TEN RECONSIDER?

The decision of the Big Ten faculty committee not to permit the transfer of the Northwestern-Notre Dame game to Soldiers' field has found little sympathy among students and players, we believe. To the extent that the Big Ten's decision has been echoed in other intercollegiate associations, it is equally unpopular. The Yale News wants Yale to play a game for charity. The New York university team has offered its services in the emergency to Mayor Walker. The announcement that a part of the receipts of the Michigan-Chicago game would be given to the poor met with universal approval. In contrast the attitude of the Big Ten committee seemed petty.

We should think that under the circumstances Northwestern might well invite the Big Ten to reconsider the whole matter. It is not too late. The need for relief funds is great and the sacrifice asked is small in comparison. It would reflect no credit upon the gentlemen of the committee, if they permitted pride of opinion to prevent a reconsideration. Illinois, which played the Army at a baseball stadium in New York, cannot consistently oppose the transfer of a game from Dyche stadium. Chicago, we suspect, has been friendly to the proposal from the start. A change of front on the part of one or two of the state universities in the Big Ten would assure substantial benefits to the unemployed and their families. The demand for tickets to the game leaves no doubt on that score. The time is growing short, but it is not yet too late. In a few days it will be.

Editorial of the Day

(Kansas City Star.)

According to the chief justice of the Criminal court in Chicago, "Scarface Al" Capone has offered to abandon his labor racketeering in return for a pledge that the law will not interfere with his liquor operations. The chief justice indignantly rejected this proposition. The chief justice characterized it as a piece of "cool effrontery," and doubtless even in Chicago many persons will agree with him. At the same time we wonder if Capone has not suggested a practical solution for the crime problem in this country.

Take Chicago, for example. Its law enforcement agencies have been totally unable to handle Capone and his associates. Right now they have a warrant for Capone's arrest. And although he is in a position to send an emissary to the chief justice of the Criminal court, apparently they cannot even find him. The city has tried war upon its public enemies without success. Why not negotiate with them? Of course, Justice McGoorty would have no such authority. But how about holding a special municipal election to choose a board of negotiators having full power to treat with gangsters and surrender the city to them on the best terms obtainable? The action might require a constitutional amendment, but no doubt Capone would assist in getting it adopted.

If the Chicago experiment were a success it might well be copied elsewhere. In return for an understanding that kidnapers would neither be arrested nor prosecuted the gangsters might be willing to establish a maximum ransom for the community. Under an agreement allowing them a free hand in bank robberies they might consent to a murder quota. Eventually, indeed, the gangsters might be induced to accept a regular city tax and give up their illegal activities entirely. The crime problem would be solved. Obviously, Justice McGoorty did not fully appreciate the immense possibilities of Capone's offer.

WHAT GETS THE LEANS?

SOME people seem to be naturally of the lean and hungry kind and nothing they may do makes any great difference. Others are lean while passing through certain periods—for example, the rapid growth period of adolescence—and at other periods are normal in weight, or even fat. Then some are lean because of certain glandular disorders. The general impression is that leanness means disease or poor health, or a bad outlook; and, on the other hand, the belief is general that fat, sleek people, like fat, sleek steers and hogs, are in prime physical condition. This opinion has considerable foundation in truth, but in spite of that is about fifty per cent erroneous.

A study of weight in respect to life hazards, made by Dr. William Muhlberg, makes out a good case for the underweights. They have against them an increased tendency to consumption. This is especially true of underweight men and women during the years of adolescence and up to age thirty. In older people it is of less importance. Perhaps most of those who are consumptives and underweight at ages beyond thirty are underweight because they are infected with tuberculosis and this interferes somewhat with nutrition even before it becomes apparent as consumption. Underweight people are also unduly subject to pneumonia, especially if they are much underweight.

Most of the people who suffer from the manifold minor complaints of low blood pressure are underweights. As a rule, such people live to a ripe age and escape serious diseases as they travel along the way, but they are generally uncomfortable as they do so and they do not get much out of life. As a rule, also, the underweights are worriers, they are irritable, and gloom besets them.

This is pretty nearly a catalogue of the special ills of the underweights. It is a shorter list and a less formidable one than that chalked up against the overweights. When an insurance examiner finds a person underweight he is on the qui vive to find some acute wasting disease. He inquires closely as to the length of time this underweight has continued, whether the weight is falling, what is the cause. But if the answers to these questions are reassuring he recommends the risk to his company. He advises them to sign up this man quickly and for all the insurance he can afford to carry, for he is a good risk and will live to pay many premiums.

LOSS OF BLOOD.

L. C. writes:

1. Does the loss of blood in a limited degree affect one's health?
2. In case there is loss of, say, one-half pint or more, is blood formed to take its place, and by what organs?
3. Can one have too much blood?

REPLY.

1. It may cause anemia.
2. Yes. Blood is made by the bone marrow and possibly by other organs. The process of wear and that of formation are going on constantly. So long as they work at the same pace all is well. If either gets too fast for the other there is trouble.
3. Yes.

DO NOT NEED WEIGHT.

H. H. writes: I have had a heart trouble for a long time. I have not been allowed to develop my muscles by competitive play. How can I build up my arm muscles? How can I put on weight? I am 5 feet 7 inches and weigh 147 pounds.

REPLY.

You can use any form of arm work or arm exercise that does not wind you. Blacksmithing is excellent. So are shoveling, spading, work on the bars and ladder work in the gymnasium. Are you certain you need better arm muscles?

DIET FOR ANEMIA.

J. L. writes: I have very thin blood and should like to know what foods to eat to make my blood thicker and more plentiful. Is milk good for this condition?

REPLY.

I presume you mean you are anemic. If so, eat liver, tripe, good juicy meat, ear yellow, green vegetables or yellow ones. If you can find a cause and cure that, the anemia will disappear. Milk does not make red blood.

SIDEWALK DISPLAYS.

Chicago, Nov. 4.—[Friend of the People.]—Is there an ordinance or law to stop the use of the sidewalk by a store owner on Stony Island avenue for displaying fruits and vegetables all over the walk, both from the curb in and his window out? This makes it almost impossible to walk by. A. J. Z.

A permit was issued by the department of compensation on Jan. 16, 1930, to display fruits and vegetables outside his store on Stony Island avenue, this display not to exceed more than two feet beyond the building line. The permit does not expire until Dec. 31, 1930, but notice has been served on the owner to keep his display within the two foot limit, or the permit will be revoked. CHARLES VAVRIK,
Commissioner of Compensation.

DOWER RIGHT.

Chicago, Oct. 31.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—If a piece of property is left to the children with a dower right to the widow, and the widow does not live on the property for a number of years, does she lose her dower right or is that secure while she lives, whether she lives on it or not? The property is in Wisconsin. M. L. H.

Her right would continue. Residing on the property is important for purpose of homestead, but not for purpose of dower.
TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

CITIZENSHIP THROUGH MARRIAGE

Chicago, Nov. 4.—[Friend of the People.]—Will the marriage of a foreigner and an American woman cause her to lose her citizenship, married in 1928? A foreign woman marries an American in 1921. Does she gain her citizenship through this marriage? R. V. R.

An American woman does not lose her citizenship by marriage to an alien after Sept. 22, 1922, but if the marriage occurred before that date she assumed the citizenship status of her husband.

A foreign woman who married a citizen before Sept. 22, 1922, became a citizen by reason of such marriage. The law was enacted Sept. 22, 1922.
FRED J. SCHLOTTFELDT,
District Director, U. S. Department of Labor.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

IT'S A STRANGE WORLD!

The man laid down all sorts of documents and letters and things to show that it wasn't against the law. He had a perfect right to sell us a five-gallon keg of sweet wine; we had a perfect right to buy it. The sacred 18th and the Volstead act had nothing in either of them preventing a citizen and a taxpayer from buying a five-gallon keg of sweet wine. "We like buttermilk better," said we; "sweet wine makes us think we are drinking maple syrup." "But you don't get the idea," said the man; "you don't take this home and gullup it right down, no, indeed." "Then why take it home?" whyed we. "Oh, you put it down cellar," said the man, "and let it stay there for three or four months and then—well, you'd be surprised." "What!" whatted we, "would that wine change to real wine? To the wine that biteth like a serpent and stingeth like a puff adder, or words to that effect?" "I don't say that it would," said the man slowly, and weighing each word with great care, "and I don't say that it wouldn't. I merely say I have a right to sell sweet wine and you have a right, a lawful right, to buy it." "But we don't like sweet wine." "I am telling you," said the man, "you put it away and leave it alone. What nature does in the meantime is none of my business, nor yours." "But," exclaimed we in horrified tones, "nature would not break the laws of our country!" "Mister," said the man, "you don't know about that gal. What she doesn't do when she gets a chance I'd hate to say." Dear, dear, we never suspected that of nature. It's a most disturbing thought.

QUIET HANDS.

A depthless peace was on her sleeping face;
With what she found in generous Death she seemed
Well satisfied as if it had fulfilled
All that her faith unerringly had dreamed.

But it was not her face that held me there;
It was the strange, strange quiet of her hands,
Those hands that Life had filled with endless tasks,
That had accomplished manifold demands;

That so unselfishly had ministered
To her large brood and made their dwelling place
A fostering and a well ordered home
Meet to reflect love and receive God's grace.

The unaccustomed quiet of her hands
O'erwhelmed me as no other token will;
What guerdon for her toil lay in their clasp
That they were thus content to be so still?
ADELAIDE P. LOVE.

FINANCIAL WIZARDS in New York point out that we should rejoice and be exceeding glad because ten bucks today will do as much in the way of buying things as eleven berries did a year ago. Yes, but a year ago we had the eleven berries.

A MAN in Chicago whose wife deserted him thirty-four years ago has filed suit for divorce on the grounds that it doesn't look as though the lady is coming back. Another proof of the fact that during periods of hard times people get discouraged and give up hope so quickly.

AH! THE LADIES ARE GETTING INTO THE BATTLE.

To Mrs. Snow-Shoe Al, c/o Niche 8936 Hal-Max Apts., Halsted & Maxwell Sts. My dear Gertie: Received your sweet note and was very sorry to hear that your rheumatism and boarders have left you. I can't for the life of me figure why you would call my dear, dear Duke a wart-hog when you know very well that his ears aren't that long. Wonder, Gert, if you would do me a favor? I want to take your sweet advice regarding sprinkling the Papa with insect powder, but never having had any use for the stuff and knowing that you buy 3 dozen cans at a time, thought possibly you would loan me a can. You know, Gert, I got a big laugh out of your telling about dropping the Papa's teeth, but you really should be more specific, you didn't say whether it was his uppers or lowers. By the way, I understand your husband is going to have his teeth taken care of, are both of them in bad shape? It was awful clever of you to remark that the Duke thought Elihu Root was a herb, it reminded me of the time Al wanted to know why Henry George didn't have a last name. Incidentally, I think it was very rude on your part suggesting exhibiting the Papa during the dead whale's stay. Don't you believe in giving Al's ancestors a break? "Live and let live" is my motto (with two exceptions). By the way, Gertie, since when have you gone in for profanity? Don't you know that using the word hell shows damn lousy breeding? Your comparing dear Duke with a piece of cheese is not to my liking either, the least you could have done was to specify whether you meant limburger or brie. I meant to tell you that I certainly enjoyed meeting all your friends the last time I called, but I do think a good manicuring wouldn't have hurt her any. How is your husband's Hay Fever? We were both sorry to hear that he was afflicted and are sending him a gorgeous bouquet of goldenrod. We're going to accept your kind invitation for dinner next Saturday, and, incidentally, I have a little surprise for you, it's rather an intrinsic little gift and I know you'll accept it in the spirit it's given. It's a curious shaped little needle affair with a curved end, the idea is that by proper manipulation one can remove hotel names from towels without leaving the least trace. By the way, did you notice in "Household Hints" this month there's a little article that you can make at very little cost and I'm sure you could get plenty of use out of it. You take an old broom, saw off the broom part and cover the handle with ribbons, isn't that a cute idea? THE DUCHESS OF BAKRAK.

P. S.—It's for removing those cob-webs from your ceiling.

LAGNIAPPE.

WE OVERHEARD about five different people, including the door man of our hotel, the butcher's boy, and the vice president of a bank, say yesterday that Gov. Roosevelt of New York is the son of the late Theodore Roosevelt. There's no use Gov. Roosevelt trying to deny it; the people that think that are so sure of it that there's no way of convincing them to the contrary. And, besides, there's a lot of people think the governor is Teddy himself. He certainly ought to poll a big vote with Republicans and Democrats both voting for him.

NEW LOWS! new lows! new lows! We're growing so heartsick and weary of the stock market's wail of new lows! new lows! new lows! Why not vary it to "first time at this reduced figure," or "extreme opposite of highest," or "most downward price so far known"? Any of those would tell the story and it would be nice for a change.

THE WORLD WAR WAS A COSTLY LESSON, BUT APPARENTLY NOBODY LEARNED ANYTHING FROM IT

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

NOVEMBER 12, 1914.

LONDON.—The Germans have raided the Straits of Dover. The little British torpedo gunboat Niger is the latest victim of a German submarine. It was torpedoed in the downs north of the Straits of Dover and foundered immediately. All the officers and crew were saved. The explosion that wrecked the gunboat brought hundreds of men, women, and children to the sea front.

LONDON.—The Germans have resumed their attack on the allied line between the coast and the Lys river, and while the French claim to have held their positions, the Germans have succeeded in capturing the town of Dixmude, which has been the center of some of the fiercest and most sanguinary fighting of the war. Behind Dixmude is the direct road to Dunkirk, one of the French ports upon which the Germans have set their hearts, and if they can break through here the allies will be compelled to fall back to new positions.

MAUBEUGE, France.—[By James O'Donnell Bennett.]—I have just seen the wickedest sight this war affords. Sixty-one thousand four hundred and forty instruments for the infliction of the most dreadful torture which the mind of modern man has been able to invent; 61,440 dumdum bullets! These are the dumdums found by the Germans in the Maubeuge forts. The Germans found dumdum bullets at Maubeuge, Longwy, and St. Quentin. German commandants elsewhere in northern France found dumdums in the original unbroken boxes. They bore French labels. Maj. Aberkron, commandant at Maubeuge, tested the effect of dumdum bullets on animals. Fired from a French rifle at 1,800 feet, a dumdum tore away the leg of a cow and shattered the large bone into forty pieces. Fired at 210 feet a dumdum bullet tore away the whole face of the cow.

NOVEMBER 12, 1900.

MUNCIE, Ind.—Death has come as a release to a man driven insane by the Cuban postal frauds. Cyrus G. Neely, brother of the accused official, Charles F. W. Neely, died at the Eastern Indiana Hospital for the Insane at Richmond, after months of madness, believed by his friends to be the direct outcome of the disgrace brought upon his family.

WASHINGTON.—The remarkable statement that the Indian population of the United States is little less now than it was in the time of Columbus, Raleigh, Coronado, Capt. John Smith, and other early explorers is the chief feature of the annual report of Commissioner of Indian Affairs William A. Jones. The report disputes positively the commonly accepted theory that by constant contact with the whites the extinction of the Indian is only a matter of time.

CHICAGO.—The commemoration festival arranged by the friends of the Chicago anarchists who were executed on Nov. 11, thirteen years ago, was held in Central Music hall with Johann Most, the eastern representative of the "cause," as the principal speaker. Mrs. Lucy Parsons, for the first time in thirteen years, was absent from the annual dinner.

NOVEMBER 12, 1880.

DUBLIN.—The Boycott relief expedition reached Vlaremorris this afternoon. The expedition is said to be a Tory dodge for the purpose of provoking the Irish peasantry into rebellion and thus forcing the Liberals to resort to martial law for the government of Ireland. The members of the expedition were guarded by the military and police along the entire route. They were forced to march 16 miles from the depot to Boycott's farm, as the people in the vicinity refused to give them conveyances.

PHILADELPHIA.—Lucretia Mott, one of the oldest of the old time abolition agitators, died at her home near Philadelphia in her 88th year. She survived by only a short time her aged co-worker, Lydia Maria Childs, and by a little more than a year William Lloyd Garrison, the most pronounced of all her sect. She became a bitter opponent of slavery early in life and soon became a leader in the abolition movement.

SHORT SELLING.

La Grange, Ill., Nov. 10.—This morning I read the letter on short selling by John W. Coverick Jr.

Was there short selling in the Florida land boom? Was there short selling in the Chicago real estate market? Was it overproduction or short selling that created the present condition in rubber, copper, coffee, cotton, etc.? In how many cases is the advance short selling of securities not justified by ultimate earnings of corporations affected? In most cases it is an advance warning for an investor to investigate as those bears are analytical and serve a distinct purpose.

Right now every business is awaiting the recovery of the stock market to inspire confidence. The sooner the bears and general liquidation can get this market down to the proper basis as representing future prospects the sooner the market will turn for the better and every one will know exactly where he stands.

Just as the market went too high last year it is likely to go too low this year and that will be the most solid foundation upon which we can start anew.
G. P. K.

THE STRAIGHT TICKET.

Chicago, Nov. 5.—My contention has always been that any person who votes a straight ticket should be denied the privilege of a citizen to vote, and the results of yesterday's election prove beyond any doubt that my belief is correct.

I am neither a Republican nor a Democrat, nor have I any other political party affiliations. However, from the viewpoint of a layman I contend that there are candidates on both the Republican and Democratic slates who are better than their opponents and whose election would mean a great benefit to people of this country. Unfortunately, the citizens of this country let the present depression and economic condition make a deep impression upon their minds, to the extent of blaming party politics, and voted, as one might say, by cutting off their nose to spite their face. BENJAMIN MARK.

DESTRUCTION OF TREES.

Chicago, Nov. 2.—Around the old Portage Park district there are trees all of equal size, and recently a man living in the same block that I do chopped down his tree because it was too big a job to rake leaves. This idea spread so fast that within the last two weeks eight trees have been cut down between the street and sidewalk. This I have reported to the police and city hall, but nothing has been done to prevent these people from doing this foolish thing.
JOSEPH TROST.

MORE THAN A LITTLE AMUSING.

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 6.—The characteristic TRIBUNE editorial concerning the Harvard Crimson's attack on the Legion's parade, and on military training at Harvard, is merely another example of the misapprehensions bound to appear in a criticism written at such a distance from the events and institutions criticized. The propriety of the Crimson's use of the word "brawl" in describing the American Legion convention might perhaps be questioned, but the general truth of the charge has been admitted by most eyewitnesses and many Legion men themselves. In attacking the courses in military science at Harvard, the Crimson is not arguing from the principle of pacifism, but has simply raised the question whether the college should tolerate the existence of courses which [presumably] fall far below the standard of Harvard, deviate from the ideals of a liberal college, and usurp space which might more profitably be given to other things. There is absolutely nothing in all this to justify the attitude of THE TRIBUNE editorial.

Whatever may be said for your gratuitous assumption that liberalism in college is equivalent to snobbery, the notion that militarism and patriotism are necessarily synonymous is more than a little amusing. MAURICE ENGLISH.

FIVE CENT FARES.

Chicago, Nov. 7.—The evening before election I went to a political meeting and it was rather amusing to listen to a demand for a five cent street car fare. While we would all profit by a lower rate, what gets under my skin is the continual comparison with New York City's five cent fares. Why compare the Chicago street cars with the inferior and antiquated street cars of New York? The types of cars they are using were discontinued here years ago.
J. F. VANEGO.

TAXES.

Chicago, Nov. 6.—"Vote for the best issues and get employment," tells the story of Chicago politics as well as our criminals do. Thousands here would not be dependent had they saved a little from their high earnings in past months and years instead of dissipating at movies, games, etc., regularly. No wonder that real estate is a drug on the market. TAXPAYER.

A GOOD SAMARITAN.

Chicago, Nov. 3.—I have been out of work for the last 8 months. Today when I handed my landlady my week's board money she returned me $2.50, saying, "I will not take advantage of you; I don't care for any profit while you're not working." RUDOLPH C. MINARIK.

Owes $110,000 on Polar Trip, He Says Here.

Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd, who addressed the Geographic Society of Chicago last evening, is confronted with the problem of liquidating the debts of his antarctic expedition before undertaking any further exploring adventures.

"We must get out of debt before I can discuss my plans for the future," he said in an interview. "Almost every day I receive calls for help from some of the men who were with me, and I cannot turn them down. The hard times have dealt us a serious blow. At present the antarctic expedition is $110,000 in debt.

"The movie 'With Byrd at the South Pole' is not making anything to speak of. It was very successful in Chicago, where it was most popular, but the returns are small on the whole."

Prepare Story of Work.

Admiral Byrd revealed that the scientific results of his expedition will be published in four large volumes in about a year. A committee of twelve of the explorers, including himself, is now compiling the data, he said. The volumes will constitute a complete scientific survey of the south polar region, together with a survey of the Bay of Whales and the new mountain ridge discovered by the party.

Admiral Byrd himself is working day and night, on trains and in hotels, between lectures, on the narrative of the expedition, which will be called "Little America."

The explorer did not deny that his plans for the next expedition already are well shaped when it was recalled that his trans-Atlantic flight was planned when he returned from the north pole and the south polar expedition was outlined in his mind when he returned from the trans-Atlantic flight. But he declined to discuss the future of exploration pending the settlement of the $110,000 debt.

Describes Polar Differences.

Admiral Byrd described the vast difference between the north and south polar regions in his lecture at Orchestra hall last evening and related some of the adventures of the expedition before the showing of his picture "Little America." The south pole, he said, is in a land which rises 10,000 feet above sea level, while the north pole is in the sea at a point where the water is 10,000 feet deep.

"The south polar region is cold and silent, the most silent place in the world. The temperature was frequently 70 degrees below zero, so cold that the Eskimos and their dogs could not live there."

Admiral Byrd will lecture at the Civic Opera house on Sunday evening under the auspices of the Infant Welfare society, at which time the Geographic society will present to him its gold medal. The explorer was met and entertained yesterday by a committee from the society including George B. Utley president; B. A. Massee, Col. T. A. Siqueland, Leopold Netzenberg, and W. Ingues.

JOBLESS FATHER SETS FIRE TO HIS HOME; SON SAVES 3 SISTERS

MAGALLANES, Chile, Nov. 11.—(AP)—Stark tragedy, brightened by the heroism of a 9 year old boy, struck this city today. The boy and his three small sisters were orphaned by a father driven to madness by poverty.

José Lopez Becerra lost his wife three months ago. The next month he lost his job. Unable to feed his four children, he surrendered in desperation. Today he locked the doors of the family home, poured oil over the beams of the house, and set fire to the place.

The boy, Juan, kicked through a window and carried one young sister to safety. He clambered back through the jagged glass and brought out another, then the third. Flames swept through the house as he dropped, exhausted and badly burned, on the ground. Then the father killed himself.

BELGIAN CABINET RESIGNS IN ROW OVER LANGUAGE

Use of Flemish or French Tongues Brings Crisis.

BRUSSELS, Nov. 11.—(AP)—Premier Henri Jaspar and his cabinet today offered their resignations to King Albert, who reserved decision on acceptance.

The resignation was the culmination of a dispute concerning the use of the Flemish and French languages. Recently the government prohibited professors of the Ghent State university, which now uses Flemish, to lecture at its Ghent institute for high studies, where French is the language in use.

Demand Ruling Withdrawn.

As a result of this decision the Liberal federation met last night and repudiated the action of the minister of education, who was responsible for the university edict, and asked the five Liberal members of the cabinet to have the ruling withdrawn.

The five Liberals, however, had approved the measure in the first place and they decided to resign rather than to ask its withdrawal. A Catholic member then resigned, to mark the solidarity of the coalition cabinet, and Premier Jaspar took the resignations of the entire group to the king.

Vision General Election.

Observers feel that should the crisis within the Liberal party continue the only solution will be a general election, with the linguistic question as the main point of the campaign.

The language question long has been troublesome in Belgium, although freedom to use either language is one of the principles of the constitution. Flemish, which is a Teutonic tongue, is spoken in the northern half of the country, while French is used in the Walloon provinces in the lower portion.

Luckenbill and Three Others Sought.

Assistant State's Attorney Henry Ayers announced yesterday that he has asked the government to help him in his search for Roscoe H. H. Luckenbill, missing president of the defunct Exchange State bank, formerly at Van Buren street and Ogden avenue. The banker and three others named with him in a series of five forgery and embezzlement indictments have been missing since early in September, when the grand jury voted the indictments.

ROSCOE H. H. LUCKENBILL.

"We fear that he may try to leave country," said Prosecutor Ayers.

The three other men who have not responded to the indictments are Lee A. King, former vice president of the bank; Earl D. Phillips, a brokerage concern employé, and Clarence C. Dunkle, former president of the defunct Multi-Foot Sales company. Others named in the indictments, including Attorney Mary Belle Spencer, have given bonds.

The Exchange State bank failed in November, 1929, with an approximate loss of $300,000 to the depositors. It is reported that the receiver is preparing to pay off 20 per cent of the claims.

It is alleged that the money was taken from the bank by a system of fraudulent notes and juggling of the books. The frauds charged were not discovered by the state's attorney's office until July, when the report of the bank examiner was received.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LEIPZIG, Germany, Nov. 11.—Bandmaster Peter Adam of the Sixth Artillery regiment stationed at Minden was sentenced today to ten years of penal servitude and ten years' loss of civil rights on charges of espionage in behalf of France. His wife, Marie, was sentenced to five years in prison and ten years' loss of civil rights. The court ordered the confiscation of $3,000 in cash they had received for the espionage work.

The couple was arrested some time ago at the Minden railway station. The bandmaster was welcoming his wife, who was returning from a trip to the Rhineland, then occupied by French troops.

The secret documents which they are said to have sold included important signal instructions.

Clara Bow Fires Secretary Over Gambling Checks

Hollywood, Cal., Nov. 11.—[Special.]—Clara Bow, the "it" girl of the films, today fired Daisy Devoe. Daisy has been Clara's secretary, companion, and buffer against discarded suitors and newspaper men for four years. The story given out is that Miss Devoe signed the Nevada gambling game checks which brought Clara into the headlines when she stopped payment.

Kansas Democrat's Lead for Governor Decreased

Topeka, Kas., Nov. 11.—(AP)—Harry H. Woodring, Democrat, held a lead of 501 votes over Frank [Chief] Haucke, Republican in the Kansas gubernatorial race late today when the intercounty absentee ballots in 57 of the state's 105 counties had been added to the regular vote previously reported. Haucke cut Woodring's advantage by 145 votes in the count of the absentee ballots, which gave Haucke, 736; Woodring, 591. Absentee votes mailed from outside the state will not be counted by the secretary of state until late in the week. They number around 1,000.

Help Contribute to Unemployment Relief

You can see them today walking the streets, scanning the meager Help Wanted columns, crowding the doorways of the employment agencies.

You can not see the fear that oppresses the homes from which they set out each morning on their desperate quest. You can not see the anxiety and the heartaches of thousands of mothers . . . the suffering of under-fed children.

Tomorrow 2½% of every dollar taken in by all United Cigar Stores and Whelan Drug Stores will be used for the Relief of Unemployment. Every purchase you make, however small, will swell the fund. The more you buy, the more jobs you and hundreds of thousands of other United and Whelan customers will provide for the men and women who need them.

Do what you can. Buy all you can. The obligation to lend a helping hand effects us all.

PLUTO WATER STANDARD LAXATIVE ON OCEAN LINERS

YOU may go where you like, and when you like, but old Constipation follows you wherever you go. Fortunately, though, Pluto Water—America's physic—follows you, too!

Take the big ocean liners, for instance. They haven't any room for halfway remedies. They've got to have medicines that work—the first time, every time! Their medical supplies are limited to essentials.

They all carry Pluto Water. Even the big foreign ships . . . ships that come from countries where you find mineral springs everywhere—Aix, Vichy, Carlsbad, Wiesbaden, Marienbad, Nauheim—carry American Pluto Water! Pluto Water is the universal choice afloat and ashore!

That is true for just one reason—the remarkable efficacy of Pluto Water. Pluto acts every time—and it acts quickly. When the poison germs in delayed waste matter are held over in the intestinal tract, there is no time for slow or uncertain measures. The poisons must be removed, and removed promptly, before they bring on more serious complications.

Doctors everywhere recommend Pluto Water, and have prescribed it for fifty years. They recognize the superior merit of this saline water laxative that works within 30 minutes to two hours after taking. They know, too, that Pluto, being a saline water laxative, will not gripe or harm delicate tissues. It cleans in nature's way—gently though promptly and positively—through water-washing the tract.

Pluto Water brings you all the health benefits of the famous French Lick saline mineral springs at French Lick, Indiana, America's greatest spa. Thousands visit these renowned springs every year in their quest for better health. You, too, can enjoy these same health benefits—today—in your own home—with bottled Pluto Water. Your druggist has it—in two sizes, 20c and 45c.

TOO MUCH ACID

may be causing those frequent headaches

WHEN there's too much acid in your stomach, you must force yourself to work, and even pleasures are too great an effort. Appetite lags; the digestion is poor; the whole system suffers.

Laboratory tests show an acid condition is due to errors in our modern diet. But you need not wait to diet your way out of the trouble! Take a tablespoonful of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia.

This will neutralize the excess acid instantly; make you feel like a new person in just a few moments.

Take a little whenever heartburn, sick headaches, nausea, flatulence, indigestion or biliousness show the digestive system is becoming too acid. Whenever you are taking cold or feel sluggish, weak, constipated, Phillips' Milk of Magnesia has a gentle laxative action.

Delightful to take. Endorsed by physicians for 50 years and prescribed everywhere for men, women and children. The genuine is always a liquid; it cannot be made in tablet form. It always bears the name Phillips' for your protection.

86 MEN MEET TO SETTLE FATE OF 350,000,000

Conference on India Will Convene Today.

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 11.—At 11 o'clock tomorrow morning the Indian round table conference will be opened by the king-emperor in person in the royal gallery of the house of lords, the same place where the five power naval conference was opened early this year by King George.

On that occasion he was simply acting as the king of Great Britain. Tomorrow he appears as emperor of India and king of Great Britain, to inaugurate a conference which will decide the future relations of his oriental empire, with a population of 350,000,000, to this kingdom on the edge of the Atlantic. The proceedings will be broadcast over the world by radio.

British Officials Optimistic.

At this conference will be 86 delegates—57 from the British provinces in India, 16 from the autonomous states, including 9 ruling princes, and 16 members of the British parliament. British officials are going into the conference with high hopes of success. The Indians are also optimistic. A fly in the ointment is the absence of the largest vocal party in India—the Nationalist Congress party, led by Mahatma Gandhi.

"WEDDING WITH NO BRIDE"

BY WILLIAM SHIRER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BOMBAY, Oct. 20.—[By Mail.]—Like a wedding ceremony at which the bride is absent, the round table conference begins at London tomorrow to decide the future form of government for a fifth of the human race.

And the only articulate body which represents the aspirations of India's teeming millions, Mahatma Gandhi's All-India congress, will not be represented there.

30,000 Leaders in Jail.

Thirty thousand of its leaders, including many women, are confined in the country's none too pleasant jails. So from behind their prison bars they have informed the British that they will have nothing to do with negotiations for trifles. When London is ready to grant them the "substance of independence," as Ghandi puts it, then they will flock to a round table conference to discuss the details. But not till then. And they boast of this.

There are no other parties in India. There is a group, the Liberal party, with a few outstanding Indian intellectuals as leaders. But it is dead and so dead that it cannot even call a meeting in Bombay or Calcutta and never more than a handful of people to attend. Its leaders, capable men, all of them, but completely out of touch with the popular movement which has plunged India into so much chaos, are among the chiefs of the Indian delegation to London.

11 Knights Support Britain.

And what of the others who have been chosen, not by their followers but by the viceroy, who is duty bound to put down the present Nationalist movement, and who is putting it down with a ruthlessness little realized by the outside world?

Well, among the array of rajas, nawabs, sirdars, dewan bahadurs, rao bahadurs, and khan bahadurs, holders of Indian titles, there are sixteen belted knights, staunch and true supporters of the British government.

Of the delegates from British India, twenty-eight are titleholders, some of them twice and thrice decorated. There are two ex-governors, two ex-ministers, two ex-members of the viceroy's executive council, four ex-members of the provincial executive councils, and three sitting members of the provincial executive councils.

Hindu-Moslem Hate.

Add to this a handful of rabid Mohammedans and Hindus, who can be depended upon to go at each other's throats on religious grounds, and you have a fair idea of those who have been appointed by the viceroy to represent 320,000,000 Indians and advise the British government as to what, from the Indian point of view, is the best form of government for them.

These "representatives" are disowned completely by the Gandhi movement and the majority of the articulate population of India. These facts are probably not widely known in the outside world because this sort of news cannot be cabled on account of the censorship and you are, perhaps, lucky if you can get it out by mail.

Many of British India's fifty-six delegates are not even known to each other and will meet together for the first time in London. As Dr. A. Suhrawardy, member of the assembly and hitherto a supporter of the government, said, "There is no chance for a preliminary conversation in India and, in the words of Mr. Gandhi, "of reaching an agreement as to the minimum by which the delegates should stand under all circumstances.'"

Business Not Represented.

Sir Padamji Ginwalla, former president of the tariff board, complains that Indian business is not represented on the delegation.

"One of the dominating issues at the conference is the transfer of control in the matter of fiscal and commercial policy to Indians. Yet there is practically no representative of the business community," he said.

The reason is not far to seek. Indian business, for the most part, has condemned the conference. It believes it can only result in failure. Sir Purshotamdas Thakurdas, one of the keenest minds in Indian business and possessing the confidence of both the government and the nationalists, turned down the viceroy's invitation to attend the conference.

Conference Is Condemned.

The Federation of Merchants' associations of Bombay in a meeting on Sept. 11 passed a resolution condemning the conference as being "against the interest of the people of India," and declaring "that those taking part are neither representatives of the Indian mercantile community nor of the Indian people."

More than 1,000 respectable, bourgeois cotton merchants of Bombay gathered before the cotton exchange on Sept. 25 and hoisted the new national flag over the building. Raising a huge portrait of Gandhi, whose personal appearance is about as far removed from that of a business man as you can imagine, they shouted the national yell, "Mahatma Gandhi-ki-Jai," like a wild bunch of college boys at a homecoming football game.

There is one final consideration which it seems probable the British government, and certainly the outside world, has overlooked.

It is that the half dozen or so outstanding Indian moderates whom the government has done so much to placate in the past in order to retain their support are attending the round table conference determined to get immediate dominion status for India, with transitory safeguards for the army and foreign affairs during the brief period in which they intend to take over the government.

Their activities at London are likely to be startling. One of them, M. A. Jinnah, Independent, and the ablest parliamentary debater in India, said:

"We have the same goal in view as Gandhi and his followers. That is, an India in which the Indians are masters in their own household. Only we think we can get it by constitutional means. And we intend to get it at the round table conference."

A Powerful Enemy.

Jinnah is probably the most brilliant lawyer in India, a man of independent mind and great courage. There is no post within the power of the British government which he could not have had for the asking. The government has courted him, but he has remained oblivious to official flattery, a rare accomplishment among India's intelligentsia.

It was his courageous stand in face of overwhelming pressure which resulted in the moderates joining the Gandhi forces in boycotting the Simon commission. And he is credited here with having induced the British prime minister to throw the Simon report overboard and call a round table conference to consider the whole Indian problem afresh.

He is also the leader of a considerable section of Moslem opinion. He has boasted that he and his colleagues will "deliver the goods" at London. If he doesn't it is probable that he will return to India and, with other moderates, line up with Gandhi, a position in which he would make as formidable an opponent as the government has ever had, barring only the "holy man" himself.

A word or two about the Simon report. However great an impression it made in Great Britain and in America, it is considered a joke here by practically all of Indian opinion, from the most extreme to the most moderate wings.

The reason is this: The Simon commission was "all white." For the first time in forty years an important Indian commission was set up without Indian members. The feelings of the Indian leaders, especially the moderate element who had hoped to coöperate with the government in bringing a transfer of powers, were deeply injured.

It is easy to wound the pride of Orientals. But it is also dangerous. Denied opportunity to sit with equal rights with the men who were to determine whether India was fit for self government, the Indian leaders decided to boycott Sir John Simon and his colleagues.

CLAIMS SAMOANS ASK U. S. RULE SO THEY CAN HAVE THEIR LIQUOR

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

GENEVA, Nov. 11.—Sir Thomas Mason Wilford, representative of the New Zealand government as executive for the mandate over western Samoa, today explained to the league of nations mandates commission why some natives want the United States to assume the mandate.

"It is the question of liquor," he said. "We prohibit the natives from obtaining any intoxicants, and enforce it strictly. The Samoans claim that the Americans do not enforce prohibition against the population of their end of the island, so any one, regardless of color, can get drinks easily and cheaply. That is the principal reason for certain agitation going on against our mandate."

Sir Thomas explained that since most of the leaders of the Mau native movement were killed when the uprising was put down with machine guns a year ago, there is now little disorder or discontent in Samoa. The mandates commission gave Sir Thomas and New Zealand a vote of thanks and decided that the trash basket was the place for the bunch of petitions and protests received from the natives.

AWARD CHINESE FAN-TAN 'RIGHTS' FOR $3,500,000

Shanghai's Foreign Area Fights Gambling Evil.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, Nov. 11.—The Portuguese colony at Macao, located opposite Hongkong on the south China coast, yesterday awarded in open competition the fan-tan gambling monopoly to a Chinese syndicate for a period of five years.

The Chinese syndicate agreed to pay $700,000 annually into the Macao treasury for the gambling monopoly. The monopoly is considered immensely profitable since its clientele is drawn from both the British colony at Hongkong and the Chinese metropolis, Canton.

Dog Track Scandal Breaks.

While fan-tan gambling is not practiced in the Shanghai foreign settlement, other forms of gambling, such as greyhound racing with parimutuel betting have recently developed a first rate scandal as the result of last week's announcement by Consul J. F. Brenen of Britain that British authorities intend to force British incorporated dog tracks to liquidate on the grounds that commercialized gambling is responsible for the crime wave in the foreign settlement.

There are three greyhound gambling establishments in Shanghai, two British and one French owned, with capitalization of $1,600,000. They are putting up a strong fight to prevent dissolution, alleging that the international and French concessions granted them permission to operate two years ago.

Stirling Fessenden, who is director of the international settlement, today declared that it was necessary for foreign authorities here to eliminate widespread gambling, otherwise it is likely that the United States, Great Britain and Japan will withdraw their diplomatic support and permit the Chinese to assume control of the foreign areas.

"We Don't Run a Monte Carlo."

"If foreigners here desire a continuation of the predominance of foreign control, the international settlement must show the city that it is something better than a Monte Carlo," he said. "Otherwise America, Great Britain and Japan are likely to withdraw their support and permit the Chinese to rule."

Edwin S. Cunningham, American consul general at Shanghai, chairman of the local consular body which controls the international settlement, is at Washington. His business is alleged to be a conference with Secretary of State Stimson regarding means of eliminating Shanghai gambling monopolies which have long constituted a subject for protests by the Nanking government.

French Assail Von Steuben; Angered by Honors for Him

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Nov. 11.—The plans of the United States and German governments to honor the anniversary of Baron Frederick von Steuben's birth with special stamp issues and projected statues in Chicago and other American cities and celebrations in the revolutionary officer's native land, today provoked an outburst fro Leon Bailby, editor of L'Intransigeant, the largest afternoon paper in France.

In a column long editorial on the front page today, M. Bailby denounced the Prussian drill master, whose name is familiar to school children throughout America as one of the foreign soldiers who aided the colonials in the war against Great Britain. The French editor's wrath had been aroused by what he calls the "exaggerated" honors being paid the "Prussian adventurer."

Calls it a Myth.

He says it is just a myth built up by German propaganda since the war to obscure the glory of Lafayette and make Americans think that Germany really helped in the struggle for independence.

"To fabricate by documents and false assertions of fake glory, to make Von Steuben a German Lafayette—it must be admitted this is one of those pieces of trickery which one dislikes to call by its right name but which proves once more that the mentality of the German people is opposite to our own," M. Bailby declares.

For the actual process of debunking, M. Bailby depends upon Perry Belmont, a prominent Paris American, who, in a privately published pamphlet and speech given recently before the Union Interalliee, released specially to the newspapers today, attempts to set Americans right on the question of Von Steuben. Mr. Belmont, who was once chairman of the house foreign relations committee, and later envoy to Spain, is one of the leading local exponents of Franco-American amity, and a commander of the legion of honor.

Belmont's View of the Matter.

Mr. Belmont points out that Von Steuben was not loaned to the colonies by Frederick the Great, but resigned his commission in the German army and came to America looking for adventure. Von Steuben first intended to go to England to offer his services to the British army, declares Mr. Belmont, but he stopped in Paris on his way and was persuaded by the French minister of war, Comte de Saint Germain, to join the American army instead. Von Steuben's demands for pay almost upset the deal, he says, but finally it was cleared up and Pierre Caron de Beaumarchais paid his passage over.

In discussing Von Steuben's military record, Mr. Belmont cites several unfavorable comments of the German's work by Lafayette, under whom he served, and severe criticism by George Washington regarding the skirmish at Elk Point, where he abandoned nine cannon to the English.

MERCHANT JUMPS FROM 40TH FLOOR WINDOW TO DIE

New York, Nov. 11.—[Special.]—Depressed by business troubles, Walter Brownfelder, a silk merchant, leaped to his death today from a window of his room on the fortieth floor of the Hotel New Yorker, on 34th street.

Brownfelder, according to a business associate, had been brooding over trade conditions.

Several days ago the silk mechant registered at the New Yorker. He had been in the habit of occasionally staying at the hostelry for two or three days at a time when his business affairs kept him downtown.

RASKOB TO BUILD $250,000 CHURCH NEAR HIS ESTATE

Chestertown, Md., Nov. 11.—(AP)—John J. Raskob, chairman of the Democratic national committee, has bought a tract of several acres in Queen Anne's county near his Pioneer Point farms estate and plans to erect a Catholic church and rectory to cost $250,000, diocese officials said today.

Erection of a school also is under consideration, they said.

The contribution would be the largest single gift to the Wilmington diocese, comprising Delaware and part of Maryland, though Mr. Raskob is said to have given more than $1,000,000 altogether.

FIRST hear the new RCA Radiola

See what value the Leader offers—

Radiola makes the set you want—$112.50 up LESS RADIOTRONS

and backs it with the greatest name in Radio

It is plain common sense to expect the world's greatest radio organization to offer not only the finest radio instruments, but to offer them at the lowest possible prices. After comparing, thousands have found this to be more true now than ever before.

Here's a typical example of RCA value—in 1926 a Radiola Super-Heterodyne console model cost $570—today, with all the vast improvements of the last 4 years, an infinitely finer instrument comes to you for only $142.50, less Radiotrons.

Certainly such an achievement could be made possible only by the world's most brilliant radio-engineers . . . by radio's greatest production experts . . . and by the world's largest, most up-to-date radio factory!

You can't be sure you have found the purest tone, or the biggest value in a radio until you have seen the newest masterpieces of the world's greatest radio organization. Let your Radiola dealer demonstrate them for you today. You'll be surprised . . . fascinated . . . convinced!

RADIOLA DIVISION
RCA VICTOR COMPANY, INC., CAMDEN, N. J.

$112.50 buys the lowest priced, high quality set in Radiola history. A full-sized, full-powered, 7 tube, screen-grid radio in a trim, compact cabinet.

COLEMAN DU PONT DIES; FINANCIER, POWDER BARON

Served as U. S. Senator from Delaware.

Wilmington, Del., Nov. 11.—[Special.]—Thomas Coleman du Pont, 67, former United States senator and one time president of E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co., died at his home here today after a prolonged illness.

A throat affection was the primary cause of death. He resigned from the senate about a year ago because of his failing health and had long since retired from politics and active business. He was for years member of the Republican national committee from Delaware.

Builder and Organizer.

Mr. du Pont predominantly was a builder and organizer. He made one fortune after another in the coal mining business, the steel industry, street railways, the Du Pont explosive works, insurance, hotels, office buildings, and real estate. Except for the hotel and real estate operations, however, he always disposed of a project as soon as he had put it on a successful basis.

Although not a native of Delaware and one of the "poor" Du Ponts, his father, Antoine B. du Pont, having migrated to Kentucky because there was no room for him in the Du Pont powder business, which was a small affair in civil war days, Coleman du Pont in his middle life became one of the powerful family group that ruled Delaware business and politics.

Born in Kentucky.

Born in Louisville, Ky., on Dec. 11, 1863, he was the great-great-grandson of Pierre Samuel du Pont de Nemours, a distinguished French statesman and economist, whose son, Eleuthere Irenee du Pont de Nemours, founded the Du Pont Powder industry in Delaware in 1802.

Coleman du Pont dropped the Thomas from his name early in life. He was educated at Urbana [Ohio] university, Chauncey Hall school, Boston, and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He was graduated as an engineer from the institute in 1884. He began his career as a miner for the Central Coal and Iron company, Central City, Ky. He dug coal and drove mules, even became a member of the Knights of Labor. He rose to the presidency of the company and developed both the company and the town. At 30 he abandoned the mining business and became manager of the Johnson Steel company at Johnstown, Pa., owned by Tom L. Johnson, later mayor of Cleveland.

Heads Coal Companies.

When in Johnstown, Mr. Du Pont became president of the Johnstown street railway and purchased other lines in New York, New Jersey, and Alabama. He left the steel business in 1900 and became president of coal and iron corporations in Kentucky.

At the age of 37, having acquired a large fortune, he retired from business and went to live in Wilmington, Del. Two years later he accepted the presidency of E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co. and from 1902 to 1915 the company was reorganized on a highly efficient basis which enabled it to produce an enormous amount of war materials when the world war began.

The company became known as "the powder trust." The government's anti-trust campaign in 1907 forced its dissolution under the Sherman law, but it successor company, the E. I. du Pont de Nemours company, expanded and is now one of America's greatest industrial corporations.

Sells Holdings for 14 Millions.

In 1915 Coleman du Pont resigned as president after selling his holdings in the company for $14,000,000 to a syndicate headed by Pierre S. du Pont.

In 1916 Mr. Du Pont was a candidate for the Republican nomination for President and got thirteen votes on the second ballot in the national convention at Chicago.

Mr. D.. Pont was a cousin of Pierre Lammot, Irenee and Alfred I. du Pont. He is survived by his widow, three daughters, Mrs. Holyday S. Meeds of Wilmington, Mrs. C. Douglas Buck, wife of the governor of Delaware, and Mrs. John Willcox Donaldson Jr. of Irvington-on-Hudson, now in Europe, and one son, Frank, president of the Equitable Trust company of Wilmington.

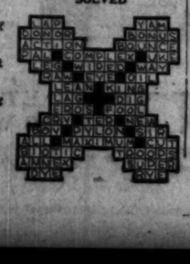
YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE SOLVED



MORE BUILDINGS ARE NEEDED FOR MENTAL CASES

Governor Says Work Must Continue.

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 11.—[Special.]—Gov. Emmerson tonight told the Illinois conference on public welfare that it will be necessary to continue, during the next two years, the building program which has featured the early part of his administration.

"The work thus far," said the executive, "will relieve only the present overcrowding and take care of the increase in patients and inmates during the last two years."

The governor's statement was accepted as a warning to every one to expect the expenditure of additional funds for the state's wards. Coming in connection with his recent demand for the application of the pruning knife in preparing the state budget, it means that again the state program will be to emphasize the welfare department's work.

A Complete Program.

Logan Hay of Springfield presided at the first meeting of the conference which opened tonight and which will continue through tomorrow. The gathering was greeted by Mayor Hal M. Smith. Miss S. P. Breckinridge, member of the University of Chicago faculty and president of the conference, spoke on "A Complete Welfare Program for Illinois."

Supt. William A. Bryan of the Worcester, Mass., state hospital discussed the problem of mental diseases, declaring it to be the most serious of the health problems with which the social order has to deal.

Mental cases, Dr. Bryan said, are increasing at the rate of 72 a day and the average daily population of the mental hospitals has reached 395,400. The situation was such, he declared, that the states must turn their attention to the causes as well as the care of the cases.

Responsibility for Health.

"Prevention is the keynote of the present day attitude toward mental diseases," said Dr. Bryan. "The mental hospital of today must be prepared to accept full responsibility for the mental health of the community."

Gov. Emmerson said that in addition to rehabilitating and expanding the institutions for the state's wards, Illinois was making an effort to improve its service to the unfortunate by placing the institutions on a high professional plane.

"Medical authorities," said the governor, "have been aroused as never before to the importance of emphasizing mental and nervous diseases. Mental and nerve specialists are coöperating with us in all our plans and we see forming in this state a tremendous force that in a few years will show results in knowledge of treatment and methods of preventing the diseases which now bear heavily upon us."

2 INDIANA GIRLS HITCH HIKE 3,000 MILES IN 8 DAYS

A story of a 3,000 mile hitch hike in eight days, from Pasadena to Chicago, was told at the detective bureau yesterday by Evelyn Bertram, 20 years old, and Bernice Lewis, 17 years old. Because of their boyish garb the girls had been picked up for questioning while standing at 49th street and Michigan avenue.

Bernice, born in Shelbyville, Ind., moved to Pasadena three years ago. In June of this year Evelyn visited her. Early this month they decided to return to Indiana. They had $50. They bought a diary and started out.

"In all the trip," said Bernice, "we walked but 15 miles. Mostly we were given lifts by men and each one was a perfect gentleman. Often they would let us drive the cars. We enjoyed the experience, but we'll sure be glad to get back to Evelyn's home in Anderson, Ind."

The girls were waiting for a ride when found by the police. Chief of Detectives John Norton allowed them to proceed on their way.

KIDNAP AND ROB STABLE OWNER.

Daniel Cecchine, owner of the Pony Ring stables on the River road near Des Plaines, was kidnaped early yesterday by two men in an automobile who robbed him of $9 after driving about for an hour.

HOLD UP HAT STORE CLERK.

Walter Becher, 152 South Hamlin avenue, a clerk in the Kaufman hat store at 4 West Van Buren street, was held up last night by two men who fled after taking $75 from the cash drawer of the store.

WIDOW OF LEON MANDEL SR. IS TAKEN BY DEATH

Mrs. Leon Mandel, widow of Leon Mandel Sr., a founder of Mandel Brothers', died yesterday in her apartment at the Sisson hotel at the age of 80. Her four daughters, Mrs. Maurice Mandelbaum, Mrs. Jesse Strauss, Mrs. Joseph Wineman, and Miss Florence Mandel, and her son, Robert, were at her bedside. Another son, Frederick, head of the store, died in Paris recently.

Mrs. Mandel, as Isabella Foreman, was married in Philadelphia in 1869. As was her husband, Mrs. Mandel was active in club and charitable circles. She was a member of the Chicago Woman's Aid, the Lake Shore Country club, and other organizations.

Funeral services will be conducted tomorrow morning at 10:30 o'clock at Rosehill chapel. The funeral will be private.

MARTIN HOWELL, HOTEL OPERATOR, DIES SUDDENLY

Martin A. Howell, hotel operator and former real estate man, died suddenly yesterday of a heart attack in his apartment at 215 East Chestnut street. He was 49 years old.

He was the builder and owner of the Chatelaine Tower apartments at 215 East Chestnut street, as well as several other hotel properties, and founded and operated until recently one of the first woman's hotels in Chicago at 4911 Winthrop avenue.

Mr. Howell is survived by his widow, Mrs. Mae S. Howell, a son, Robert, 11 years old, and one brother, Warren L., who was associated with him in business.

Funeral services will be held at 10 a. m. tomorrow at the funeral chapel at 2701 North Clark street, with burial at McHenry, Ill., where Mr. Howell formerly lived.

Mrs. J. K. Robinson, Mother of Mrs. L. H. Whiting, Dies.

Mrs. John Kelly Robinson, widow of J. K. Robinson, one of the founders of the Diamond Match company, died yesterday in Ossining, N. Y., it was learned by Mrs. Lawrence H. Whiting, her daughter and wife of the president of the Boulevard Bridge bank. Mrs. Robinson was 82 years old.

F. M. HUBBELL, 91, IOWA'S RICHEST CITIZEN, DIES

Des Moines, Ia., Nov. 11.—(AP)—Frederick M. Hubbell, 91, for more than half a century a vital figure in the development of Iowa and reputed to be the wealthiest man in the state, died at his home at 5 a. m. today.

Surrounded by members of his family in the palatial Hubbell home a few blocks from the city's business district, the financier sank into a coma from which he never rallied. His health had been failing for several months.

Mr. Hubbell came to Iowa in 1855 from Connecticut.

He was the oldest member of the Iowa bar, and built the first railway line in Des Moines.

Extensive real estate holdings formed a part of the fortune Mr. Hubbell amassed.

Last rites for the aged financier will be a family service at the Hubbell residence at 2 p. m., Thursday.

ROBERT B. SMITH, CHURCH LEADER, IS DEAD AT 62

Robert Bain Smith, an elder and active for many years in the Fourth Presbyterian church, died yesterday at the Grant hospital after a week's illness. He was 62 years old. At his bedside was his one surviving son, Norman T. Smith of St. Louis. Mr. Smith was a realtor with offices in the First National Bank building. He was born in Edinburgh, Scotland.

Ex-Congressman Kettner Dies in California Home

San Diego, Cal., Nov. 11.—(AP)—William Kettner, 66, San Diego business man and former congressman from the Eleventh California district, died today of heart disease. Kettner was one of the leaders in the early campaign for the Boulder dam project. He served in congress from 1913 to 1921.

REAL Doctor's Remedy
safest aid to bowels
A DOCTOR knows the best and safest way to stimulate the bowels when bad breath, coated tongue, sluggishness, or a bilious, headachy, gassy condition shows they are lagging. There could be no better proof of this assertion than the overwhelming sales and popularity of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.
Syrup Pepsin is a doctor's prescription for the bowels—made by the same formula Dr. Caldwell wrote and prescribed over and over during his forty-seven years of practice. He tested its gentle action with women, older people, babies and children; saw that it does not gripe, sicken or cause any discomfort. He proved its action thorough, complete, with the most robust men. Then as its pleasant taste and perfect action caused it to grow in popularity, he permitted it to be bottled and kept by drugstores everywhere, ready for use.
Get a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin from your drugstore today. Then, next time you or any of your family feel the need of a bowel cleansing, you will have a doctor's choice of what is best.

16 Bridges Require All of State Fund.

An independent audit of the Illinois waterway fund, which has been transmitted to the chief of army engineers at Washington to be turned over to Secretary of War Hurley, is expected to show that all of the remaining money will be required to construct the state bridges, leaving nothing for beginning immediate work on the waterway.

This opinion was expressed yesterday by Lieut. Col. W. C. Weeks, United States army engineer, who has not seen the confidential report, but is in close touch with the waterway situation.

"Of the $20,000,000 fund appropriated by Illinois for the waterway project, only about $3,500,000 remains," said Col. Weeks. "There are sixteen bridges to be constructed, including four railway bridges and twelve highway bridges, six of the latter in the Joliet area and six downstate.

Hopes Congress Will Act.

"It is unlikely that the state will wish to devote any of this fund to the waterway when it must build the bridges, and the only chance I see of an early start on the waterway construction is for congress to make an emergency appropriation at the coming session."

Col. Weeks expressed the hope that congress would see fit to make this appropriation and declared that if it did he would be prepared to let contracts for construction work immediately.

He also said he would like to take over the work of preparing plans and specifications for the state bridges, to expedite their construction and afford some relief for the unemployed. He would have to be authorized to do this by the secretary of war and by the state authorities, however.

Audit Asked by Hurley.

The audit of the state waterway fund was prepared by Price, Waterhouse & Co., under the direction of Gov. Emmerson and at the request of Secretary Hurley. The secretary is expected to receive the report in a day or so, when details will be made public.

Gov. Emmerson said in Springfield yesterday that construction work on the bridges at Joliet will have to wait until final plans for taking over the waterway by the federal government are consummated. State Senator Richard J. Barr of Joliet has been urging speedy construction of the bridges to relieve unemployment in Will county.

British Author Dies in China of Assassin's Bullet

PEIPING, China, Nov. 11.—(AP)—A telegram from Tientsin today announced the death of Bertram Lennox Simpson, British author who wrote under the name of Putnam Weale, from wounds inflicted on Oct. 1 by three Chinese gunmen who invaded his house and shot him in the back. Simpson was commissioner of customs at Tientsin under the rebel northern general, Yen Hsi-Shan. Mr. Simpson, who had American connections by both descent and marriage, was the grandson of Sarah Mellis Putnam, a granddaughter of Gen. Israel Putnam, leader in the American revolution. In 1917 he married Mary Louise Parrott of San Francisco.

KULP IS CALLED AS WITNESS IN U. S. QUIZ ON POSTAL LEASES

Jacob Kulp Sr., head of the investment house of Jacob Kulp & Co., was subpoenaed yesterday as a witness before the United States senate committee investigating postoffice leases. The Kulp company is one of the two large concerns that have made a specialty of bidding on rentals of new postoffices and it is said to have financed 25 such leases.

United States Senator John J. Blaine of Wisconsin announced that the hearing in Chicago will begin this afternoon. He left his home at Boscobel, Wis., yesterday for Chicago after having sent five subpoenas to United States Marshal H. C. W. Laubenheimer. Last night deputy marshals reported service only on Mr. Kulp and refused to name the others for whom they hold summonses.

The investigation was launched last spring after Senator Gerald P. Nye of North Dakota criticized a lease in St. Paul. Statements made later by postoffice officials disclosed the practice of the government of leasing subpostoffice buildings instead of building and owning them.

The government leases 6,000 buildings used as postoffices throughout the country, it is said, and pays more than $150,000,000 in annual rentals. It was charged that in a number of cases the annual rentals were apparently excessive, running in some instances as high as 20 to 30 per cent of the appraised value of the building.

ROBS MOTORIST, KIDNAPS HIS GIRL COMPANION

New York, Nov. 11.—[Special.]—A six foot giant in a black silk mask kidnaped a girl in a lonely section of Queens early today, driving her off in her escort's automobile after robbing him.

An hour earlier in a distant part of Queens he had robbed another man whom he found in a parked automobile with a girl. He changed his mind about kidnaping this girl only after eloquent pleading on the part of her fiance.

This afternoon the police had no clew to the kidnaper-robber, and did not even know the name of the girl whom he whirled away with him in the stolen automobile, sobbing and hysterical.

Takes Cash and Woman.

All they could learn from her escort, Joseph Luisi, 35 years old, of Brooklyn, was that she was a pretty girl and had red hair.

Luisi made her acquaintance informally earlier in the night at the curbstone and accepted her proposal that they take a ride. Before they got to the point of exchanging names Luisi had been robbed of all his money, $7, and his car and the girl had been taken from him.

Pleas Win Girl's Freedom.

It was a Jackson Heights man who had been robbed earlier in the night. His name could not be learned from the police. According to their account, he was sitting in an automobile with his fiancée in front, when the thug opened the car door, pointed a revolver at him, and ordered him out, taking a small sum of money from him.

The robber started to drive off with the young woman, but finally yielded and drove away with the car, which he later abandoned.

CZECHS PLAN A 5 DAY WEEK AS AID TO JOBLESS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PRAGUE, Czecho-Slovakia, Nov. 11.—Shortening of the working week from six 9 hour days to five 9 hour days as a remedy for the Czecho-Slovakian industrial crisis was recommended today by the Czech minister of social welfare before the budget committee of the house of deputies. He also suggested curtailment of overtime work.

The minister painted a woeful picture of Czecho-Slovakian industry, declaring that 376 factories had completely shut down this year up to the middle of October, and that 993 were partly closed. The number of unemployed is 800,000, he said.

He used as an illustration the Bata shoe factory, where the adoption of the five day, 45 hour week, allows employment of additional workmen.

COSTS

MODERN BUSINESS conditions call for close supervision of costs. Yet in many an office, costs are not costs—but waste. Waste because antiquated equipment and out-dated systems are still being used. Waste that is needless.

In these hotly competitive days, it's time for every business to take stock of office equipment and methods and see what improvements might be made. The quickest and easiest way for executives to do this is to attend the 27th Annual National Business Show, where the products of the leading office equipment makers have been concentrated. Exhibits are in charge of specialists qualified to understand your office problems and prescribe proper systems and equipment.

Visit the National Business Show today and bring your associates with you. Don't miss this business opportunity.

BEZDEK SPURS MAROON SQUAD AGAINST ILLINI

Alumni Banquet Is Tonight.

The process of inspiring the Chicago football team for its impending game with Illinois started unexpectedly yesterday afternoon at practice when Hugo Bezdek, Penn State athletic director and Maroon star back in 1901, walked on the field.

HUGO BEZDEK.

Coach A. A. Stagg rallied the squad around and Bezdek spoke a few moments, stressing the loyalty of alumni regardless of the fortunes of the team and likewise expressing confidence that chances for a strong finish of the 1930 season were bright indeed.

"When I was on the Midway the game with Illinois was strictly a practice affair. If I remember correctly, in my last year we swamped them, 40 to 0," Bezdek pointed out. "You probably won't beat them by that score Saturday, but I do expect you to beat them."

Old Play Successful.

When Coach Stagg pointed out the formation that made the most ground against Purdue last week, Bezdek recalled that it was the same play he and his mates had found most effective back in 1901.

The keying up process will continue tonight with the annual Chicago Alumni club football dinner at the Hotel La Salle. The Old Man and Col. Hamilton D. Hackett, former Army star and ex-man conference official, will be the principal speakers.

As the varsity drilled on a a few shifty formations, the balance of the squad were put on defense against these plays.

ILLINI SEE CHANCE TO WIN

Champaign, Ill., Nov. 11.—[Special.]—The University of Illinois football squad today started practice for the Chicago game, which will be played at the Midway Saturday. For the first time this season the Illini will be conceded at least an even chance against a conference opponent.

Capt. Robinson, Stan Bodman, and Tom Wilson were unable to take part in the strenuous scrimmage against the freshman team. Both Bodman and Robinson will play against Chicago, but it is doubtful if Wilson's knee will be in shape.

The following men were on the first team: Swanson and Bennett, ends; Kennedy and Hills, tackles; Jensen and Oveiman, guards; Huddlestun, center; Munch, quarter back; Berry and Tanuskus, half backs, and Art Schultz, full back.

Hunter Russell, one of the best defensive half backs on the squad, is still bothered with an injured knee, and although he was tried in practice he is not yet in playing condition.

MACFARLANE, COX WIN PINEHURST BEST BALL MEET

New Jersey Pros Take Second Prize.

Pinehurst, N. C., Nov. 11.—(AP)—Willie MacFarlane, Tuckahoe, N. Y., winner of the 1929 United States open golf championship, and Whiffy Cox, Brooklyn, N. Y., today won the eleventh annual midsouth best ball match for professionals with a score of 133. In the 36 hole event, they turned in two rounds of 66 to give them the $600 first prize money. MacFarlane and Cox shot consistent golf, scoring 33 for each of the fouth nine holes.

Second prize money of $400 went to Jim Dante, Madison, N. J., and Dan Williams, Westfield, N. J., with rounds of 67 and 66 for a total of 133.

In a tie for fourth and fifth places, with the aggregate of 136 and dividing the $200 and $150 awarded for those positions, came Roland Hancock, Lynchburg, Va., and Palmer Maples, Rocky Mount, N. C.; Herman Barron and Tom Greavy and Tom Boyd and Cyril Walker, a former national open champion. Other scores were:

Robert Barnett and Gene Larkin, 68—70—138; Francis Gallet and Leonard Gallet, 68—70—138; Billy Burke and John Golden, 72—66—138; Tommy Armour and Al Watrous, 70—68—138; Jim Barnes and Emmet French, 70—68—138; Mike Turnesa and Phil Turnesa, 73—67—140; Johnny Farrell and Gene Sarazen, 71—71—142; Kenan Smith and Robert Gunn, 75—74—149; Herman Atkins and Irving Schorer, 75—75—150; Pat Circelli and Vince Manero, 73—70—143.

BY ARCH WARD.

In perusing the football articles of Wilfrid Smith and Harvey Woodruff we read with interest that a football game of national importance is to be played at Los Angeles Dec. 6 between Notre Dame and Southern California. The prediction is based on the high scores rolled up last week-end by the pupils of Knute Rockne and Howard Jones.

JOE SAVOLDI.

We have been wondering why these football authorities look so far ahead. This author has the word of other gridiron celebrities that a game of national importance is to be played in our very midst Nov. 22 between Notre Dame and Northwestern.

You hear a lot of talk about the relative strength of these great football teams. Down at South Bend they tell you this is the best eleven that ever has come out of Notre Dame. Along the north shore old timers are scratching their heads to recall when Northwestern had a stronger team.

Amid the conjecture anticipating the outcome protrudes the impression that nobody knows how good either team really is.

Northwestern has bowled over Tulane, Ohio State, Illinois, Centre, Minnesota and Indiana. Notre Dame has breezed through Southern Methodist, Navy, Carnegie Tech, Pittsburgh, Indiana and Pennsylvania. Neither team has been defeated.

Wisconsin is the only hurdle remaining between Northwestern and an undefeated Western conference record. If the Purple wins, it will go against Notre Dame with a claim on sectional supremacy. Notre Dame must sweep aside Drake to face the Big Ten standard bearers with a clean slate.

JOE SAVOLDI'S WHISKERS.

Just to show how seriously the Notre Dame boys are preparing for their game with Northwestern, Joe Savoldi, of whom you have read before, is starting training a week early. Three days before a game, Joe keeps away from barber shops. He always plays his best when sporting some Smith Brothers foliage.

Latest news dispatches from South Bend have it that Savoldi already is getting his whiskers in shape for the Wildcats.

The rest of the team may come on the field freshly barbered but not Savoldi. This is the way he explains it:

"If you want me to be in there rolling up touchdowns, I've got to have the old whiskers flying in the breeze. They're my wind gauge. I test the direction and velocity of the wind through my alfalfa. Otherwise, how would I know how fast to run?

"No whiskers, no touchdowns. That's my modus operandi."

POP DEARBORN WAKES UP.

If you don't think Chicago is interested in the Notre Dame-Northwestern game, you haven't talked with Dick Hanley or Tug Wilson. The game was scheduled a couple years ago, but some 100,000 fans apparently have just heard about it.

The 100,000 who are trying unsuccessfully to get tickets are not the only persons disappointed. There will be thousands more unless the Big Ten permits transfer of the game to Soldiers' field. The 100,000 who want to see the game but can't would have provided $150,000 to relieve suffering among the army of unfortunates who have more serious problems than the purchase of football tickets.

Clapper's Goal Gives Bruins 1-0 Victory Over Americans

Boston, Mass., Nov. 11.—(AP)—The Boston Bruins edged the greatly improved New York Americans out of an exceptionally fast hockey game tonight by the slim margin of 1 to 0. A packed house of 15,000 odd watched the encounter.

The Bruins' single tally came late in the opening period. Eddie Shore, Boston defense man, staged a rush with Dit Clapper and shot over a nicely timed pass just as the forward swept inside of the American secondaires. Clapper's direct shot, fired from close quarters, banged into the left side of Roy Worter's cage.

Officials—Shaver and Melanson.

First period—scoring: 1—Boston, Clapper [Shore] 12:35. Penalties: Burch, 2 [one major], Himes, Lyons, Shore, Pratt, Dutton, Simpson.

SENATORS, 2; MAROONS, 0.

OTTAWA, Ont., Nov. 11.—(AP)—The Ottawa Senator opened the National Hockey league season here tonight with a 2 to 0 victory over the Montreal Maroons.

The Senators outplayed the Maroons throughout but the biggest factor in Ottawa's victory was the number of penalties the Maroons incurred. They checked ruggedly throughout and were forced to play short handed through most of the second and third periods. Hec Kilrea and Danny Cox scored for the Senators.

The gruelling battle was marked by a fist fight between Hooley Smith and Harold Starr and both were banished with major penalties.

RANGERS BEAT QUAKERS.

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 11.—(AP)—Benny Leonard's Quakers and Lester Patrick's New York Rangers introduced National league hockey to Philadelphia at the Arena tonight, the New Yorkers winning, 3 to 0. Approximately 5,000 persons saw the contest.

Patrick's Blue Shirts completely outplayed the home team, scoring in each of the three periods. The New Yorkers threatened several other times, but fine work on the part of Miller, Quaker goal, prevented further scoring. Miller was credited with 34 saves. John Roach also played a sensational game at goal for the Rangers, having 31 saves.

Hawks Play a Rough Game to Beat Bulldogs

WINDSOR, Ont., Nov. 11.—[Special.]—A rough and tumble Chicago Blackhawk hockey team defeated the Windsor Bulldogs of the International Hockey league, 5 to 4, last night here. Ripley, Blackhawk center, was the outstanding scorer for the visitors, counting four goals.

Mush Marsh scored the remaining goal. Johnny Gottselig was credited with two assists, while Couture had one.

The contest became so rough in the second and third periods that for only two minutes did the Blackhawks have their full strength. Most of the time there were only four Hawks in action.

For a while, under the new penalty rules, the referee lost control of the game. Abel, Wentworth, Ingram, and Capt. Dutkowski suffered major penalties, the first three for roughness and the latter for arguing with the referee over the new rules.

IS FOOTBALL FUN OR A BUSINESS? PEGLER WONDERS

Echoes from Stadia Not Cheers, but Squawks.

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 11.—[Special.]—Such a crabbing and grousing as nobody ever did hear before in sport, even in the prize fight business, has been troubling the echoes from the football stadia this fall, and it does begin to seem as though the boyz have forgotten that the game is only a jolly lark, after all, and intended to promote good health, good conduct and good feeling.

I am afraid this applies to the boys of the fourth estate, also, although for my part, that which may seem to be querulous comment is only my way of asking what everything is all about and why so. For instance, if football is nothing more than 60 minutes of good, clean fun, and victory is secondary to the playing of the game, and the receipts are of no importance at all, I just wonder why a team that is too tired and sore to play a game for the benefit of the unemployed isn't disbanded and retired for the season.

Pegler Keeps Asking "Why?"

But when I wonder this, as I did in the case of the Fordham team, people evince annoyance and I am given to understand that I have spoken out of turn, though nobody is kind enough to explain it all. Being not overly bright, but insatiably curious, I can only keep asking "Why?" and, in a season when a lot of people are sore and indignant about various matters, this questioning note is mistaken for another beef about the vague but ever present evil known as conditions.

People are always finding fault with conditions, and even politicians have been known to attack said conditions with the utmost fearlessness. But I have no grievance against conditions. I only like to ask what are conditions and what causes them.

Out west one great coach lets fly a bitter statement about another great coach, calling him a bum sport and no gentleman just because some one has turned up evidence that a star player on Coach A's team is a four year man and therefore ineligible to play against Coach B's team. It is my impression that both coaches are taking themselves too seriously, if football is only 60 minutes of good, clean fun, and that Coach A ought to be grateful to Coach B for calling his attention to the proposition. Otherwise, Coach A would unwittingly go into the game with an unfair advantage under the rules, which, of course, no gentleman would wish to do.

Moreover, football being the simple chivalrous game that I conceive it to be, I should think the coaches, who are only paid instructors after all and no more important than so many riding masters at the horseback schools or golf instructors at the suburban clubs, would have no voice in the matter. The players are the only people really concerned, and if the two captains had come together in the spirit of the game as it has always been represented in song and story they should have been able to adjust the question as gracefully as two dub golfers might agree on the matter of whether or not one should charge himself with a stroke because his ball had rolled off the peg while he was taking his stance.

Alumni Take Pen in Hand.

In football, however, the tiniest questions become warlike controversies, and the first thing anybody knows a lot of old football stars who have been cadging some extra income off the game for years when they ought to have been attending to work are writing articles for the papers accusing other schools of the most revolting wrongs.

So, in the case out west, Coach A denounced Coach B as a mucker, and the two teams, deriving their sporting morals from their coaches, got sore, too. And a football game that might have been played in a manner of pleasure and healthful relaxation became a formulated feud between two

Three Teams Tie for Lead in "Rough Riders" Bike Derby

BULLETIN.

The Georgetti-Brocardo and Letourner-Guimbretiere teams ousted Debaets and Belloni from the six day bike lead at the Chicago Stadium in a series of after midnight jams. The former leaders dropped to fourth place and De Nef and Charlier, outsiders in the betting, moved up to third position.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Fourteen thousand addicts, the largest number of patients that ever attended an indoor bicycle tournament in this city, were in attendance at Chicago's 24th international six day race at the Chicago Stadium last night. And they saw a sight of rough riding, so rough, in fact, that Referee Kramer had to fine Freddie Spencer and warn several others.

GAETANO BELLONI.

Shortly after spectators settled down for real serious observation at 8 o'clock riders jammed into a four-ply tie for the mileage lead. An hour later there were two leading teams.

Again Shuffle Lead.

At 10 o'clock the four win and place teams were shuffled again, and then, shortly before 11 o'clock Franco Georgetti and Paul Brocardo took charge all by themselves with De Baets and Belloni one lap back; Letourner and Giumbretiere two laps back, with McNamara-Beckman and Spencer-Hill combinations forming the fourth flight, three laps behind the leaders.

At 11:30 there was a triple tie among DeBaets-Belloni, Georgetti-Brocardo and Letourner-Guimbretiere, with Charlier-De Nef, previous trailers and outsiders, making a strong bid to get up among the leaders.

The boys failed to reach the world's record for stolen laps in one night of riding, set Monday night, but between 7 and 11 o'clock they stole 84 to bring the total to 286.

While the riding was not as desperate as on the preceding night, there were frequent duels between various cliques of riders. There were fewer spills after Referee Kramer had penalized Spencer but those who like to see riders bounce off the wood were thrilled by the worst spill of the race, shortly before 11 o'clock when Beckman, Hill, Belloni and Richill, who were riding high on the east turn, tangled wheels and pitched in a heap on the flat of the track, some 15 feet below.

Fossati, Di Pacco Out.

The first withdrawal was announced at 10:30 when Pietro Fossati and Raffelo Di Pacco parked their bikes and went to bed. Their start in the race was their first apearance in America. News of their early withdrawal, when they were 21 laps behind the leaders, was cabled to their home towns, where the tidings were expected to cause great disappointment and chagrin among relatives, seeing as it takes a lot of dough to get to America and then only getting to pedal three nights.

As evidence that there was more than the usual amount of fluctuating among the leaders between 7 and 11 o'clock, the following table is set down for your careful consideration:

8 p. m. — De Bates-Belloni, McNamara-Beckman; Georgetti-Brocardo, and Letourner-Guimbreteire were tied for the lead in mileage and held positions in the foregoing order under the point system.

9 p. m.—De Bates-Belloni were in the mileage lead, with McNamara-Beckman, Georgetti-Brocardo and Letourner-Guimbreteire in their immediate wake.

POINT AFTER TOUCHDOWN.

THE Wake's opposition to point after touchdown, which never has taken us anywhere yet and possibly never will, brings frequent comment from Helpers. A majority of these communications favor our contention of the over-emphasized importance of this one feature, but usually the Helper has some other suggestion to offer. Appended are views of the situation:

Sir: What is so terrible about tie games when teams have been about equal in the play? Here's a suggestion for recognizing apparent equality without eliminating the place kick for the extra point. "Pop" Warner once made a suggestion of counting first downs in scoring. My suggestion is to give the team defeated by point after touchdown one point for making more first downs and call the game a tie. If the winning team made more first downs, then the one-point victory still obtains. F. D. G., '21.

Harve: What pleasure, if any, is drawn by player or spectator from a drawn football match? In part I am in sympathy with your campaign to eliminate the extra point. I heartily agree that the highly specialized act of goal booting should be done away with, but that the passing and rushing method of obtaining the extra point should not be legislated against. These latter methods emphasize team play and keep the spotlight from being found on one man.

Lyn Fletcher

Wake: I know your side of the open debate on the point after touchdown. I've seen statistics that it takes five plays or more to score one point in a game and that the point after touchdown is made or lost in one play. Starting with that for data, my criticisms of the point after touchdown is that the rule grants the point even if missed by the kicker when one opposing lineman is offside. Here scoring is the fault of one single player, more unfair than the rule itself. My suggestion is instead of granting the point outright the offended side be given another chance, a "free kick" without opposition from the offending team. C. L. Carroll, Illini '21.

PURDUE WATCHES RESULTS OF N. U., MICHIGAN TILTS

BY WILFRID SMITH.

The Boilermakers of Lafayette will be the most interested of the thousands who will follow the fortunes of the Western conference games Saturday at Northwestern and Michigan. For Purdue still has a chance to retain its football title.

If Northwestern defeats Wisconsin the Wildcats have earned at least a share in the title. Michigan, of course, must win from Minnesota and then defeat Chicago a week later to tie Northwestern. In the meantime, Noble Kizer's players will watch the score boards while engaging Butler and undoubtedly will cheer for Wisconsin and Minnesota between plays. For if Purdue wins from Indiana a week later [and there is every reason to suppose that it will] the Boilermakers will own a second championship by five victories and one defeat, providing the Badgers and Gophers help out Saturday.

Use Wing Back System.

Saturday's game at Dyche stadium will be the third time this season the double wing back system of offense has staged a family row in the Big Ten. Northwestern met Ohio State and later Wisconsin played Ohio State. These three universities follow the Warner system.

Naturally Northwestern's success against Wisconsin will depend more directly on its power than on the deception of its attack. For the Badgers certainly have an advantage on defense since they are playing to stop their own kind of attack. This must have been one reason why Wisconsin and Ohio State played a scoreless tie with an additional factor that each rated about the same in potential line strength and running ability.

Of course, we have no way of knowing whether the Badgers will beat Northwestern or not. We do know that Northwesterns' power was sufficient to gain through Indiana last Saturday with eight Hoosiers playing in the line of scrimmage. Nine yards, however, was the longest gain on any running play. The second touchdown was scored with a march of 65 yards. And this with Indiana concentrating on its first line defenses and risking forward passes against a secondary defense of three men.

Half Back Cuts Through.

Only once on a triple reverse play, was Northwestern's running attack thrown for a loss. And a triple reverse could not be expected to gain against an eight man line. The eighth man, a half back playing outside the end, cut through unopposed to tackle the runner.

Indiana permitted two touchdowns on forward passes and another which was created from a successful pass. If Wisconsin can stop Northwestern's running attack with a seven man line, or with six and two full backs, the Badgers will be in position to halt Northwestern's passing attack. Wisconsin probably has the smartest secondary defense for passes Northwestern has met this year. And with Rentner out of the lineup Bruder must toss exceptionally well to down the Badgers through the air.

Michigan Line Strong.

Michigan probably has not been given credit for the strength it possesses. Since its one point victory over Purdue in its first conference game, the general impression has been the Wolverines were fortunate to win.

Michigan has an excellent defensive line. Ohio State and Harvard could not cross its goal line. Illinois scored on a return of a punt, while Purdue's two touchdowns are the high mark scored against Michigan in any game this year. Harry Newman is an exceptional passer, but Michigan has sufficient running strength to create openings for passes. Thus was Harvard beaten, 6 to 2, for Michigan gained several first downs through the line before the touchdown pass was thrown.

CROWD HAILS GENE'S VICTORY OVER TIM MARA

Ex-Champion Faces New Litigation.

GENE TUNNEY.

The jury, made up of twelve plain men who under other and happier circumstances might have been recruited from the mile away dollar seats at a Tunney fight, found there was no basis for the $500,000 suit which Tim Mara brought against him.

It was a quick verdict and good evidence of the way the twelve men had looked at the legal engagement throughout the long three weeks of technical fisticuffs. The jury retired at 11:30 a. m., and an hour and forty minutes later reported their verdict against Mara.

Tunney Is Nervous.

Tunney was nervous and flustered when they marched in, but a single sentence from Joseph Goldberg, the foreman, allayed his fears. Tunney, there was no doubt, regarded the verdict as a rebuttal of all the charges made against him during the course of the suit. Those charges had got under his skin. Martin W. Littleton, Mara's lawyer, charged him with being a "welcher," an "ungrateful friend," a "social climber."

Tunney, said Littleton in one of the flights of lyric rhetoric which marked the law suit, "walked to glory over the prostrate bodies of his associates."

"This verdict proves that I am not an ungrateful friend," Tunney told reporters. "It is a just verdict and it justifies the stand I have taken against Mara's claim ever since way back in 1926."

It was obvious that Mara's defeat sat well with the courtroom and the spectators packed in the corridors outside. Immediately after Justice Hatting had received the verdict, a cheer for Tunney arose.

Crowd Applauds Gene.

A half hour later when Tunney left the court, it took four policemen to pilot him through an applauding multitude. It was almost the first taste of real public popularity which he has had since the second bout with Dempsey. The crowds have resented Tunneys' social aspirations but the general feeling was today:

"Come home, Gene. All is forgiven."

Emory Buckner, counsel for Tunney, came in for almost as much congratulation as the former champion himself. An ancient Tammany Irishman, shaking the former United States attorney by the hand, voiced this plaint:

"We Democrats have got the voters, but you Republicans have the lawyers."

Faces Another Suit.

Tunney, despite today's happy ending, isn't yet out of the dreary toils of the law courts. Just twelve days from now he will again march before a jury as a defendant in the suit for $20,000 which Max Hoff has brought against him.

Mara charged breach of an oral contract made some five months before the match with Jack Dempsey in 1926, in which the Greenwich Village boxer won the heavyweight championship. If Mara had won it would have sliced Tunney's fortune virtually in half.

For nearly three weeks the matter has been under discussion in this wall publicized trial. Mara, in suing for 10 per cent of Tunney's $200,000 purse for the fight and 25 per cent of his earnings since he became champion, told the jury that he was hired to aid and assist Tunney in getting a bout anywhere with Dempsey.

Wilson Returns to Old Home Town; Gets a Big Hand

Martinsburg, W. Va., Nov. 11.—(AP)—The folks in Martinsburg went down to the depot this afternoon and welcomed this town's best known citizen home for the winter.

Mr. Louis R. Wilson, Chicago Cubs outfielder and leading home run hitter of the National league last summer, was met at the steps of his coach by his wife and young son and on the platform by a crowd of baseball fans.

Hack put on his best smile and granted his full approval when approached by a committee seeking his consent for a "real public welcome." It will be given in the Martinsburg public square Thursday night as a testimonial of the community.

Wilson did not discuss his plans for the coming winter, but he will probably spend it hunting. He was delayed in his return home by a vaudeville engagement in Chicago.

STRIBLING WHIPS DEKUH IN TEN ROUND BATTLE

Frequent Clinching Mars Bout at Atlanta.

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 11.—(AP)—Arthur De Kuh, the 6 foot 4 inch Italian, held W. L. Stribling so well that the best the Georgia heavyweight could do here today was win a comfortable decision on points in ten rounds.

The attack which had flattened Otto Von Porat, Phil Scott, and K. O. Christner, was missing, and the slow fight and frequent clinching by both men was booed on several occasions by the fans.

De Kuh outweighed Stribling more than 30 pounds and this advantage served him well. Dekuh weighed 226 and Stribling 191.

Dekuh Is Aggressor.

For seven rounds De Kuh was the aggressor, with most of the fighting done in clinches. The last three rounds found Stribling forcing the fighting, striving to add De Kuh to his long list of knockout victims. The big Italian took most of Stribling's blows on his shoulder and elbows.

In the last round Stribling landed a series of lefts to the head and rushed De Kuh to the ropes, but the New Yorker held on, kept his chin well protected and made Stribling shoot most of his punches to the body.

Despite the cold drizzling rain which fell throughout the match, some 6,000 spectators watched Stribling in his first match in the south since his triumph over Scott. It was held in an outdoor arena in Spiller park, home of the Atlanta Crackers of the Southern association.

Dekuh Pounds Stribling.

Although neither fighter landed a real damaging blow during the entire fight, De Kuh pounded Stribling hard about the body, while the Georgian also got in a series of body blows mixed with his shots for the chin.

The first three rounds were fairly even, but Stribling gave Dekuh a shellacking in the fourth, although none of the thrusts was powerful enough to rock the Italian.

Stribling got his left to working consistently for a few moments in the sixth and peppered De Kuh about the head but all the blows were quick, short thrusts and carried little weight.

Again in the ninth and tenth Stribling rushed De Kuh to the ropes swinging both hands, but the Italian always managed to clinch and hold Stribling until he was out of danger.

CAYUGA WINS LATONIA SPRINT BY SIX LENGTHS

Latonia, Ky., Nov. 11.—(AP)—The Shadybrook farm's five year old Cayuga easily proved the best in the Armistice Day handicap, featured number on the day's program. J.Spencer's four year old filly, Willa, was second and B. Combs' three year old, Manta, was third.

This event was for all ages over six furlongs and was worth $1,150 to the winner. He covered the distance in 1:11 4-5 and paid off at $4.02 to $2 in the mutuels.

Profiting by the bad break, Cayuga went into a good lead at the start, which he steadily increased. He was far ahead coming down the home stretch to win under a slight pull by six lengths.

Willa suffered from crowding after passing the first quarter pole and trailed the field coming around the bend for home. She was lucky to get through in the stretch drive and, closing very fast, took second money by two lengths.

Manta followed the pace to the last sixteenth, where she weakened, and was just able to hold third place by a head over True Blue Pal.

Pimlico, Md., Nov. 11.—[Special.]—Sun Beau, considered the best handicap horse left in training and winner in the last few months of the Toronto Autumn cup, the Hawthorne gold cup and the Washington handicap, was soundly defeated here today in the twenty-second running of the Bowie handicap, even though he had been made the odds-on favorite at 9 to 10.

Inception, a horse noted mainly for his mud running ability, was the one to win the Bowie, test of a mile and a half which annually is one of the most popular of Maryland stakes.

Inception was next to the outsider in a field of eight and paid more than 25 to 1, the mutuel figures being $52.70 for a $2 ticket. He led from start to finish under a smart ride by Willie Cannon and staved off the closing rush of William T., which finished a length back of the winner and a neck before Sun Beau.

Sun Beau was carrying the impost of 130 pounds and weakened slowly toward the end of the gruelling route to the more fightly weighted William T., which carried only 109 pounds. Inception scampered the whole way under 108 pounds.

COLISEUM VICTOR FRIDAY TO MEET MICKEY WALKER

Retzlaff to Fight Mata in Six Round Windup.

Mickey Walker, middleweight champion of the world, who recently began a campaign in the heavyweight ranks by whipping Johnny Risko at Detroit, will be at the Coliseum ringside Friday night to watch the card of eight bouts arranged by Promoter George Ferguson and Matchmaker Jim Mullen.

Walker will pay particular attention to the heavyweight contests, because he signed yesterday to meet any of Friday night's winners in the windup of the next Coliseum show, on Nov. 28.

Retzlaff, Mata in Windup.

The headline heavyweight bout on the bill is a six rounder between Charlie Retzlaff of Duluth and Antonio Mata, a Spanish fighter from the Pyrenees mountains, who came to the United States only two months ago.

Another stranger will be Nando Tassi of Italy, who takes on Paul Pantaleo of Chicago in a six round bout. The third fighter making his first ring appearance in Chicago will be Tony Cancela, who will oppose Jack Barry in a six round light heavyweight engagement.

The other battles, some of them featuring old favorites of Chicago fans, will be the following:

Edgar Norman and Harry Dillon, six rounds, 175 pounds. Ted Ross and Joe Miller, six rounds, 175 pounds. Andy Shanks and Walter Madey, six rounds, heavyweights. Karl Ogren and Johnny Baima, four rounds, 156 pounds. Marion Matuszak and Knute Dane, four rounds, heavyweights.

Ogren Starts Pro Career.

Ogren, a Golden Gloves champion, will be making his professional debut in Chicago after a successful career in the amateur ranks. His opponent, Baima, is Central A. A. U. champion.

All of the fighters will wind up training this afternoon at loop gymnasiums and will fight on Thursday. Mata, Tassi, and Cancela have won a considerable following among fans who have watched their daily workouts.

St. Mary's Eleven to Work Out at Soldiers' Field Today

St. Mary's football team from Oakland, Cal., will work out at Soldiers' field this morning. The coast eleven is on the way to New York, where Saturday it will meet the undefeated Fordham squad. St. Mary's, coached by Slip Madigan, a teammate of George Gipp at Notre Dame, has lost only one game. Madigan has been assisted in the development of the team by Vince McNally, a former Notre Dame football and basketball player.

A Cash Saving On Your Automobile Insurance Policy

Last year this return amounted to $711,332.11. Many members save enough to pay their annual tire bills. The Inter-Insurance Exchange always has returned 20% of the amount paid the "exchange" for insurance coverage.

In addition to the cash saving to subscribers, other features will appeal to you. For example, most insurance policies exclude coverage on tires and accessories; yet it is far more likely that a thief will steal your spare tire than that your car will be stolen. The "exchange" does cover accessories and at no additional cost.

The "valued form" policy is still another feature that accounts for the growth of the "exchange." In the event of total loss, you are paid the face value of your policy, the amount upon which you have paid insurance.

The "exchange" settles claims quickly and satisfactorily. Claims are not referred to a distant "higher up." Home office service, and other features explain why insurance sales in 1929 amounted to approximately four million dollars.

A few of the services available to members are:

Free mechanical first aid and towing service at any hour of the day or night.

Travel service, which provides you with maps, logs and the most complete and up to the minute advice on road conditions.

Bail bond service, which guarantees your appearance in traffic violation cases, where a bond not in excess of $100 is demanded.

Accident prevention work, which seeks to cut accidents, especially among school children, by means of safety posters and by fostering school boy patrols.

Home district service, which attends to special conditions around your home, such as seeing to it that refuse is promptly removed.

Sixty-four branches: 34 downstate; 30 in Cook county.

There is a branch in your neighborhood.

MICHIGAN SCORES 3 TOUCHDOWNS AGAINST FROSH

Simrall, Wheeler to Start Minnesota Game.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 11.—[Special.]—With an opportunity to gain at least a tie for the Big Ten title by defeating Minnesota here Saturday, Coach Harry Kipke today sent the Michigan squad through one of the hardest drills that it has had this season. All of the back field men except Wheeler were used against the freshmen during a scrimmage on South Ferry field, and the varsity scored three touchdowns before time was called.

Capt. Simrall was used sparingly and Wheeler stood on the side lines in civilian clothes because of a knee injury which he suffered in practice a week ago. Both will be in the starting lineup against Minnesota, however. Hudson, Eastman, Goldsmith, Heston, De Baker, Tessmer, and Newman alternated behind the line. Hozer, Cox, Daniels, and Williamson were used at the ends; Auer, Samuels, Draveling, and Purdum at tackles; La Jeunesse, Cornwell, Douglass, and Oehmann at guards, and Morrison and Auer at center.

A 15 yard pass, Newman to Tessmer, over the center of the line scored the first touchdown, while the second was put across on a 5 yard dash around end by Heston, after the ball had been advanced by a series of thrusts at the line. The third was scored by Goldsmith on a smash at guard.

It is likely that Capt. Simrall will get the punting assignment Saturday.

FROSH PASSES WORRY GOPHERS.

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 11.—[Special.]—Minnesota's coaching staff today started to build a defense for Harry Newman's passing and Michigan's much improved running game by sending the varsity through a two hour scrimmage. The Gophers were on the defense all afternoon with My Ubl, freshman passer, completing several tosses to mates. Every time the frosh completed a pass, there was a shakeup in the varsity lineup.

Today it appeared doubtful that Al Kresowski, star end, will be able to play Saturday. Anderson, a veteran wing who has been out since the first game, however, got into the scrimmage and showed no ill effects from the workout.

Rieheth and MacDougal alternated at right half back today, and it is likely they will be used that way Saturday.

CRAIG WARNS N. U. OF BADGERS.

Northwestern football players yesterday buckled down to work in preparation for the game with Wisconsin Saturday. Coach Dick Hanley, piqued at what he considers premature talk of the Notre Dame game, impressed his charges that they first must beat Wisconsin.

"We feel that the Wisconsin game is our toughest conference assignment," Coach Hanley stated. "The Badgers pack more power than we have been up against heretofore. Consequently we can't afford to look further ahead than Saturday."

Pug Rentner, the Wildcats' disabled full back, was dismissed from the Evanston hospital yesterday and attended classes for the first time since the Minnesota game. He is not expected to report for practice until next Monday.

Coach Hanley began work on a new back field combination yesterday. It is likely that Saturday will find Hank Bruder and Lee Hanley at the half back positions, Reb Russell at full, and Lefty Leach at quarter. Signals will be called by Hanley. This will leave Al Moore available for duty at either of the half back assignments when needed.

Max Hayford, Northwestern ticket manager, announced last night that several thousand tickets remained unsold and that tickets would probably be available until game time.

SEVEN PLAY LAST HOME GAME.

Columbus, O., Nov. 11.—[Special.]—Seven Ohio State university football players will play their last game in the Buckeye stadium Saturday against Pittsburgh in the annual "Dad's Day" game, for which 45,000 tickets have been reserved.

The seniors are Wesley Fesler, end; Sam Selby, guard; Richard Larkin, end; Robert Horn, half back; William Griffith, tackle; Russ Taylor, half back, and Ralph Idle, end. The first five are regulars on the 1930 team.

Coach Willaman today sent the varsity against the freshman who used Pitt plays. There will be little change in the Buckeye lineup for Saturday with the exception that Bell probably will start at tackle in place of Griffith.

PURDUE WORKS FOR BUTLER.

Lafayette, Ind., Nov. 11.—[Special.]—It was anything but Armistice day for Purdue's football squad when it reported for drill this afternoon following its day of rest yesterday. Although the regulars were again excused from practice, the reserves, who are expected to bear the brunt of Saturday's clash against Butler, received a long workout on both offensive and defensive tactics.

IOWA REBUILDS BACK FIELD.

Iowa City, Ia., Nov. 11.—[Special.]—The task of rebuilding the Iowa back field, made necessary by injuries which probably will keep Leo Jensvold, half back, and his twin brother, Lloyd, quarter, out of the Penn State game next Saturday, was begun by Coach Burt Ingwersen today. John Miller, 155 pound junior from Quincy, Ill., called signals for the varsity. Jerry Kriz, sophomore, was moved from full back to blocking half, while Hansen performed at full back and Blickman and Warrington alternated at the other half.

FROSH TRIM BADGERS.

A LAW ABIDING SPORTSMAN IS NOW IN DEMAND

BY BOB BECKER.

That law abiding sportsmen have work cut out for them has been demonstrated during the last two days by Du Page county, a part of Chicagoland which met the invasion of roving irresponsible pheasant hunters with an active squad of deputy sheriffs.

Lawrence Hattendorf, sheriff of Du Page county, said yesterday afternoon that the 45 or 50 deputies in the county, assigned to protect the property rights of the farmers, and made more arrests this year during the first two days of the Illinois pheasant season than were made in the whole of last year. Most of the hunters apprehended were picked up because they barged through fences to hunt on posted land without going to the trouble of getting landowners' permission.

Seventy Get Tickets.

Up to yesterday afternoon it was estimated by the sheriff's office that between 65 and 70 hunters had run afoul of the law. Included in this group that had to pay fines in court were a fairly large percentage of gunners who were not citizens of the United States.

The story of hunting in Du Page county, a typical section of rural Chicagoland, shows a gradual but steady tightening up against hunters because of the depredations of the irresponsible gunner who figures that a license gives him permission to hunt anywhere without regard for the farmers' rights. Putting the pressure behind the tightening in the county is the Farmer's Protective association.

Sheriff Will Get You.

This organization now has approximately 1,000 members as landowners belonging to the county farm bureau who also are members of the protective association.

With every township in the county having a small group of deputy sheriffs who can be called upon to protect property owners against trespassing hunters, a provision that has become necessary due to the depredations of lawless gunners, the county is well prepared to repel poachers.

The number of pheasant and rabbit hunters in the field yesterday was only slightly less than the crowd which took advantage of mild Indian summer on Monday. Cruising west and northwest of Lake Zurich we counted as high as four parked cars to the mile along one half road. However, in most cases the bags of pheasants were smaller because the wily ringnecks had left their former haunts and were not so easy to find.

CLAIM DEMPSEY PAID GANGSTERS FOR PROTECTION

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York News.]

Providence, R. I., Nov. 11.—[Special.]—A story that protection money of between $20,000 and $50,000 was paid to a mob of Chicago gangsters on behalf of Jack Dempsey to prevent the former heavyweight champion from being slugged just before the 1927 title battle he lost there to Gene Tunney was divulged here tonight.

It came as what was described as the first of a series of inside revelations concerning the professional life of the late Leo P. Flynn, adviser, assistant manager and supervisor of training for Dempsey at the time. Papers substantiating disclosures, said to hold "dynamite adequate to shake the entire fight game," are, it is declared, in the hands of Mrs. Katherine C. Flynn, the promoter's widow, and she is prepared to bare them in court, if necessary. Last October, the late fight manager's brother, Hubert J. Flynn, started a suit in the Superior court here demanding an accounting of his brother's estate.

Four hours before the fight between Tunney and Dempsey in Chicago, Dempsey, Flynn, Mrs. Flynn and several others were together in a suite in one of the upper stories of the Edgewater Beach hotel. There came a call for Flynn from one of his henchmen. Flynn went into another room it was declared, and there was confronted by emissaries of one of Chicago's gangs.

"The word has gone out from another mob," they told Flynn, "that Dempsey is to be given the works when he starts for the battle ground. If he isn't given protection, he'll be slugged. Take care of us and we'll see he's protected okay."

Without Dempsey's knowledge, it is said, Flynn raised the money and paid it to the gangsters.

Tilden Tech Team Loses to Davenport Eleven, 25-19

Davenport, Ia., Nov. 11.—[Special.]—With Mike Layden, brother of Elmer Layden, member of the famous Four Horsemen of Notre Dame, playing the leading rôle, the Davenport High school football team scored a 25 to 19 victory over Tilden Tech of Chicago here this afternoon before an Armistice day crowd of 3,000 persons.

U. S. Athletes Improve 172 Marks in 1930

New York, Nov. 11.—(AP)—America's star performers in swimming, track and field battered the existing marks in 172 instances during the last year, the Amateur Athletic union announced today.

Applications for records have been filed in behalf of the athletes, and will be passed upon at the 42d annual convention of the A. A. U. in Washington Nov. 16, 17, and 18.

Largely because of the remarkable achievements of Helene Madison of Seattle in swimming and of Stella Walsh of Cleveland in running the feminine athletes outdid the supposedly stronger sex in the number of records set in these sports. In swimming girl athletes broke 46 records, as against 28 for the men, and in track they counted for 24, while the men collected 17.

Miss Madison, sensation of the swimming world at 17 years of age, led all the other record breakers, having battered 12 world's and 27 American marks in the last eight months. Acceptance of Miss Madison's records is regarded as certain, giving her a clean sweep of all American marks from 100 yards to a mile and wiping out all except five of the existing world's free style standards.

Miss Walsh's name appears 11 times. One of the best of her performances is a 10 3-10 100 yard dash made at Philadelphia on May 30, 1930.

crowds of students, both alike, both drawn from the same general locality, and both nominally committed to the principle of sport for the sake of the game.

About Those Charity Games.

I was downright bigoted on the proposal to produce some big games for the benefit of the unemployed, but there is this to be said for bigotry, that it isn't easily argued away with reasonable excuses, of which the colleges offered many. Broadminded people never can be sure of their convictions, and a broad minded person, listening to Maj. Gen. Smith of the Military academy, would have been persuaded that the Army could not play the Navy this year, even for charity, without the most disastrous results.

Good Would Outweigh "Harm."

Being bigoted, I still insist that if President Hoover were to order the teams to play the teams would play, that 5,000 families could be helped over the cruelest part of the winter, and that the worst possible effect of such a sacrifice upon the West Point cadets would be counterbalanced by the good to be done. Four years ago Gen. Smith's predecessor, Gen. Stewart, was just as ready with insuperable reasons why the Army could not go to Chicago for the last of the Navy games, but the Army went. The game was played and the disaster to the military service is not perceptible yet, although the benefits are.

In New York one coach, shown an opportunity to twit another coach whom he had previously accused of preempting his system, sanctioned an informal challenge to the other coach to a post-season game between their undefeated teams for a national championship. The next day the pressure on Coach A was so severe that he withdrew and repudiated the challenge, after the manner of some senators and Presidents.

Tilden Knocks Coaches.

The Penn alumni denounce the coaches for exploiting their fame, and William T. Tilden is discovered among the protestants, blandly calling the kettle black. It all gets nowhere and things don't seem to fit.

Being a pro myself in the sport business in the sense that I am a sport writer and certainly no more amateur about it than I must be, I am unable to see the forest for the trees and neither are the coaches nor the players. But the young, nonvarsity students are beginning to be heard from and when football is debunked they will debunk it.

Brookins Seeks Hearing Before Hawkeye Board

Iowa City, Nov. 11.—[Special.]—Charles R. Brookins, dismissed from the position of assistant track coach at the University of Iowa last week because of his matrimonial difficulties, will tell his side of the story to the Hawkeye athletic board when it meets next Monday to name his successor on the athletic staff, he said here today.

Brookins and his latest bride, the former Miss Dorothy Covey, returned last night from Canton, Mo., where they were married yesterday afternoon after being denied a license at Rock Island, Ill., and Kahoka, Mo. It was their second marriage in less than two weeks, the first ceremony having taken place at Valparaiso, Ind., Oct. 31.

Brookins' dismissal from the athletic staff and his arrest on bigamy charges followed the Valparaiso marriage when it was learned that he had been married Sept. 4 at Aledo, Ill., to Mrs. Ethel Held. The latter divorced Brookins last Saturday at Nevada, Ia., Brookins claimed that at the time of his first marriage to Miss Covey he believed that his previous wife had already divorced him.

Dean C. C. Williams, head of the Hawkeye athletic board, said today that the board probably would support the action of E. H. Lauer, director of athletics, in dismissing Brookins, and expressed the belief that the board would be governed by Lauer's recommendations in determining whether Brookins should be given a hearing. Lauer repeated his assertion that the dismissal of Brookins was final, though he said the former assistant coach might be heard by the board.

TACKLES NEEDED; APPLY TO LOYOLA FOOTBALL COACH

There was no Armistice day rest for the Loyola university football squad yesterday. Coach Eddie Norton sent the Ramblers through two hours of intensive drill which concluded with a brisk scrimmage. Loyola will meet one of the strongest teams on its schedule Friday night when it clashes with Boston college here.

The easterners have depended upon a plunging and running attack in their previous games this season, and it is with view of stopping this threat that Coach Norton is spending considerable time this week strengthening the Loyola line.

Mike Waesco will start at center and Capt. Chris Poppelreiter and Ray Nolan at guards, but it is uncertain who will play the tackle positions. It is these posts that Norton is having trouble filling. Frank Lutzenkirchen, Jerry Gottschalk, and Harold Fors showed best at tackle berths yesterday. Clancy, a sophomore, is likely to start Friday.

Hank Ployhart, sophomore half back, who was injured early in the season, may be able to play this week, it was announced yesterday.

BOSTON LEAVES TODAY.

Boston, Mass., Nov. 11.—[Special.]—Boston college today completed home preparation for its night game with Loyola in Chicago Friday night with an offensive drill. The team leaves for Chicago at noon tomorrow.

The men that started against Georgetown last Saturday were in the first team lineup as it ran through a set of new plays. Joe Kelly and Mike Vodoklys, injured last week, were in the back field and will be ready to play at Chicago.

Because of his fine showing in last week's game George Colbert, forward passer, will start at quarter back. Besides being a good passer Colbert is a fine drop kicker and, as the Eagles have been weak in this department of play, it is probable that Coach McKenney will have Colbert in his starting lineup.

Top yesterday, $8.75; average, $7.90.

Receipts at Chicago for today estimated at 8,500 cattle, 26,000 hogs, and 15,000 sheep.

Available supplies of live stock exceeded immediate requirements of the trade yesterday and additional price cuts were made in almost all classes. Medium and weighty beeves led the way down, selling as much as 50@75c under the high point of last Thursday. The market for good grades of hogs equaled the lowest point since January, 1929. Best lambs held steady, while others ruled weak to 25c lower.

Hog prices slumped to new low levels for the season, the extreme top going down 15c at $9.10, which equals the lowest point during the past summer. On June 26 top hogs also sold at $9.10, the lowest since January, 1929. The general average was off 10c at $8.90, with bulk of the day's total offerings selling within the narrow range of $8.80@9.00. Prevailing quotations are $2.50@3.00 below the high point of the year less than three months ago.

The wider price "spread" between eastern and western markets lately accounts for the increased shipping demand at Chicago. Outsiders bought 9,000 yesterday. Some of the 7,000 left at the close were being held off the market in hopes of broader demand in midweek and later. Five western markets expect 59,000 hogs today against 63,400 last Wednesday.

Today's Hogs Bid $9.00.

Hogs averaging 210@310 lbs., for today's delivery were bid $9.00 on the "to arrive" market yesterday. Lighter weights carried bids of $8.85. Offers and bids for future months were too far apart for trading. Light, mediums, and heavy for the last half of the present month were offered at $8.75@9.10, but the highest bid at the close was $8.50.

December contracts were offered at $8.75@8.90 and bid $8.50@8.60. January hogs were offered at $8.90 and bid $8.70. March light and mediums were bid $8.75 and offered at $9.10@9.25.

With the exception of a few baby beef yearling steers that sold steady yesterday, bulk of cattle sales were off 25@50c, with many instances of 75c loss cited in sales of cattle exceeding 1,200 lbs., in weight. Even long yearlings shared in the break. Fancy 980 lb., mixed steers and heifers topped the market at $13.50, while $13.40 was paid for 1,041 lb., steers and $13.25 for 1,148 lb. averages.

Best Lambs Steady.

Only well finished fed westerns and choice grades of native lambs were eligible to Monday's quotations on yesterday's market, while all other classes ruled weak to 25c lower. Sorted natives to packers and city butchers sold at $8.50@8.75, with many medium to good kinds at $8.00@8.25.

Fed westerns lacking finish arrived in larger numbers and sold at $7.50@7.75. Aged sheep and yearlings sold steady. Feeding lambs were in good demand at steady prices. Five western markets expect 31,000 receipts here today against 44,900 last Wednesday.

LOOKING AHEAD WITH BUSINESS

Cash dividends received by stockholders in domestic corporations in October totaled $545,021,826, compared with $397,069,852 in September and $257,437,545 in August, a compilation by Standard Statistics company shows. Electric light and gas companies led the list of major divisions with $82,884,191 and rails followed with $61,649,697.

Shipments of the Chrysler corporation from United States and Canadian plants in October totaled 12,812 units.

Scott Paper company reported October net sales of $544,441, an increase of 43.6 per cent over October last year. Sales for the first ten months this year totaled $7,336,164, an increase of 13.3 per cent.

Eugene G. Grace, president of the Bethlehem Steel corporation, said that fourth quarter results will about equal those of the third quarter, with operations at a slightly lower rate. He said he believed the industrial depression had touched bottom.

Sir Percival Perry, European director of Ford Motors Company, Ltd.; Maurice Dollfu, French director, and Dr. Karl Wilhelm Hauss, German director, arrived from Europe today. Commenting on the current outlook of Ford in Europe, Sir Percival said that in all countries, with the exception of Italy, where Ford companies are operating, business to date was running ahead of last year.

Expansion of production as rapidly as possible of the Copperweld Steel company, is planned by officials of the company.

The second membership of George A. Garrett in the New York Cotton exchange has been sold for $19,000, an increase of $500.

The recent improvement in the textile industry was shown by the Association of Cotton Textile Merchants statistics for last month. Stocks decreased more than 10 per cent, while unfilled orders gained about 23 per cent.

Department store sales are picking up under the stimulation of fall buying. During September sales increased 34 per cent over August, according to the federal reserve board's report. This advance, however, is somewhat less than the estimated seasonal increase for September.

Total money in circulation on Oct. 31 was $4,493,308,932, as compared with $4,501,478,377 at the end of September and $4,538,184,799 a year ago, the treasury department reports. Based on a population of 123,771,000, the per capita circulation on Oct. 31 was $36.20, compared with $36.42 a month ago and $40.23 a year ago.

In a review of conditions the American Bankers' Association Journal says the last month has materially improved the business outlook and the publication believes "the business trend has straightened out from its downward course and is now horizontal."

Directors of the American Sugar Refining company are expected to declare the regular dividends on both the common and preferred stocks of the company at their meeting scheduled for today.

The asset ratio of Armour & Co. is the best in the company's history, F. Edson White said in a statement issued yesterday. "We are in exceptionally sound financial condition," he said. "Our statement when published will show the best ratio of current assets to current liabilities that we have ever shown. It should be in the neighborhood of 7 to 1 with no bank debt whatever. Our inventory position is excellent and we enter our new fiscal year in a most satisfactory condition."

U. S. EUROPEAN TRADE SHOWS BIGGEST DROP DURING SEPTEMBER

Washington, D. C., Nov. 10.—(AP)—Business between the United States and Europe showed the most marked decline of the general foreign trade recession during September.

Commerce department reports today made the following comparisons as to the geographical character of the September foreign trade:

EXPORTS.

Europe	$158,710,816	$201,258,212
North America	79,532,643	117,419,162
South America	23,911,347	43,540,941
Asia	34,074,886	49,850,194
Oceania	6,593,286	16,173,278
Africa	6,460,460	8,911,788

IMPORTS.

	Sept., 1930.	Sept., 1929.
Europe	$ 73,423,317	$120,055,689
North America	58,584,295	76,941,810
Asia	20,944,653	97,754,866
Oceania	2,075,350	4,740,455
Africa	4,356,520	6,415,455

The Canadian position as best national customer of the United States was somewhat challenged by Great Britain in September. American exports to Canada for the month were $52,070,262 against $80,484,501, the same month last year; and imports were $32,508,388 against $42,256,552. For Great Britain American exports were $57,841,328 against $72,609,252, but imports from Great Britain for September were $17,017,163 against $28,986,854.

Exports to Germany were $32,911,781 against $38,993,110, and imports $14,049,671 against $21,800,413. Exports to France were $20,068,596 against $24,026,281 and imports $10,850,872 against $17,461,527.

One of the trade expansions was noted in the Russian figures. American imports from that country in September were $2,008,927, practically double those of September, 1929.

In exports, however, the business with Russia showed a decline similar to that affecting other international trade, amounting to $4,923,093 against $5,949,700.

HIDE FUTURES

BUYING SPURT CUTS WINNIPEG WHEAT LOSSES

With American markets closed for Armistice day attention of grain traders was drawn yesterday to Winnipeg and Liverpool, which remained open. Advices from Winnipeg suggested an uneasy feeling, especially as regards the pool operations.

The reduction of 5c on wheat prices announced by the pool on Monday went into effect in western Canada yesterday. It created a lack of confidence and a scarcity of buyers during the first hour of the Winnipeg market and hedge sales were a feature.

Liverpool was weak and closed ¼@½d lower, reflecting the weakness in American markets on Monday.

While little export business was under way, there were no figures given and with liquidation on and buying support limited the Winnipeg market showed a heavy undertone. After midday a firmer feeling developed, despite reports of better weather conditions in the Argentine. Markets in the latter country, however, were closed. A spurt of buying at the last carried Winnipeg up and the close was at losses of 3¾@2¼c. Late reports of snow in Alberta brought in a few buying orders, mainly from shorts.

Coarse grains were heavy with wheat. Oats declined 1¼@1⅝c. Rye was weak and 2¼c lower on futures, while barley declined 1⅛@1¼c. There were reports from western Canada of barley being burned for fuel because of the low price.

CORN IN ELEVEN STATES 1,530,000,000 BUSHELS

Husking returns indicate better yields of corn than were expected earlier in the season. The yield per acre of 20.6 bu is the smallest in recent years, comparing with 26.7 bu last year, and an average of 28.3 bu for the last ten years.

Production in the eleven large states that raised the surplus corn of the country, as indicated by the government report for November, aggregates 1,530,000,000 bu, an increase of 31,000,000 bu over October returns, while the total crop of the country of 2,094,000,000 bu increased 54,000,000 over October estimates.

As compared with last year, when the big states produced 1,868,000,000 bu, there is a decrease of 338,000,000 bu, and considered with the five year average the reduction is 401,000,000 bu. Iowa, the greatest corn producing state in the world, has 361,000,000, an increase of 17,000,000 bu last month and a reduction of 69,000,000 bu from last year, while the five year average of the state is 417,000,000 bu. Illinois, which has been the second largest corn state for years, has 231,000,000 bu, or the same as October, a loss from last year of 81,000,000 bu, 96,000,000 bu short of its five year average.

Nebraska has come to the front as a corn raiser with 235,000,000 bu, or 4,000,000 bu more than was estimated a month ago, and 3,000,000 bu below the final production of last year. At the same time, there is a gain of 21,000,000 bu over the five year average. Taking the crop in the states east of the Missouri river it is decidedly short from last year.

Kansas has fallen down 31,000,000 bu, while Texas increased 5,000,000 bu over last year and is 8,000,000 bu above the average. The south has a fair crop of corn. Detailed production in the eleven states, with the six ciphers omitted, follow:

WOODWARD PLAN ON KOLSTER CORP. IS RECOMMENDED

Wilmington, Del., Nov. 11.—(AP)—A recommendation that an offer for the Kolster Radio corporation, made by S. P. Woodward company, investment bankers of New York, be accepted has been approved by Chancellor Wolcott of the Delaware Court of Hancers.

Some time ago James R. Morford, a Wilmington attorney, was appointed receiver. Morford, in a report to the chancellor, recommended the bid of the Woodward company be accepted and it was this recommendation that the chancellor has approved.

The Woodward company, it was explained to the court, plans to form a new corporation and issue bonds to the extent of $4,500,000, which would be taken by the Woodward company, of this amount, three creditors of the Kolster corporation, to whom an aggregate of about $3,000,000 is owed, would receive bonds in that amount, so the capital invested by the New York banking concern would be approximately $1,500,000.

In addition, it was explained, stock would be issued to stockholders in the old Kolster corporation, common stockholders to receive one share of stock in the new corporation for every three shares of stock in the old firm and preferred stockholders of the old corporation to receive two shares of the new for one of the old.

Paramount Publix Votes Regular Didivend of $1

COTTON HAS GOOD ADVANCE

A strong and higher close followed a weak and lower opening in the New York cotton market yesterday. Chicago and New Orleans markets were closed and leading speculators turned their attention to New York. Liverpool was weaker and lower early, but recovered the loss to a great extent and closed fairly strong. The market in all gave a good account of itself, considering the uneasiness in the grain and stock markets, as closing trades were around the highest, with net gains of 12 to 14 points. KANSAS CORN CROP SHORT

Kansas raised 76,000,000 bu of corn this year, as compared with 107,000,000 bu last year. The five year average is 132,000,000 bu. The yield per acre of 12 bu compared with 17.5 bu last year and a ten year average of 21.1 bu. Only 65 per cent of the crop is merchantable. This is slightly higher than in 1923, when it was 63 per cent, but is much below the average. The low percentage of merchantable lowered the feeding value, there being much light and chaffy corn. Most of the crop will be fed on the farms where raised and a smaller percentage of the crop than usual will reach market channels. The carry-over of old corn from the 1929 crop is 5 per cent, or 3,304,000 bu, compared with 5 per cent in 1928, or 8,956,000 bu, and is less than the average. A shortage is shown in the production of grain sorghums with a crop of 18,600,000 bu, compared with 19,638,000 bu last year and 28,633,000 bu in 1928. The reduction is due largely to drought. The average yield per acre is 13 bu.

SHIP MINK, FOXES.

An express shipment of 70 pair of mink and 70 foxes was handled by the Northern Pacific on its Alaskan passenger train. They were shipped to Sweden by breeders at Spokane and were routed via Chicago and New York.

TAKE your FAMILY off its feet THIS WINTER

EVEN the stoutest shoe leather sometimes falls down on the job of keeping feet dry as they wade through winter slush! Many little feet arrive at school wet and numb with cold. Wives find shopping a painful ordeal. Walkers are targets for winter's fiercest assaults, and the surest victims of its viciousness.

Take your family off its feet this winter. Get a good utility car for them. Or let them have the family car, and use the second car yourself. Reduced wear and tear on the family car will soon pay for the second one.

Nowhere will you find it easier to get a good used car than among the hundreds advertised daily in Tribune Want Ads. You have Chicago's widest and best selection to pick from. All makes and models are listed. Prices fit every pocketbook. Turn now to the Want Ad Section and select the car that's going to keep winter hardships away from your family!

SURVEY LOOKS TO SPRING FOR TRADE UPTURN

Consumer Buying Is Faring Well.

BY O. A. MATHER.

If concrete indications of business improvement are lacking, at least it may be said that conditions are not becoming worse. And while nobody now tries to fix a definite date when recovery will really begin, still it is the consensus that at least a mild pickup will take place next spring. In general, this is the analysis presented in the current issue of the Chicago Tribune Survey.

"Business continues depressed, as it has been for months," the survey says. "The further declines in the stock market and the emphasis upon unemployment in the public press were symptomatic of a recognition of an already existing condition rather than a turn for the worse. Consumer buying has continued to make a better showing than industrial operations and this must eventually operate to bring about revival.

Recovery Seen Logical.

"Other periods of depression have not run beyond a year and a half. Since the present one is an old fashioned business depression in other respects, it is likely to be conventional in its termination. All things considered, the beginning of recovery by early spring seems a logical expectation.

"This is proving to be very much an off year in the automobile industry, whether considered from the standpoint of profits, sales or production. Curtailed production of cars and agricultural implements is responsible for a further decline in both steel operations and orders. Railroad purchases, however, have helped the steel output in the Chicago district.

"The third of the pillars of industry building construction—of which there has been little to report on favorably for several years—gives some indications that are moderately encouraging."

Freight Loadings Decline.

Yet such cheer was to be found in yesterday's news. Quiet trade conditions are reflected in the latest report of the movement of commodities by railroads. Loading of revenue freight for the week ended Nov. 1 totaled 934,640 cars, a decline of 24,-[illegible] from the preceding week and a decrease of 137,594 and 169,302 cars, respectively, from the corresponding weeks in 1929 and 1928. Miscellaneous freight fell 62,710 cars below a year ago and 68,746 cars below two years ago.

One of the weekly estimates on steel production placed it at just above 43 per cent of capacity last week, compared with slightly below 47 per cent in the preceding week and just under 51 per cent a fortnight ago. Output of the United States Steel corporation was estimated at 47 to 48 per cent, compared with above 52 per cent in the previous week, while independent operations were placed at 41 per cent, compared with 44 per cent in the preceding week. A year ago production also declined, but still stood around 73 per cent of capacity for the whole industry.

Cut Oil Production.

Recent general reductions in crude oil prices appear to be effective in curbing production. The daily average gross output last week totaled 2,-227,350 barrels, a decline of 65,800 barrels a day, according to the weekly summary of the American Petroleum Institute. Oklahoma production dropped 34,850 barrels a day and sizable declines occurred in several of the Texas fields. California production increased 1,350 barrels a day.

Refiners took less crude oil last week and operated at 63.8 per cent of capacity, compared with 64 per cent in the preceding week. Gasoline stocks declined 293,000 barrels, now standing at 27,612,000 barrels.

Commission Will Require Reductions in Grain Rates

Washington, Nov. 11.—(AP)—Notice was given today by the interstate commerce commission that it would require railroads to put in effect on Jan. 1 a general revision of rates on grain and grain products which are estimated to entail annual reductions of between $15,000,000 and $20,000,000 in freight charges on the total traffic.

The requirement will be made in spite of protests filed by western, eastern and southern carriers against the reductions and by some shipping interests against portions of the revisions contemplated. The original decision required the schedules to be made effective about Nov. 1, but postponement until Jan. 1 was allowed in view of the objections and the difficulties of preparing the new schedules.

There was seen, however, the possibility that the railroad protest against the reduction might be appealed directly to the courts. Responsible railroad officials were not in Washington today, however, to discuss the possibility.

Consider Rates Inadequate.

The decision was in general a reduction of rates but both increases and reductions of specific rates throughout the states west of the Mississippi river were ordered. In addition, rates to the east from the west were affected and nearly all the important railroads in the country have an interest in the controversy.

The western lines, in addition to the specific protests on the details of the new adjustment, recently notified the commission that rates in that territory were considered by them inadequate under the law. This action was considered significant in view of the influence of rate adjustments on earnings.

The last important reduction made by the commission, on California fruit, was invalidated by the Supreme court after appeal was taken there against the regulatory action.

URGES WHEAT PURCHASES.

Topeka, Kas., Nov. 11.—(AP)—Gov. Clyde M. Reed of Kansas today telegraphed President Hoover urging that the federal farm board make additional purchases of wheat in an effort to stabilize the market.

"Cooperative marketing organizations in Kansas report to me that the continued decline in wheat prices not only inflicts suffering upon individual grain producers, but is threatening stability of cooperative marketing organizations," said the governor's telegram, which also was addressed to Chairman Legge of the federal farm board.

"Present market price of wheat is insufficient in many cases to cover loans already made plus interest and carrying charges. To force sale of this wheat would further demoralize market as well as bankrupt the holders."

AGREE ON PLAN TO LIMIT WORLD COPPER OUTPUT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, ov. 11.—Negotiations which have been in progress for more than a week looking to an agreement among copper producers throughout the world to curtail output have resulted in accord, it was learned today. Further meetings of producers will be held, but only to complete details of the plan, the general terms of which already have been approved by the various parties to the agreement.

It is understood the plan provides for a further cut of approximately 20,000 tons a month in production. That would be a little more than 13 per cent of world output during September, as estimated by the American Bureau of Metal Statistics. Contributing to that curtailment would be African and Canadian producers, as well as those in the United States and South America. Up to the present time only curtailment production has been by American companies operating in this country and in South America. African and Canadian copper mines not only have not curtailed, but they actually have stepped up output this year.

A further provision of the curtailment plan stipulates that customs refining companies shall abandon use of the copper price quotation of the Engineering and Mining Journal as the official market to govern their purchases of copper from small copper producers.

EXTRA DIVIDEND OF $1 IS VOTED BY JEWEL TEA

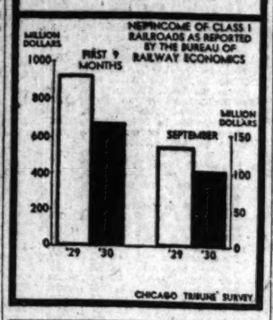
New York, Nov. 11. — Directors of Jewel Tea company today declared an extra dividend of $1 in addition to the regular quarterly disbursement of 75 cents on the common stock. A similar extra was paid June 16, last. A statement by the company said the extra dividend was declared "in accordance with the policy of the board to pay extra dividends when earned, but only when earned."

Directors of the Canadian Pacific railway declared an initial quarterly dividend of 62½ cents on the new common stock, which recently was split four for one. The action places the new stock on a $2.50 annual basis, which is equal to the $10 anually paid on the old stock.

Directors of Industrial Rayon corporation declared an initial quarterly dividend of $1 a share, payable Jan. 31 to stock of record Dec. 18, placing the stock on a $4 annual basis. Hiram Rivitz, president, said that with the ascertained earnings for nine months and estimating the last quarter the earnings will approximate $9 a share for 1930.

The New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad earned 90 cents a share on its common stock in October and $5.55 a common share in the first ten months of 1930, J. J. Pelley, president, said at the directors' meeting in New Haven today. The ten months' net was within 15 per cent of covering the common dividend for the year.

SEPTEMBER INCOME OF THE RAILROADS WAS OFF ABOUT ONE-QUARTER FROM A YEAR AGO



LEGGE AT CAPITAL; CONFIRMS REPORT HE WISHES TO RETIRE

Washington, D. C., Nov. 11.—[Special.]—Chairman Alexander Legge of the federal farm board, returning to Washington from Chicago today, confirmed reports that he wished to retire from the farm board and return to private business. He said, however, that he was undecided as to the date of his resignation.

"It will not be next week or next month," Mr. Legge said, but declined to be more specific. It is known that President Hoover wishes the chairman to retain his post at least as long as next June.

Mr. Legge's first term as farm board chairman expired last June 15 and he was promptly reappointed to a full six year term. It was understood then, however, that he should be released whenever it was felt the board's program was firmly established.

New York Reserve Banks Issue Weekly Statement

New York, Nov. 11.—(AP)—The weekly condition statement of reporting federal reserve member banks showed a gain of $24,000,000 in loans against securities. Although this report was for the week ended Nov. 5, it again failed to bear out the theory held for several weeks in some quarters that selling represented heavy liquidation of imparted collateral loans. Of the total reduction of $187,000,000 in member banks loans on securities in the last month $155,000,000 was in New York and Boston alone and apparently represented reduction in loans to brokers rather than to individual borrowers.

Directors Vote Merger of Office Appliance Firms

Consolidation of the Addressograph International corporation and the American Multigraph company, two of the oldest firms in the office appliance field, has been approved by directors of both concerns. All that remains to give final approval of the merger plan is ratification by Multigraph stockholders who will meet Nov. 25.

Terms of the merger which will be carried out through an exchange of stock will be announced later. Capitalization of the new company will consist of one issue of no par common stock of which 760,000 shares will be outstanding. The present capitalization of the Addressograph company consists of 750,000 shares of no par common stock of which 520,000 shares are outstanding.

Will List Shares.

Application will be made to the New York Stock Exchange to list the additional shares necessary to complete the consolidation. Addressograph shares are now listed on the New York and Chicago stock exchanges.

The companies have no funded debt and the only preferred stock consists of $420,000 against two of the subsidiary companies. Frank H. Woods, chairman of Addressograph International, will become chairman of the new company. Henry C. Osborn, president of American Multigraph, will be chairman of the executive committee and J. E. Rogers, president of Addressograph International, will be president.

New Firm's Subsidiaries.

Subsidiaries of the new organization will be the Addressograph company, Chicago; American Multigraph company, Cleveland, O.; the Speedaumat Manufacturing company, Chicago; Addressograph company, Ltd., Toronto, Ont.; Multigraph Sales, Ltd., Toronto and Montreal; Addressograph, Ltd., London; International Multigraph company [British], Ltd., London; Addressograph G. M. B. H., Berlin; Deutsche Multigraph Gesellschaft, M. B. H., Berlin; Addressograph S. A., Paris; and the International Multigraph company, Paris.

UTILITY SHARES STAGE RALLY IN CURB TRADING

Some of the oils and industrials also made fair recovery, but the lightly traded issues were again irregularly lower. The day's turnover aggregated 804,800 shares.

American Gas and Electric recovered 5 points. Electric Bond and Share closed 2 higher. Insull Utility Investment gained 2 points in active trading, but Middle West closed off ⅛, and Midland Utilities lost 3 in a small turnover. Associated Gas A recovered about 2 points, and United Light A 1 point. American Superpower gained ⅛ in active trading. In the high priced group, Commonwealth Edison rallied 6 and Duke Power 10 in a few transactions.

In the oils, Cities Service moved up more than a point, closing at 18⅛. The preferred gained 2½. Arkansas Natural Gas A, controlled by Cities Service, also gained a point. Humble Oil and Vacuum gained about 2 points, and the Standards generally were firm. Nebraska lost 3 in a light turnover, but Ohio gained as much, and Indiana, after touching a new low at 35⅛, closed at 36¾, up ⅜ net.

RAIL GROUP TO DISCUSS MOTOR BUS PROBLEMS

Problems growing out of the development of motor bus and motor truck operation and operation of such services by railroads as a supplement to their regular mail service, will be the chief points for consideration at the third annual meeting of the motor transport division of the American Railway association which convened yesterday at the Stevens hotel.

In opening the discussion A. P. Russell, executive vice president of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad and chairman of the motor transport division, told the members that in the last ten years railroads have lost 40 per cent in gross passenger returns.

Pan-American's Lease on Gov't Land Is Held Valid

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 11.—(AP)—The lease of the Pan-American Petroleum company to 460 acres in the United States oil reserve No. 1, in Kern county California, which the government claimed had been obtained by fraud, has been held valid by Federal Judge Frank H. Norcross of Nevada. The decision, pending nearly nine months, following trial of the government's allegations, declared fraud had not entered into the transaction.

The case was an outgrowth of the oil scandals of the Harding administration, involving Edward L. Doheny, oil magnate, and Albert B. Fall, former secretary of the interior. At the time the lease was consummated Pan-American was operated by Doheny, but later was sold to the Richfield Oil company of California. The land involved is valued at about $10,000,000 and is in one of the greatest potential oil development sections of California.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 11.—Something that had all the earmarks of a well timed armistice with the shorts developed in the late dealings on the New York Stock Exchange today and set prices bubbling briskly toward higher levels.

Gains among the more susceptible issues ran as high as 6 or 7 points on the day and were sufficient in many instances to wipe out yesterday's losses.

Virtually all the recognized leaders were up in front on the rally. United States Steel from an early low of 139¾ rebounded to 142¾ and then eased to a final of 141¼, leaving it with a net advance of more than a point. American Can, down to 109¼ in the forenoon, recovered to 112½ and then settled back to 111¼, up 1⅝ on the day. Westinghouse atoned for a low of 96⅝ by swinging back across the 100 mark and then dropping anew to 98¼, up 2 points. And so on through the list, the closing figures being generally on the plus side of the column by a goodly margin but also a little below the highwater marks of the rally. Which means that some of the promoters of the sprint evidently gave way to a little caution toward the last, allowing the movement to slow up.

Prices Back and Fill.

The belated display of strength came as the climax to a day devoted very largely to backing and filling operations, recurrent waves of selling interrupting every forward movement that developed. The result was that

The INVISIBLE Hired Man

ELECTRIC POWER on the farm is a gigantic man of all work—a skilled jack-of-all-trades who never tires nor sleeps. The new hired man can work everywhere at once, and illuminates the jobs at dawn, dusk or dark.

It is at once a farmyard tool and an accessory of better homes.

More than two hundred different farm tasks are now performed by electric power, and other jobs are being found for the new hired man by the concerted efforts of farmers, rural service executives of power companies and agricultural engineers of state colleges and universities—teachers who know more of overalls than academic gowns.

The invisible hired man is of even greater assistance to the farm wife and mother than to the farmer and his boy. Over half the current used is applied to kitchen, laundry and household cleaning—essential functions of the farm business, a business which remains a household enterprise at the core, no matter how great the acreage about the farmstead.

The farmer knows nothing of those sharp distinctions of production and consumption and income and expenditures which divide the office, shop and mill from the home in the city man's thinking. On the farm the kitchen range is productive capital, quite as much as a team of horses or a hayrake.

Notwithstanding the expense of building and maintaining distribution lines to scattered farms, the electric hired man works cheaply, once he is on the job and the motors and appliances are provided.

A nickel's worth of current on some farms will milk ten cows; separate 1,400 pounds of milk and cream; churn 20 pounds of butter; sharpen an ax on the grindstone six times; pump two days' supply of water; run an electric sewing-machine five hours or do two big family washings.

Although the American farm is highly powered in the field, modern engineering did little for the women of the farm until electric power came into farm life. For every hour of work performed on farms by engines or horses, even now three hours of man and woman power are required. It is in that two-thirds of farm work that electric power can be used to substitute for human labor.

Provision of power supply to small communities and to rural America on a scale equivalent to the service available in the great metropolitan centers is the achievement and responsibility of the Middle West Utilities System, a group of electric companies furnishing service to more than four thousand communities and to more than fifty thousand farms in thirty states.

The history of empowered agriculture in American industrial development is fully discussed in the booklet, "HARVESTS AND HIGHLINES," which the Middle West Utilities Company (20 North Wacker Drive, Chicago, Illinois) will send upon request.

SNOW
By Ednah Aiken

SYNOPSIS.

King, known as "the wild boy of Harvard," must wait several years before receiving the principal of the fortune left by his father, Joshua George, of chewing gum fame. Before the honeymoon is over Sheila discovers her husband is a drug addict. She decides to fight for his regeneration. A federal narcotic agent suggests a program. Sheila rigidly adhered to would effect a cure.

King promised Sheila to go with her to Alaska, after the races at Tia Juana, where he rode his favorite horse, Wind. Sheila plans to kidnap King and take him to a desert spot, there to help him fight off his baneful habit. Jim Molloy is living in Nome and promises to help her. At breakfast in Jim's cabin, King's coffee is drugged and Sheila and Jim carry him off unconscious to a cabin not far from Nome, although seemingly in the heart of the frozen wilderness. Jim leaves them his servants, an Eskimo couple, and returns at once to Nome. When King regains consciousness and learns he is marooned for the next eight months his fury breaks in verbal abuse on Sheila, accusing her of wanting to get him out of the way. He tries to bribe Hi-Jack, the Eskimo servant, to go to Nome for him. Failing in this he leaves the cabin, attempting to escape to Nome.

SEARCHING THE WHITE WILDERNESS.

Several minutes were wasted trying to decipher the Eskimo's gestures. And then it dawned on Sheila they were asking what she wanted of them. King had wanted them out of the way; he had said the Big Boss had sent for them!

O, why hadn't she told the Eskimo to secrete the snowshoes! Instinct told her they were that instant bearing King toward the frozen river. Her gestures of alarm carried comprehension to Happy Jack, and immediately on entering his cabin of forbidding smells he trotted to a wall wherein were fastened two nails—untenanted nails. He stared at them in dismay. The snowshoes had been taken. He had failed the Big Boss.

Without at first understanding his purpose, she watched him assembling simple paraphernalia: a saw; an auger; some walrus thongs, which Casino explained was called babiche. "Him make shoes; catch him quick." What had appeared to be a table was being stripped of its coverings; the box had once contained cream tins, for its label bore a landscape wherein moved contented cows. Brown fingers began to extricate the nails holding it together.

Impatiently she watched him. Already, if skillful, King could be well on his way to the river; he might even now be crossing it. Distractingly slow, the native hands were pulling away the wider strips of the cream case, and with infinite measuring them, and measuring the strips of babiche. Must he go in fashion snowshoes while King was making headway towards Nome, or worse, was fleeing in the opposite direction? But the Eskimo waved her down when she tried to hurry him. Tingling with anxiety, she had to stand and watch him.

No, she would keep on saying when, not if ——.

She tried to reason herself into composure. It was true the weather was on King's side, but this calm might not endure; any moment the threat of yesterday might be fulfilled. Three feet of snow lay on the ground, and it did not had a bite like a burn. She dared not force Happy Jack to stop working—for so to the tenderfoot it seemed—and make him go, handicapped as she the man whose tracks toward the whitened tundra looked compasswise as far as eye could follow. Unless his instinct of orientation were secure, he would make false starts; the Eskimo, moreover, would be fleet, once started.

Her impatience, she could see, was impeding his motions; his fingers bungled. Leaving his side, she went to the small window looking out on the tundra, and wiped the film from the pane. Steady and straight the light tracks of the snowshoes bore, speeding toward the west. Perhaps as a boy, in Switzerland, King had acquired control of those Mercury wings. If the calm persisted he might make his way to Nome.

She essayed dramatising gestures of inquiry, demanding of a puzzled Eskimo if the river would be solid enough yet to make the crossing safe. But her questions intrigued also Happy Jack, delaying the work of his fingers, so she abandoned the effort. She must watch with resignation the labor of the clumsy hands which had never been taught haste. She must affirm! Yes, the last time would be made up once the crude, frail snowshoes were completed.

Crouching on the floor at the feet of her spouse, Casino began to remove his mukluks, and to encase the stubby feet in moccasins. Sheila recalled having been told that snowshoes and mukluks make poor traveling companions. Perhaps King, the poor Chechako, did not know that? He was wearing mukluks when he left the cabin, and there was no sign of them here.

The last knot was being tied in the babiche; the absurd wings were ready for flight. Happy Jack was again arraying himself in parka and hood and mitts, waiting, she saw, to reach the open before fastening on the cream case stripe—for they were little else—by the thongs of walrus to his moccasined feet.

"Come back soon; sick man," he stated, as Casino opened the door.

Gratefully, Sheila left the room of foul odors, the scent of stale fish and seal oil clinging to her garments when one might have thought the sharp winds of the canon should have washed them clean. Together, the white woman and the brown plodded back to the master cabin, turning often to watch with misgivings the progress of the frail snowshoes over the whitened tundra. Casino's few words were reassuring. "Come back soon," she echoed when her mistress would halt to survey the hostile land which lay outside the canon.

Sheila's cabin, after the one she had just left, was an abode of luxury and fragrance. She went at once to the box of pine incense on the mantel and started a small cone burning; soon she had Casino restoring the fires and making coffee for the travelers' return. The room would seem sweet and warm. No, she would keep on saying when, not if. . . .

Once again she debated searching her husband's possessions; to destroy what she knew those bags contained would abridge their struggle and his misery. But even then she could not. It was still impossible for her to think of King as one possessed, before whom the principles of respect and courtesy may be suspended.

Now would she drug herself by turning on the radio. Her ear had to be ready to pick up a halloo from whence the two men might even now be floundering. Twice her fingers opened the box on the table; twice she replaced a cigaret. The tin box by King's bed had been emptied of the chocolates; she would not open another until he could share it. The cake chocolate and the almonds had been dug into—scattered fragments were found on the bread board. That was what King was up to when she had heard him tiptoeing about that morning.

Once she thought she heard a call, and ran to the door, the wind tearing it from her hand and flinging it wide open. The storm was fully ripened. A packed snow drift tumbled into the room; magazines and papers were blown about. Casino came to her aid, and the door was firmly bolted again. For the first time, an expression of concern animated the brown face. Casino did not like the wind.

Something else had come in with the gale. What Sheila thought a paper ball was discovered to be alive; a shy, tremulous ermine whose newly bleached coat might preserve it against winter perils. The white furred, bright eyed little creature now perched on the arm of the chair lately abandoned by Sheila, shivering before these strange, hostile beings. The Chechako was crooning of Mary Cameron's white knitted baby. Such a tiny, soft visitor, this, which had run in from the storm!

It was now no mere threat of stern weather. The wind was beating against windows and chimneys, and the white woman discovered with dismay that the twilight was falling. And the day barely begun!

The white ermine was a welcome distraction. She tried in vain to lure it to her. "Suppose you warm some milk for it, Casino?" But the canny woman of the north shook her head. She got into her furs, and again the door was opened; this time it was more easily closed, from the outside.

A few minutes later, she returned, bearing from the ice cellar the meat for the midday dinner. She cut off, carefully, a square inch of cow flesh, shredding it into bits and scattering them about the floor. Soon they were being fruitily devoured, but the next time the door was open—for men who were not there—the ermine scuttled away into the white darkness.

Squatting by the open fire, Casino kept feeding it segments of old railroad rug. Again and again, her mistress wiped the film from the window, certain that the bellowing of the wind was a human signal. On the way back to her chair she would find herself opening the box on the table. A weakling, Sheila Fay! Letting a newly formed habit enslave her, a . . .

Trained Nurse Rates Reduced, Doctors Report

Care of Sick Made Cheaper for Chicagoans.

Under a new plan announced last night by the Chicago Medical society, the services of trained nurses now may be obtained for 20 hours at a cost of but one dollar more than the prices charged for 12 hours. The rate will be $8 for 20 hour duty. The present rate of $7 for 12 hours' duty remains as at present.

The plan also makes available practical nursing and undergraduate nursing service at one-third less cost than graduate service. Hourly nursing service will be obtainable at a flat rate of $2 for the first hour and $1 for each hour thereafter where the family physician believes this will be sufficient.

This new service is available through the nurses' registry of the medical society, according to Dr. John J. Pflock, chairman of the nurses' registry committee of the society. He declared in a report to the council of the society that a reduction in the cost of medical care was becoming an important element in Chicago's health service.

"During this period of financial depression, some of the largest and most highly rated hospitals in the city have made use of our registry service," Dr. Pflock reported. "It is becoming an even more important element of Chicago's health service, due to economic pressure from the side of the patient, and coöperation on the part of medical staffs, to reduce the cost of medical care.

"Financial stringency is showing noticeably in the average length of service nurses are being asked to give on cases, the public being disposed to cut the time to the bare minimum of safety ranging from a few days in less complicated cases to two weeks in more serious cases. More cases are now being taken care of by relatives and neighbors than at any time in the last ten years."

The situation, Dr. Pflock said, requires the selection of nurses with the greatest care. Already 60 per cent of the demand is for 20 hour service, and only nurses who exemplify the highest standards are suitable for this, he said.

BILLIONS INVESTED IN HOSPITALS, SAYS ECONOMISTS' SURVEY

Hospitals as a leading industry following only behind iron, steel, textile, chemical, and food industries, is revealed in a book, "The Public's Investment in Hospitals," by Dr. C. R. Rorem.

Dr. Rorem is an economist on the staff of the University of Chicago, and now a member of the committee which is making a five year study of the costs of medical care.

The book, the first national study of hospitals from a financial standpoint, will be issued by the University Press today. As the total hospital investment in this country in 1928 the book gives over $3,100,000,000. Ninety-one per cent of that has been provided by the general public, without expectation of repayment or financial return, the author says.

Government authorities and non-profit associations share about equally in the huge sum invested in hospitals, the book states. Only 9 per cent of the hospital capital being administered by the so-called proprietary hospitals, run for profit.

Hospitals under government auspices, state and national, account for more than 90 per cent of the capital invested in the care of patients with nervous and mental diseases.

New capital investment is being devoted to enlargement and improvement of existing hospitals rather than to building new ones, Dr. Rorem declares. Measurement of hospital costs by use of a single unit of activities such as the cost of a "patient day of care," is fallacious, because it fails, he says, to take into consideration the complexities of a modern hospital, which include such activities as medical education and research and out-patient care.

MARY M'CORMIC SINGS 'MADAME BUTTERFLY'; DEBUT FOR COLCAIRE

BY EDWARD MOORE.

"Mme. Butterfly," at the Civic Opera house last night, introduced Mary McCormic in her first Chicago appearance in the title rôle and Oscar Colcaire as Pinkerton in his first Chicago appearance in any rôle. Otherwise the cast bore resemblance to other seasons, Irene Pavloska as just about the best Suzuki on record, Giacomo Rimini as just about the best Sharpless on record, together with Octave Dua, who has returned after a considerable interval, and who played Goro with a makeup like a marvelous Japanese mask and made the part vocally and dramatically credible besides.

The first thing noticed about Miss McCormic was that she sang her part in French, while the others stucle to the original Italian. This proves, if it proves anything, that opera should always be done in any language as long as it is not English. For opera, when it is sung in English, always loses a certain subtle, evanescent charm. Any one who has the interests of opera at heart will tell you so.

Other items of Miss McCormic's performance record that she wore some gorgeous costumes, struck some striking poses, and sang in an unusually fine voice, which, after the first few moments of facing the audience, became effective and in the high dramatic moments thrilling.

Mr. Colcaire would seem destined to become a useful, not to say important, member of the Civic Opera company. His voice is not the most powerful one in the company, and that, in the light of his first performance, is apparently the worst thing that can be said about him. For his voice is of excellent quality, he uses it both discreetly and expressively, and he has a free and engaging stage manner. He is going to be worth watching.

Most of the Chicago Symphony orchestra program yesterday afternoon was an example of how well this brilliant organization can play music that comes up so often that it is part of the regular routine. Beethoven's Eighth symphony, for example, is played nearly every year. The overture to Wolf-Ferrari's "The Secret of Susanne" is another item of frequent hearing, and so, in the subscription series or the popular concerts, is the Glasounow waltz in F and the prelude to Saint-Saëns' "The Deluge." Probably Ravel's Bolero and Hermann Hans Wetzler's "Symphonic Dance in Basque Style" will be so when they get old enough.

Yet the men of the orchestra played them all in as fervent and interested a manner as though they were novelties.

China's Envoy Cites Example of His Nation

Peaceful, So Prey of the Others, He Says.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 11.—[Special.]—Ambassador C. C. Wu of China today introduced several disquieting topics into the Good Will congress of the World Alliance for International Friendship Through the Churches.

"The same agencies of fear and greed are working just as effectively as ever to create another great war," Ambassador Wu said:

The diplomat cited what happened a century ago to China as an example of a nation "devoted to peace and unprepared for war."

"She was helpless before the engines of destruction of the west and had to sign away rights which impinge upon her sovereignty," the ambassador added. "This is a gloomy example to bring before a peace congress, but that was China's humiliating and tragic experience, nevertheless."

The envoy touched upon the question of aggrieved and aggressor nations. For, he said, war may issue from a nation's rebellion against what it considers oppression by other nations.

"Any grievance felt by a considerable number of human beings is bound to engender ill will and friction, whether inter-racial or international. That grievance will contribute to the sum of discontent and unrest in the world, frequently a dangerous thing," he declared. "China has been patiently asking the western nations to relinquish rights and privileges which now have become anachronisms. America is strong enough to fear none, rich enough to covet nothing, and I hope is wise enough to remove such injustices and grievances as she may find to be well founded."

Hiring of 5 Actors Brings Mob to Gotham Theater

New York, Nov. 11.—(AP)—Worthington Miner, director of A. H. Wood's forthcoming play, "The Five Star Final," reached the Eltinge theater today to find a full fledged mob scene awaiting him. At least 2,000 actors, actresses, and would be performers were there in person—looking for jobs. Last night Miner engaged five actors for the new play. The fortunate five told their friends and the crowd of job seekers was the result. Two policemen were stationed at the theater for the rest of the day to prevent another crowd gathering.

Generals Will Retire at 70 Years of Age in Salvation Army

LONDON, Nov. 11. — Commander Evangeline Booth, American leader, won two resounding victories today in the conference of Salvation Army commissioners here in an attempt to reform the army's constitution.

Her first triumph was the adoption of a resolution that the general of the army could retire at the age of 70. Since the present general, Edward J. Higgins, already is 67 years old, this would mean that in three years a new leader would have to be chosen. Gen. Higgins still has the power to appoint his successor, but if the proposed reforms are accomplished the new general will be elected by a high council to be summoned some time in 1932.

The second victory for the American leader was the decision that a woman general should also be retired at the age of 70, instead of at 65 years, which is now the retirement age for all women officers. It is obvious this resolution will be of immense significance when the new general is being elected, especially if Commander Evangeline Booth is nominated for the highest office in the army.

In both instances today it was her personal power and oratory which turned the scales for Commander Booth's reforms. Gen. Higgins, however, was by no means opposed to them. It is understood he agreed to the 70 year age limit, although Commissioner Catherine Booth, daughter of the late Gen. Bramwell Booth, made a determined fight for a higher retirement age.

Push Local Campaign.

A special meeting of workers in the 1930 home service charity appeal for the Salvation Army has been called for today by George F. Nixon, general chairman of the campaign to find a way to complete raising the $379,491 budget. Mr. Nixon said yesterday that he feared the fund will fall short of its goal unless something is done immediately.

"Never before in the history of the Army have demands been so great. The collections to date lack $137,906 of the amount needed to continue the regular relief work for the next fiscal year," he said.

Adjt. Warren Stanton, in charge of family relief, reported yesterday that over 300 new cases of dire need have appealed for help since Nov. 1. Although the department is working night and day, he said, relief can be given only so far as the people of Chicago put the means at the disposal of the Salvation Army.

BY CHARLES COLLINS.

WHEN "Hotel Universe" was staged by the Theater Guild in New York it was received with divided opinion. One camp of reviewers was struck with awe and admiration and stood murmuring in esthetic ecstasy: "Magic! Magic! Magic!" The other half of the tribe was withered up with boredom and fled from the spectacle hissing bitterly: "Muddle! Muddle! Muddle!"

I fear there will be a similar division of ideas in Chicago upon the occasion of the play's production at the Goodman theater. At any rate, I, for one, will separate myself from the usual hallelujah chorus that chants hymns of praise for the deeds of the Goodman. For my enthusiasms in that direction "Hotel Universe" is a strong dose of cyanide.

I find Mr. Barry's work, although attractively mounted and fairly well acted, a horrible example of what can happen to bright young modernists of the drama when they indulge in the dope of psycho-analysis. It is dull; it is dithering; it is occasionally [when Mr. Barry indulges in his habit of writing comedy like an understudy of Robert Benchley at a studio party] grotesque and ridiculous. It contains the most pretentious cargo of psychological prunes that was ever unloaded upon a stage.

The characters in "Hotel Universe" are a group of young Americans, assembled together for joyance in a villa overlooking the Mediterranean, who are unanimously in favor of going over to the morgue and giving themselves up. They don't know what is the matter with them, but they sound as if they had been reading Hemingway's "The Sun Also Rises" and decided to form a suicide club. Their souls are biting them viciously. Once in a while a pair of the brighter boys, to shake themselves out of their jitters, will say, "Let's pretend we are little Bobby Benchleys," and do an impromptu vaudeville sketch.

Then the old gentleman of the house, who is a kind of Einstein gone mildly daffy, comes out and reads their minds. He is one of those strange, uncanny characters who come to the surface of mystical plays to transform the destinies of the others. Upon meeting Prof. Einstein, who talks charmingly about the infinite and the future life, each of the prune-filled pessimists is stricken with memories of his or her lost youth. The old gentleman is a priest to one, a father to another, a Jewish rug dealer to a third—and so on. They dither through their trances with him; he talks back consolingly, and so their infected complexes are healed and their contemplated self-slaughters are indefinitely postponed.

All of which seems something like a play, in the synopsis. But as written in Mr. Barry's affected and evasive dialogue it sounds like a depressed hang-over from a Freudian debauch. "Hotel Universe" is the most tedious and ineffectual job of soul-groping that I have ever seen on the stage.

"No intermissions" was Mr. Barry's stern dictum about the performance of this hallucinated clinic of the unconscious. Perhaps he felt that the business of soul-probing according to the latest books on the subject was too serious to be interrupted. Or perhaps he knew that the play has no climaxes. At any date, you have to take the proceedings of the frustrated suicide club in one sitting, and every so often you probably will have a strong desire to stand up and scream. The show runs for two hours, after which you feel that you have given to modernism the last full measure of devotion.

Butler Davenport, a new member of the company, plays Prof. Einstein in meditative age with fine effect. He is as smooth and gentle as old velvet. The Goodman should find him a valuable addition to its acting staff. The others are good enough; and the single stage setting, a decorative design, reveals again Mr. Osborne's artistry in lights and atmospheric detail.

Experts Finish Report for Coming Hoover Session.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 11.—(AP)—Adaptation of child play to the industrial age was urged today in the report of Henry Breckenridge. He is chairman of the physical education committee that has prepared its findings for the coming White House conference on children's health.

Declaring more than half the population already is urban, the committee said:

"In two short generations great masses have changed from an open life of big muscled activity to the indoor life of concentrated, little muscle activity. Free movement in the outdoors has become the exception, not the rule."

Boys and girls of today were described as living in an age of industrialization and machine labor, passing from the country and crowding into large cities, specialization and increased leisure.

A program of play was pronounced imperative to enable young people to meet life's problems "with clear vision and strong purpose" an age representing the "paradox" of auto, airplane, and radio luxury, contrasted with poverty, unemployment, and overcrowded jails.

Portable playgrounds, itinerant play leaders, the "tot lot" for the toddlers, play equipment in hotels and aboard steamships were among the modern suggestions.

However, the child's "own home yard" came to the top of the list when a vote was taken among experts as to the best spot for play. And those old home standbys—spoons, spools, clothespins, boxes, and bottles were officially endorsed for creating manipulative skills in pre-school children.

After graduating from the myriad scientific baby books of early infancy, before reaching the well planned play of kindergarten, American children found to be in greatest need of attention from the child experts to confer here next week.

"The average pre-school child is practically ignored as a social unit," the committee found.

Research, education of leaders, and authoritative data on play places, play materials, play leadership for the children were recommended.

Rural children were also found lacking in play facilities. Semi-public agencies, such as Y. M. C. A., community clubs, and churches were found to be supplying physical education facilities to 11,196,735 children from 5 to 18 years of age. City public recreation systems supplied another three million. The committee urged more recreational use of public buildings.

W. J. Bryan's Grandson Here in Shakespeare Roles

John Bryan, a grandson of the late William Jennings Bryan, apparently has sidestepped a political career in favor of the theater. Chicagoans attending Fritz Leiber's Shakespearian productions at the Civic theater probably do not know that the John Bryan playing minor parts is the orator's grandson. Young Bryan is a son of Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen, congresswoman from Florida, by a former marriage. Born as John Bryan Leavitt, the boy was later adopted by the Bryans and called John Bryan.

MOVIE CLOSE-UP

On Saturday the State-Lake will project, on a screen especially erected for that purpose, "Danger Lights," the first "third dimension" screen drama, having depth as well as height and width, made for public showing. The inventors of the process are George K. Spoor of Essanay and John P. Berggen. Both are Chicagoans who have their laboratories here. Niagara Falls was successfully photographed by this process some years ago, but it [illegible]ly recently that the invention reached a point at which it was deemed available for practical use.

African Ruler Gives Sword and Shield to Hoover's Special Envoy

ADDIS ABABA, Abyssinia, Nov. 11.—(AP)—Beautiful and picturesque gifts, symbolical of Africa, were presented to the American representatives at his coronation by Emperor Haile Selassie just before their departure from the capital for Djibuti.

The emperor presented R. Murray Jacoby, special ambassador from President Hoover, with a magnificent silver and gold encrusted Abyssinian sword and a hippopotamus hide shield embellished in gold.

Mrs. Jacoby was presented with a beautiful hand woven Ethiopian national costume trimmed in gold and set of superb bracelets, anklets, and necklace to match.

Brig. Gen. William W. Harts was given a silver embossed hippopotamus hide shield and Charles L. Cooke, secretary to the special mission, was presented with a long steel sword and scabbard.

Addison E. Southard, United States minister resident at Addis Ababa, received the most gorgeous gift of all—a marvelous Ethiopian warrior's costume, a lion skin with a magnificent helmet of lions' manes, and a silver mounted lance.

The emperor today expressed to Mr. Southard deep appreciation for the help received from the United States in making the coronation a success. As a special mark of his gratitude for Mr. Southard's personal assistance, the monarch conferred upon the minister the grand cross of Haile Selassie I., which is the highest decoration ever conferred upon any foreign diplomat here.

New Yorker Buys Part of Boswell's Johnson Script

New York, Nov. 11.—(AP)—Col. Ralph Heyward Isham, New York banker and bibliophile, announced today he had purchased 107 pages of the original manuscript of Boswell's "Life of Samuel Johnson," and all of the original manuscript of Boswell's "The Journal of a Tour to the Hebrides."

Col. Isham said he obtained the papers, now on the way to America, from Lord Talbot de Malahide, a descendant of Johnson's biographer.

Mr. and Mrs. William J. Groves of 6456 Magnolia avenue announce the engagement of their daughter, Regina, to Richard Glassbrook Finn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard J. Finn of 6708 Newgard avenue. Miss Groves and Mr. Finn attended the University of Illinois, where she was a member of Theta Phi Alpha sorority and he of Phi Kappa fraternity.

Plans for Thrift Sale.

Donations ranging from a mimeograph machine to the latest Paris gowns will be on sale at the Woman's City club's thrift sale next Tuesday and Wednesday, Nov. 18 and 19. Used and new clothing will also be received to be distributed through authorized agencies. Mrs. Marcus A. Hirschl is chairman of the sale.

Talkies on Wane, Movie Official Says; "More Personality"

Philadelphia, Nov. 11.—(AP)—The old fashioned movies most likely will supplant the talkies before long, Sidney R. Kent, vice president and general manager of Paramount-Publix today told the annual convention of the motion picture theater owners of America.

"The big factor of pictures of the future," he said, "is the story and the personality of the actors. You are going to see personalities come back to their own. Those who survived sound are going to come back stronger than ever. Others, to whom sound was a detriment will be out of the pictures.

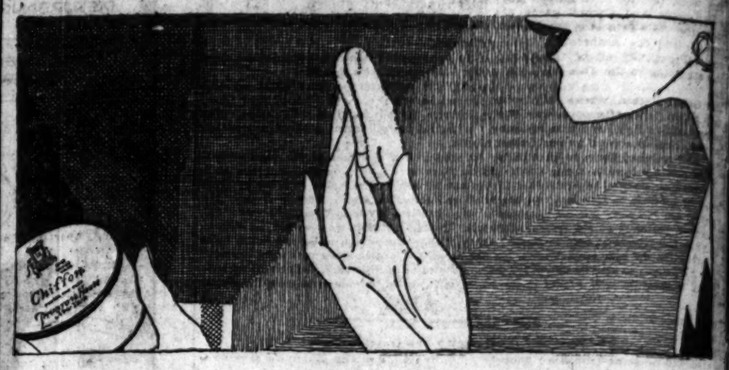
AND THE SOPHISTICATE CHOOSES PRIMROSE BEIGE



Your skin is darkest in the fall and if you would have that natural finish, never use a very light powder unless you want to imitate the leopard. Light shades make the skin spotty. Extra dark powder ages and hardens the face. The ideal powder blends with the skin itself, bringing out all the natural light and color. It is so dreamily light in texture that it actually becomes a part of the skin. It never cakes or clogs but it clings beautifully. A luxury? Perhaps. But you can easily prove its worth by trying a dollar's worth of this $3 powder.
At all better class drug and department stores, in boxes, $1 and $3. Primrose House, 595 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

Society Girls Going East to College Games

BY THALIA

There are to be sizable pilgrimages of society folk eastward, both during the coming week-end and that following for the eastern football games. This week the star attractions are the Dartmouth and Cornell game at Ithaca, the Yale-Princeton game at Princeton, and the Amherst-Williams game at Amherst. Practically all of the debutantes are going to the Yale-Princeton game.

Miss Olivia Watson, whose debut tea is taking place this afternoon, departs this morning and will attend that game with Katrina McCormick, later she is to go to Boston for some festivities to be given there by her aunt, Mrs. Homer Watson.

Other debutantes who are going to the game, which is more than usually interesting for Chicago because Donald McLennan Jr. is playing it, include the latter's sister, Margaret McLennan, who will look at Smith college after the gay week-end she and Catherine Carton had here; Constance Hasler, Josephine Ryan, Betty Offield, Caroline Smith, Virginia Wheeler, Virginia Waller, Mary Connell, and Corinne Brewer, who also will do some trousseau shopping while she is in New York.

The Yale-Harvard game at New Haven on Saturday, the 22d, will be attended by even more Chicagoans, many of them graduates of recent years. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas C. Denby Jr. and the Clarence F. Mitchells are going down together and will be amongst the Yale cheerers. Also rooting for the Eli men will be Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Williams Jr., the George D. McLaughlins, the junior Bob Robbins, and the Billy Pullmans.

The third of the series of talks on the modern in art being sponsored by the League of Women Voters will be given by Frederic H. Bartlett at the latter club this morning. Mr. Bartlett is one of the city's foremost patrons of modern art. The club galleries are filled with Renoir paintings to illustrate his answers to the questions, "What is modern painting all about? Is it any possible sense or reason?"

After the talk there will be many luncheon parties, hostesses for which include Mrs. A. A. Carpenter, Mrs. Fred Jutson, Mrs. Howard Linn, Miss Ann Morgan, who is to have among her guests Thornton Wilder; Mrs. Harry Nelson, Mrs. Clair E. More, Mrs. George Throop, and Mrs. H. P. Isham.

Today's debutante is Miss Ghita Caney, whose mother, Mrs. Walter Caney, will be hostess to present her at a reception at the Wolf apartment at 3:00 this afternoon. The other debutantes will include Elsa Alsdorf, Caroline Smith, Hortense Gilbert, Ruth Crossett, Geraldine Swift, Nancy Ashcroft, Elizabeth Ann Walsh, Lois Wilson, Elinor Whiting, Virginia Waller, Winifred Wheeler, and Corinne Brewer.

Mrs. Tyler Morton is to give a tea this afternoon at her residence at 1118 Astor street for the ward chairmen for the Women's National Organization for Prohibition Reform. There will be short talks on organization by Mrs. Edmund C. Stout, chairman of the educational department of the New Jersey organization, by Mrs. George E. Brennan, and by Mrs. Emily Wheeler. Mrs. Stout is visiting her daughter, Mrs. John W. Scott during her Chicago stay.

Arrangements for the lecture and tea which is given at the Casino this afternoon by the American Friends of Russia are by Mrs. George T. Langhorne, Mrs. Walter Borden, Mrs. John Paul Goode, and Mrs. Charles W. Dempster.

Ten Kwei of Suchow, China, is to speak on Chinese painting. He is here on a research fellowship at Harvard and is in this country to study Chinese art. He is a friend and pupil of Dr. Berthold Laufer of the field museum.

The Chicago committee of the Arden house annual charity ball is to give a tea on Friday afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock at the Medinah Athletic club for the patronesses and debutantes who are assisting with arrangements.

Society's motors probably will remain at home next Monday evening, as society will go to the opera, dinner parties, and theaters in taxicabs, as the Chicago Private Chauffeurs' Benefit association is to give its 20th annual dance and automobile exhibit at the Aragon ballroom that night. Guy J. Biaggio, who is chauffeur for Mr. and Mrs. John N. Dolese, is chairman of the committee, and Samuel Sefalo, who drives at the wheel of Mrs. Kersey Coates Reed's limousine, is secretary.

The officers and board of directors of the Antiquarian society of the Art institute were practically all reelected when at the annual meeting held Monday morning in the Potter Palmer gallery of the institute. Mrs. Stanley McCormick is the president; Mrs. Walter Borden, vice president; Mrs. Parmalee McFadden, treasurer; and Mrs. George T. Langhorne, secretary. The board of directors includes Mrs. Bruce Borland, Miss Florence D. Fuller, Mrs. Clyde M. Carr, Mrs. Allen B. Hopkins, Mrs. Rockefeller Goodrich, Mrs. Potter Palmer, Mrs. Frederick A. Valentine, and Mrs. Robert McCormick.

BRIDE

[Bachrach-Richter Photo.]

Announcement is made of the recent marriage of Miss Mildred K. Domville, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Domville of River Forest, to James William Nuttall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Nuttall of Liverpool, England. The bride and groom will reside in England.

Society at the Opera

The season's first performance of "Madame Butterfly" last night at the Civic Opera house was attended by a large and enthusiastic audience. Mrs. Stuyvesant Peabody was hostess to Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Healy, Mr. and Mrs. Valentine Bartlett, and Wendell S. Kuhns. Mrs. Peabody wore a gold cloth gown with a short train and a sable wrap, Mrs. Healy wore white chiffon and Mrs. Bartlett wore a cream colored chiffon gown and ermine wrap.

In the Frank G. Logan box, Miss Phoebe Logan was hostess. She wore a black lace gown with a shoulder capé and double tiered skirt. She had as her guests Miss Christabel Wheeler, also in black lace; Miss Janet Kirk, in vivid red taffeta; Joseph Terbell, Raymond Mitchell and John Fortune.

Mr. and Mrs. William E. Clow Jr. were hosts to Mr. and Mrs. Clay Judson, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Rogers, and Henry Channon.

With Mr. and Mrs. William Nelson Pelouze were their daughter, Miss Medora Pelouze, Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Faithorn, and Mrs. Alice B. Hatch. Mrs. Jacob Mortenson had as her guests Mrs. A. S. Hook, Mrs. Evans Johnson, Mrs. A. H. Muiford, and Mrs. A. L. Baker.

Mr. and Mrs. Bryan S. Reid, Mrs. James Baum, Dr. Paull Marquis and Frank McNair were guests of Mrs. William L. Hodgkins. Mr. and Mrs. Frederick H. Rawson were hosts to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Foster and Dr. and Mrs. Arthur Dean Bevan. Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Petersons' guests were Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Dennis, Miss Ruth Dennis, and Nels Horney and Birger Nordholm of Stockholm.

Mr. and Mrs. Earle H. Reynolds were hosts in the George M. Reynolds box to Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Goodspeed, Mrs. Louise de Koven Phelps and Herman Waldeck. Mrs. Walter J. Buettner's party included Mrs. Carl Baker, Mrs. Charles Cole, Mrs. Rita Gardner, Mrs. Walter Roney and Mrs. Adolphus Peine. Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Cosler, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Collins and George Moritz were guests of Mrs. Harley L. Clarke.

Another Priest Who Worked in U. S. May Be Declared Saint

VATICAN CITY, Nov. 11.—(AP)—Canonization of another American saint—Father Felice de Andreis, first superior general of the Lazarist Fathers in the United States—may result from a process initiated today by the Sacred Congregation of Rites.

Father de Andreis worked in the diocese of St. Louis, Mo., and died in 1820. Testimony regarding his character already has been collected at St. Louis.

Father de Andreis was born at Demonte in Piedmont, Italy, in December, 1778, and died at St. Louis Oct. 15, 1820. He was ordained priest at Placenza in August, 1801.

In company with five other fathers De Andreis started for the United States in 1816, first going to Baltimore where they stayed at St. Mary's seminary in September. They then started on the journey to the west arriving at Louisville in November, going to the seminary of St. Thomas at Bardstown.

Bishop Dubourg, apostolic administrator of the diocese of Louisiana which then extended along both sides of the Mississippi from the Gulf of Mexico to the Canadian lakes, reached Bardstown with thirty priests in December, 1817, and they went on to St. Louis in 1818.

There Father de Andreis had charge of two schools, one for religious students and another for secular. Exhausted by the hardships of missionary work, he died at the age of 42 widely known for his sanctity. The first process of his canonization was begun in St. Louis in 1900 and was completed in 1902 when the evidence was presented to the Congregation of Rites at Rome.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., Nov. 11.—[Special.]—Mrs. Hoover gave a luncheon today in the White House, attended by the wife of the chief justice, Mrs. Charles Evans Hughes, and the wives of the associate justices. Earlier in the day Mrs. Hoover went to the national cemetery at Arlington, where she and the President laid a wreath on the tomb of the unknown soldier.

Vice President Curtis was the ranking guest at the annual armistice ball given at the Mayflower by the Veterans of Foreign Wars. He had in his box the secretary of war and Mrs. Hurley, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Everett Gann, and Maj. and Mrs. Charles P. George Jr., son-in-law and daughter of the host. Others who had box parties were the secretary of the navy and Mrs. Charles Francis Adams, Senator and Mrs. Guy D. Goff, Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Noyes, Col. and Mrs. U. S. Grant III., Mrs. Thomas F. Walsh, William Phelps Eno, Mrs. Henry Alvah Strong, and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Tumulty. President and Mrs. Hoover headed the list of patrons and Gen. Pershing was one of the conspicuous guests.

[Bachrach-Richter Photo.]

Mrs. Moisant Griffiths was hostess at a début tea for her daughter, Miss Gloria Griffiths, yesterday afternoon at their apartment at 1500 Lake Shore drive. Miss Griffiths wore a gown of parchment colored faille with a long, full skirt bordered in pinwheel ruching and carried a shower bouquet. She was assisted by a group of the season's debutantes and by Miss Charlotte Van Sicklen of Cleveland, one of her school mates at Farmington.

George Eastman Will Give Stockholm Dental Clinic

STOCKHOLM, Nov. 11.—(AP)—A site in Stockholm park has been selected for the erection of the new Eastman institute, at which the city's poor children will receive free dental treatment through the generosity of George Eastman, American camera manufacturer.

Details of Mr. Eastman's gift of $1,000,000 to the city of Stockholm have been settled through Nils Bouveng, his representative, who completed arrangements with the Stockholm authorities after one day's negotiations.

Kipling's "Recessional," Autographed, Brings $3,100

LONDON, Nov. 11.—(AP)—An autographed manuscript of Rudyard Kipling's famous "Recessional" was acquired today by Gabriel Wells, New York collector, for £30 pounds sterling [about $3,150]. The poem was written on the occasion of Queen Victoria's jubilee in 1897.

Red Cross Roll Call Is Answered by Thousands

The Red Cross button was pinned on the lapel of many a Chicagoan yesterday as the first members of the 1930 annual roll call bought memberships in the American Red Cross. In stores, office buildings, and other public places, 2,500 women were posted yesterday to accept dollar memberships. The drive will continue to Thanksgiving day, during which 225,000 persons will be asked to sign membership cards.

Within two hours after the roll call opened yesterday the first large business organization reported that its employés, in spite of the hard times, had joined the Red Cross 100 per cent. Mrs. Cora Conner, who for years has been among the first to enroll her associates, by 11 o'clock had every employé of the firm of Carson, Pirie, Scott & Co. a member of the Red Cross.

NEW YORK SOCIETY

New York, Nov. 11.—[Special.]—Mrs. Alfred P. Sloan Jr. gave a luncheon in the Georgian room of the Hotel Pierre. Her guests included Mrs. Rymond H. Allen, Mrs. N. Baxter Jackson, Miss Margaret Jackson, Mrs. Robert W. Johnson, Mrs. Phillip Corbin, Mrs. Kenneth B. Van Riper, Mrs. James H. Snowden, and Mrs. Lucius M. Boomer.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Le Boutillier have taken the country residence of Dr. Truman L. Saunders at Syosset.

Mr. and Mrs. Dudley H. Peabody will introduce their daughter, Miss Helen Peabody, at a dinner-dance in the ballroom suite at Sherry's on Saturday night.

TIMID about showing your hands?

No other coffee has the flavor you'll find in A CAN of Hills Bros Coffee

You control your muffin batter by adding flour and milk a little at a time. Hills Bros. control the flavor of their fine blend by roasting it a few pounds at a time.

EVERY berry is roasted evenly by Hills Bros.' patented, continuous process—Controlled Roasting. No bulk-roasting method can insure such an even roast as this few-pounds-at-a-time method. That's why no other coffee has the perfect flavor you'll find in a can of Hills Bros. Coffee.

The vacuum can in which Hills Bros. Coffee is sold brings the coffee to you as fresh as when it came from the roasters. The air, which destroys the flavor of coffee, is completely removed at the time of packing and kept out. Coffee packed in a so-called air-tight tin invariably loses its flavor because there is air inside the can.

Hills Bros. Coffee is sold by grocers everywhere. Ask for it by name and look for the Arab on the can. Then you will get the genuine Hills Bros. Coffee.

Hair Styles Point to Gradual Return of the Pompadour

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Going back through some old files the other day I fell upon a record of 1915 hair and dress styles, startlingly like today's trend. Startling enough, my sisters who can or cannot remember that far back, to lend confirmation to the rumor that we are on the way to a return of the pompadour. Say, "Heaven forbid," if you've a mind to. But didn't we say that when the long skirt threatened a return engagement just a year or two ago. And look at the floor lengths now!

Maybe we'd better begin saving the combings, as they used to do when rats infested the best pompadoured heads. From what save 'em, you say? Certainly not from the bobbed heads. Because they haven't any. Besides, hair doesn't seem to fall out the way it used to, it seems to this custodian of hair complaints. Just another little triumph for our modern beauty care. Scalps are better tended, hair is better cared for; consequently it chooses to remain wedded longer to the roots than formerly. That is, outside of the normal shedding and normal replacing.

But that idea of pompadours does hold terror in its rumor, does it not? They weren't really so bad when they were fashionable, as you'd agree did you peek into old files and see the heights to which heads could rise on a dressed up occasion. What skeers me, though, is the similarity of dress length, the belted waistline and the feminine curve of that fifteen year distant day and what fashion is strivfig for at this very moment. If the whole is crowned with a "pomp"—well, you can't say I didn't warn you.

However, one can revive another fashion of some years back—prayer. Pray like everything that we may be saved from the load on top of the head. If fashion decrees, nothing short of prayer will help.

But then, I'm only passing on a rumor whose prophet at the same moment of prediction also ventured the information that men would be taking to beards, which would make the sexes equally ridiculous at the same time, or equally something or other.

John Galsworthy Planning for Winter in Arizona

New York, Nov 11.—(AP)—John Galsworthy, English writer, will spend the coming winter in Arizona, after which he will lecture in eight cities, his American representatives announced today. Mrs Galsworthy will accompany him.

FARM AND GARDEN

BY PAUL POTTER

Culls in poultry flocks are outcasts, but culls beat pure breds when they constitute supplies of firewood. For a given volume of wood from cull trees, says Robert Parmenter, extention forester of Massachusetts Agricultural college, it has been found more heat will be produced in burning than from a like volume cut from vigorous and fast growing trees.

The vigorous trees may be easier to cut and the wood may cord up faster, but when it is ready to burn it is surpassed in fuel value by the wood cut from less desirable trees, according to the forester. Weak trees growing slowly, he says, produce more heartwood and less sapwood, giving more weight to the cubic foot and more value as fuel.

If you are selling cord wood, cull the wood and pile it in a shed where sun and wind may dry it quickly. Six months under cover will convert it into firewood in condition to produce its best heat," Mr. Parmenter comments. He cites the case of one farmer who built three wood sheds and even with that equipment was unable to supply satisfied customers with enough wood.

BEAUTY ANSWERS

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY

MRS. O. N. R.: THE SUPPOSITION about white spots is that they indicate glandular disturbance and frequently goiter, so it is well to consult your physician.

MRS. N. D.: FOR WARTS ON THE hand this lotion is recommended: One dram salicylic acid, one ounce flexible collodion. Mix well. Apply with a tiny camel's hair brush for four nights. Then soak in hot water. This will take away part of the horny covering. Repeat until the wart has disappeared.

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Request for Books.

"I received a letter from a friend of mine in Germany asking me if I could secure for him the complete works and life of Washington Irving and also of Nathaniel Hawthorne. I thought perhaps some one would have these books and, no longer caring for them, would donate them. A. D."

Perhaps your library contains one or two copies of the books our overseas friend is so anxious to own. If you can spare them from your shelves won't you let me know about it? They are sure to be appreciated.

Crepe Paper Parrot.

"I'm trying to finda a pattern or instructions for making a crêpe paper parrot. I've seen one made by hand, but can't find a pattern for it anywhere. Perhaps some reader can help me. R. M."

If you have the pattern this woman wants, or can furnish her with the information that might help her, I know she'll be grateful.

Food Talk.

Mrs. G. M. D. writes: "How much cocoa represents a square of chocolate and may they be substituted for each other? Is chocolate when melted on oil paper or a saucer over steam to be added to the lightly beaten egg mixture while hot or later, and will it mix best then or added after the flour has been added? Why does one square of chocolate leave a cake lightly colored and at other times more deeply colored?"

Those experienced in cocoa and chocolate cookery recommend three tablespoons of cocoa and two tablespoons of butter to be used instead of one square of chocolate. It must be remembered that three tablespoons cocoa and one square chocolate are not equivalents. Cocoa is made from chocolate—it is chocolate minus the fat or cocoa butter. So, when cocoa is used in cake, more butter will be necessary if a fine texture and a flavor as rich as that given by one square of chocolate is desired. In the making of pie fillings, fudge, a beverage, a chocolate or cocoa sauce, the addition of butter is not so essential. Usually whipped cream is added for garnish and this supplies enough fat to produce the desirable richness.

Either a saucer or oiled or waxed paper is all right for melting chocolate, but these should be over steam or water that is not too hot. The water over which the chocolate is melted should never boil and the liquid chocolate should never be added to cake or icing mixtures until it has cooled. Chocolate itself is an emulsion and overheating breaks that emulsion.

In making cake I add the chocolate to the creamed butter and sugar mixture, not after the flour has been added. The flour usually contains the leavening agent. After it is in it should not be stirred as much as the chocolate would require to distribute it. Overstirring after flour is added spoils the texture. Anything going into a cake that requires creaming or careful blending should always go in before the flour is added.

Now to the question: Why sometimes does one square leave a cake light and at other times dark? A good many things may happen. Here are a few reasons why cakes and other foods do not always turn out the same. Being human we do not work with uniform mechanical precision. We never do the same job twice in exactly the same way. If we are joyful when we make our cake our stirs have a certain force and rhythm. If we are depressed we aren't so peppy. If we are dreaming we are entirely out of tune for work and are certainly out of place in the kitchen.

CHOCOLATE CREAM CAKE.

3 cups flour.
1 cup sour milk.
1 teaspoon soda.

With a wooden spoon work the butter until smooth and plastic. Add sugar and cream well. Melt chocolate, cool and add to butter and sugar. Then add the beaten eggs. Add flour alternately with milk and the last thing add soda dissolved in a little milk. Bake in two layers in a square pan about 10x10 inches.

Melt chocolate, sugar, and water in a double boiler. When smooth and glossy put in three well beaten egg yolks and let cook until the consistency of custard. Cool. Whip ½ pint cream stiff and add to this mixture. This is better if it stands a few hours. Cook the cake in squares and cover with sauce.

Man Wishes He Were Out of Engagement; Wonders What to Do

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"I have been keeping company with a young woman for two and a half years who tells me she is three years younger than I. I know for a fact she is four years older. I have given her a ring, but have not set a date for the wedding. She has been married, but had her marriage annulled because her husband misrepresented different things. She tells me she was talked into the marriage and never loved the man.

"She has a sickly mother and, though she works, is sickly herself. I can see where there will be a lot of doctors' bills to foot. The mother would have to live with us.

"The girl knows I do not earn enough to marry on, under the circumstances, but she says we would manage all right. I am worried about marrying her. I know I will just walk into more trouble than I am entitled to, or ever had.

"I was sorry for the girl when she cried and told me how unhappy she had been. I thought I would try to make her happy. But I certainly am getting cold feet about the whole proposition.—Eddie."

It's one thing to want to get out of an engagement you've got yourself entangled in and another thing to make the getaway. But if the discovery is made that it was pity only that inspired the proposal, some plans had better be laid for release. Marrying a person, man or woman, because you feel sorry for him or her, is a hazardous step. Another character entirely so often develope after the marriage.

The one upon whom the pity was visited may turn out to be a perfect tyrant and the sympathy prove to be ill placed. I have seen it work that way in a number of instances. A girl will make up her mind, say, that she is going to marry a certain man.

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

Scarcely Love.

"Dear Miss Blake: The fellow I love goes out with other girls, but tells me he loves me. Does he care for me?" VIRGINIA."

I shouldn't take his references to love seriously, but it is evident he likes you.

Fight on Sight.

"Dear Miss Blake: Every time my friend and I see each other we fight. What is wrong? NANCY."

You quarrel because you don't stop to consider or exercise your reasoning power. Act like grownups, not children.

THE REAL BEGINNING of a beautiful complexion is perfect health. Without that, color soon fades. FRESH YEAST, added to your diet (3 cakes daily, before or between meals) helps lay the foundation for real health, renewed appetite, restored energy, greater reserve . . . and the result is better skins. ALL BECAUSE yeast cleans and tones up the intestinal tract, where poison-forming wastes collect.

Complexion Color that Doesn't Come in JARS!

Here's the way to radiant health that puts the rouge-pot to shame for color! Just a corrective treatment for that age-old evil . . . Intestinal Fatigue!

PUT away that lipstick! Go easy on the powder and rouge! Here's the way to lay the foundation for healthy color that no amount of cosmetics can match!

Unfortunately, our bodies were not built for our present-day modes of living. And most of us, as a result, suffer from an age-old ailment . . . Intestinal Fatigue . . . that shows its marks first of all in bad skin.

Not only that, we lack vitality. Energy is quickly spent. We are susceptible to colds, to headaches. 90% of our common ailments come from one condition . . . Intestinal Fatigue.

Now most of us are too impatient really to correct this trouble. We turn to cathartics, to laxatives, to measures that are often violent and always only temporary.

Doctors, including European specialists, are emphatic in warning against this method. They recommend, instead, a simple food routine that acts naturally and easily, restoring bodily function to normal once again.

This food is fresh yeast . . . ordinary Fleischmann's Yeast. Eaten regularly, it serves the highly useful purpose of regulating the intestines, of cleaning and toning up the very region where intestinal fatigue gets in its bad work.

And once yeast has been given a chance to clear away poison-breeding accumulations, color returns, the skin clears, pimples and boils disappear. We feel better in many ways . . . because we again enjoy the true health without which a good natural complexion color is impossible.

If you really want a good complexion, make the right sort of beginning with Fleischmann's Yeast. Eat it regularly . . . three cakes a day, in water, milk, fruit juices, milk drinks or plain.

Remember, you can buy Fleischmann's Yeast anywhere . . . at grocers', restaurants, soda fountains. Buy a supply today . . . and begin eating it regularly. Each cake is rich in three vitamins indispensable to health—vitamins B and G and the "sunshine" vitamin D.

Remember, it's important to ask your grocer for Fleischmann's fresh Yeast (with the yellow label) . . . the only yeast that contains the Sunshine Vitamin D! Every cake is "irradiated" to give it this added element so important for sun-starved indoor workers. It is rich in Vitamins B and G, too.

High-Tension "Nerves"

This Delightful Drink Gives Prompt Relief

How often have you gone through a fretful, nerve-racked day—cancelled an engagement the last minute or endured a hectic, sleepless night . . . because your "NERVES" were tense and refused to relax.

When your "NERVES" are tense and jumpy; when irritable and upset; when Nervous Headache, Sleeplessness and similar nervous troubles beset you—try this harmless Effervescent drink to quiet your "NERVES."

Drop a Dr. Miles' Effervescent NERVINE Tablet into a glass of water. Watch it bubble up like sparkling spring water—then drink it. See how quickly it quiets your "NERVES"—relaxes the nervous tension and gives nature a chance to correct the trouble. You will be delighted with the prompt relief just as this famous actor and singer is:

"In my profession 'NERVES' are cruelly unstrung at times. Dr. Miles' Effervescent NERVINE Tablets have been of inestimable help in bringing me calm and refreshing relief from nervous tension."
—Nate Wagner.

Dr. Miles' NERVINE is made in two forms—Effervescent Tablets and the old, reliable Liquid form that druggists have sold for over 50 years. In the Effervescent Tablets the time-tested NERVINE formula is combined with bicarbonate of soda and citric acid. They tend to correct hyper-acidity—a frequent cause of nervousness. All druggists have both kinds. Small size 25c. Large size $1.00.

Special Trial Offer

Take the coupon below to any drug store and the druggist will give you your first 25c pkg. of either kind to try for only 10 cents.

By CLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

A booklet on sex education will be sent by Mrs. Bevans on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Do you remember your struggles with long division?

Incidentally did you know they're doing that, too? Well, in a manner of speaking. That is, the modern teachers don't think it's necessary any longer to give laborious long division examples—those examples over which you had about nine figures in the dividend and had to paste a piece of paper on the bottom of your sheet because you never did begin high enough up or write small enough to leave room to finish!

But even without that long division is hard enough for most children. So when you're a child and you're doing your home work, and it's a working long division example and you wobbly on your tables anyhow,

And in a minute the telephone rings and one of those long confabs always itself out.

And when that's over, family conversation becomes terribly absorbing about animals or baseball or your favorite movie actor. And then you find that some one's borrowed your pencil. And some one else wants the scissors you're writing on—or maybe needs the table for cutting a dress. It all makes rough sledding for the long division—or for the algebra or history or spelling, or whatever your home work may be.

Let's put aside for the present the argument on home work and take for granted that whatever the children have assigned to them is reasonable. And then let's see whether, the school having donedits part, we're doing ours.

By "our part" I don't mean helping them with their lessons. What I do mean is helping them by seeing that they have as much quiet and composure as possible in which to do their home work. Also a place to do it in and materials to work with. If you have a large enough house or apartment, they can do it in a room by themselves. If you have not, and they have to work in the midst of the family, you will simply have to guard them from distractions as much as possible. One can't give a rule for it may mean turning off the radio. It may mean having no talking or only whispering as they do in the libraries. It may mean postponing telephone calls.

Each family will have to work out its own scheme. This will probably mean inconvenience for some members of the family, but it really is not fair to the child, if you expect him to learn how to study.

Armistice Day Luncheon.

These Three Hats Take One Around the Clock

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special Correspondence.] Paris goes right on inventing new hats for every time of day. All sorts of shapes, sizes and materials are pressed into service of our winter headdresses, which, by the way, is a good game for them, because the new hats no longer cover the head; they really dress it up.

Felt combined with flat fur is smart for morning; velvet and taupe are the afternoon favorites; while lamé, gold and silver embroidered fabrics or laces make those fetching evening bonnets that are one of the most attractive features of new Paris fashions.

Jean Patou makes the morning hat at the top of our drawing of supple, black felt and black astrakhan. The felt, all in one piece, is gathered around a little tonsure of astrakhan set on the crown. The brim (?) is rolled back off the face, especially on the right side; at the left it descends in a wide bow on the neck from a round point cleverly worked in the felt, outlined with astrakhan.

The smart little afternoon hat in the center from Helene Thibault is of net over gold, 1931 st. Dynamic speaker, walnut low-boy console. Sold everywhere and now on sale at this price, $79.50 complete. Easy terms. 243 S. Wabash-av. LYON & HEALY.
